THE PEOPLE'S PLATFORM. THE UNION-THE CONSTITUTION-AND THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAW.

REPOLUTION ADOPTED BY A CAUCUS OF UNION MEN IN CONGRESS, AND RATIFIED BY THE PROPLE OF PENNEYLNANIA IN CONVENTION, JULY 17, 1862.

" That we hold it to be the duty of all loyal men to stand by the Union in this hour of its trial; to unite their hearts and hands in earnest, patrotic ef-forts for its maintenance against those who are in arms against it; to sustain with determined resolution our patriotic President and his administration in their energetic efforts for the prosecution of the war and the preservation of the Union against enewas and the preservation of the Onion agains ene-mies at home or abroad; to punish traitors-and trea-son with filting severity, and to crush the present wicked and causeless rebellion, so that no flag of disunton shall ever again be raised over any portion of the Republic; and to this end we invite the co-opera-tion of all men who love their country, in the endeavor of all men who love their country, in the endeavor to rekindle in all the States such a patriolic fire as shall utterly consume all who strike at the Union of our fathers, and all who sympathise with their treason or palliate their guilt."

NO PARTY.

The old partizan hacks and plunderers, who have been feeding on the vitals of the country, as they managed to derive patronage from the success of the Democratic party, have been and still are sorely disappointed with the movements of the people, and the decision of all loyal men to cast aside, for a brief period, or at least until the Government is rescued from danger, the trammels of mere party organization. The cry of no party at first attracted the attention of these men as a splendid opportunity to repair their fallen. fortunes. The organization of the locofoco party having been entirely broken up and disbanded, the prospect seemed to be fair, that was a movement entirely divested of political distinction or difference, the opportunity would be afforded to get possession of the patronage of the government, and thus revive the old acts of corruption which, through Democratic tendencies, have so powerfully contributed to the present dangerous condition of the relations of the several states to the federal government. This anticipation of "a good time" in the no party movement having been spoiled by the action of the people, we find these same old hacks zealously at work endeavoring to prove that the country can only be saved by the efforts of those who were most industrious in aiding rebellion to strike at the authority and existence of the national government. Thus for instance, the men who have put forth Slenker and Barr as candidates respectively for two of the most important positions in the gift of the people, are the same who were the most carnest in staying the heads of the government, when James Buchanan wielded its power; from striking a single blow to arrest rebellion. These men had calculated that rebellion would be profitable to them in more particulars than one, and hoping that the action of the southern states which had second would arrest the progress of Republican principles throughout the Union, they were willing that rebellion should go on, because it promised to rear another organization of the Democratic party, upon the ruins of all the other opposition parties in the Union. The dough-face Democracy of the north had promised the traitor Democracy of the south, all the aid in their power to insure the success of the rebellion, with the understanding that the movement only had for its object the breaking up of the Republican party. But in this the traitors of the south deceived their friends in the north. When it was too late for leading dough-faces to secede with any show of courage or manliness. from their sympathy for the rebel cause, and when the no party movement began to grow in proportion and importance, the very men who were bound in oaths and covenants to aid the rebel cause, deemed such a movement at once a proper avenue for their escape from a direct alliance with traitors, and at the same time give them a fitting opportunity once more to get possession of the power and resources of the government. But in this they were again disappointed. The movements of the people, contemplating a renunciation of mere party ties, at the same time insisted upon the most unqualified support of both the state and national administration, in rendering all their aid in their power to crush out treason and bring traitors to diers. Those who have recovered in our hos- burg Railroad. It is believed that they already condign punishment. Here was a dilemma which the dough-faces of the north could not tors than ever, and they do not hesitate to talk that Gen. Jackson is in command notwithstand-dispose of or meet. They were willing to redispose of or meet. They were willing to re-nounce party obligation, but they were loth to denounce old political dogmas. The Reeds and nothing to do with them when they are well: is a were well to the bringing all the force in the contract of the source of the sourc denounce old political dogmas. The Reeds and the Biddles, the Biglers and the Buchanans of Pennsylvania, were ready to swear by any or-ganization, by any party, with or without a name, so that they could get possession of such a union of the people, and wield the prestige growing out of such a combination of men, for the benefit of themselves and their rebel friends. When a union of parties was likely to foment discord in the support of the state or national administration, the leaders of the Brackenvideo ing their unalterable adherence to the very dogmas of Democracy, out of which slavery, reason, and rebellion have sprung. The people of Pennsylvania can thus see for themselves how much in comparison to slavery and locofocolsm, the Union and the government of that Union are estimated. While the great mass of men are either in the army fight-ing for that government or are at home strug-gling to sustain the power and the resources of the same government, that it may sustain and support the various armies in the field, the United States. No loyal or true Democrat, of straining falsehood and using the meanest de-with these Breckinridgors without endangering ception to misdirect the few deluded men who still follow in their path. They have revived Union. Gen. Jackson would have spurned still follow in their path. They have revived such professed Democrats, and perhaps hanged party, and seek to place it above public safety i the leaders as he threatened to do with Calhoun They have made issues with the government for one of the same school, had be been President the purpose of attracting its powers and atten- when this rebellion broke out. Let these men tion from the work of crushing rebellion. This call themselves by some appropriate title, and is the real object of the men who put forth Barr and Slenker, and if this was inscribed upon Jefferson and Jackson. their banners, no man would be deceived in supporting those semi-traitors and supreme lough-faces.

THE CABINET.

Last week we received from the associated press telegraphic reporter, a dispatch to the effect that the New York Herald had positive information of a resolution on the part of William and well qualified for the service to which he H. Seward, to retire from the Cabinet of President Lincoln, by resigning as the Secretary of State. We refused at the time to print the despatch, believing that subsequent events would prove the idleness of the rumor. and brand the Herald as a falsefier in this as it has been in many other instances, where the integrity and safety of the national governmen were involved. Our readers need not be told that we were correct in our estimate of that re port. The entire story, as fabricated by the Herald, and published over the country as an From Washington. evidence of the weakness and indecision of the Federal Administration, has been proven to be a lie of the common order peculiar to the traitors who control that sheet. Secretary Seward bas never had the remotest idea of deserting THE REBEL COURT MARTIAL OF COM. his present position. He feels that it is his duty to remain where he is, as long as the President desires his presence or he can be of any service to his country. The Herald had two motives for thus misred esenting Secretary Seward. The first was the gratification of a hatred for the Secretary of State, which Bennet has conceived on account of the repugnance which the premier has even evinced for the Herald. The second, and the most malignant motive that was served She is Captured and Sent to New York. by this falsehood, was the belief that a rumor of this description would hurry foreign intervention for the settlement of the war, and of vention for the settlement of the war, and of course force the adjustment of our internal difficulties in a manner to result in the recog-nition of the confederacy, and thus secure the and assistant farrgeons, and contract physicians, eternal division of the American Union. If it could be substantiated in Europe that Mr. Sew ard had retired from the Cabinet, the inference and is calculated to test the real knowledge of would become general among the governments of the old world, that his retirement was induced by his lack of faith in the ability of the loyal states to put down the rebellion. Besides his loyalty and un wavering devotion to sound national Republican principles, Mr. Shryrock is a man of sterling integrity and high ability. In his advocacy of principle, he has been unawed by the changes or whims of individuals, and seeking only the triumph of the right, he has never faltered in his duty to his country, whatever may have been the temptation to entice him to do otherwise. For these reasons, we congratulate our friend on his appointment, and predict for him abundant success in the discharge of the duties about to devolve on him as an Assessor of the new tax.
