AUDITOR GENERAL:

THOMAS E. COCHBAN of York County. SURVEYOR GENERAL:

WILLIAM S. ROSS. of Luzerne County. HARRISBURG, PA

Monday Morning, August 4, 1862.

ARTFUL DODGERS. One of the pleas of the dough-face presse when seeking to shuffle off the responsibility they have incurred as the instigators of the slave holders' rebellion, is to the effect, that the information which Jeff Davis is supposed to de rive from the course of the Republican party, or more particularly those who steadily support the war policy of the national government, that the information derived from such a course is always of infinite service and benefit to the traitor chief. It is maintained that, if coercion had not been at first reserted to, the rebel army would never have been filled to its present extent. We grant this claim, because if the government had supinely rested on the faith that tration of Abraham Lincoln had not apy state could secode at pleasure, and permit ted the rebels to destroy the national authority at their will and pleasure, of course thus unopposed a very small force would have been equal to what very large forces are now finding themselves unequal. In fact, if the adminis destroy the Union-attempts which should have been paralized by the administration of James Buchanan—that Union would have been severed and torn by a party in the free states. It was the fact that armed resistance to rebellion thwarted the dough-faces in the performance of their part of the plot, which made coercion so obnoxious to the Breckenridge wing of the Democratic party. Long before Sumter was fired on, and when the Breckenridge leaders in the north as well as the south, knew that a rebellion was to be precipitated for the purpose of destroying the Union, James Buchanan, then President, declared that he had no means or authority at his command, to suppress an insurrection. This confession was made for the double purpose of deterring northern men from engaging in the force of arms to save the Union, and to encourage southern traitors to believe whatever might be their action to overthrow the government, it would be unopposed by the men then wielding the power of that government. But the ridiculous part of the plea is that the course of Republican journals is a source of information to Jeff. Davis. This is absolutely foolish, if not insane, when it is remembered that at the opening and during the progress of rebellion, the newspapers and men who afforded the traitor chief aid, information which the ware those advocating that distrocity in politics, Democracy. All over the free states these presses and demagogues have plied their nefarious business, placing impediments in the way of our military operations by embarrassing enlistments—trying to hatter the power of the government by destroying its credit, and communicating with the enemy, whenever a fact or a lie would prove disservous to the federal cause. Yet in view of all this record, the dough-faces of the loyal states are attempting to escape their well

DRAFTING.

When we express the hope that there will be drafting in Pennsylvania, we do not desire filling up the old or organizing new regiments. What we mean by that hope, is that the pa triotism of the people will never force the gov- OUR UN-BOATS IN WAITING TO REernment to resort to the drafting system. It will not be adopted until stern necessity leaves the government no choice, and forces the War Department or the Governors of states to such a mode of raising men to fight for a country in whose safety all are equally interested. It is useless to argue the point, as but one course can be pursued, and that is, the quots called for America, cast auchor yesterday noon, off Turfrom Pennsylvania must be furnished. The from Pennsylvania must be furnished. The Rey Bend President has drawn on the Governor, and the Governor has appealed to the people. Therefore the whole subject of a draft is in the hands cluding the Galena Monitor and others, anchillated the subject of a draft is in the hands. Governor has appealed to the people. Thereof the people. Those who falter and hold back ored in line of battle, off Light House Point.

A balloon and gun boat reconnoisance above may escape enlistment, and will forfeit all state and county bounties—but they cannot dodge drafting. That makes no distinction, except with the blind and halt. It draws for its support on all classes, and forces men to make that specifice for their country, to which, it would seem, they have no patriotism to prompt them. While on the subject of a draft, we notice the service of the subject of a draft, we notice the service of the subject of a draft, we notice the subject of a draft we are to a naval battle avery one can indee for the subject of a draft.
