OFFICIAL REPORT OF THE AFFAIR AT TOMBINE VILLE.

LEBANON, KENTUCKY, August 4th, 1862.

COL. E. C. WILLIAMS, 9th, Penn'a Cavalry. SIR: The forces commanded by Major Jordan at Tompkinsville, composed of 260 men of com-panies C., I., M. and E. of the 9 h Pennsylv's Cavalry, were attacked on the morning of the 9th ultimo by a Cavalry force under Morgan numbering from 1500 to 2000 men and three Dicces of urtillery.

The utmost vigilance had been exercised by Major Jordan to guard against surprise, the surrosanting country being peculiarly admitted, to guerilla warfare. We had marched the night and day before to Celina in consequence of the report of a body of men at that place. We found it described and no indication of the pre sence of an enemy. We returned to Tompkinsville on the afternoon of the 8th and were first apprised of the approach of the enemy by the firing of our pickets at 5 o'clock on the morning of the 8th. In less than five minutes from the first alarm the men were mounted and in line. Our line was formed on the top of a hill in open ground, surrounded on three sides by dense woods. The enemy dismounted and opened fire on us with their small arms. Having no chance for a charge, Major Jordan ordered us to fall back on the woods. At this time we first because ordered with the weak of the state of the sta ordered us to fall back on the woods. At this time we first became aware of their having artillery, by their shelling the woods. Finding that further resistance against such odds was worse than useless, we were ordered to fall back to Burkseville, 28 miles distant, via Mac-Millin's Ferry, ten miles from Camp, hoping to be able to make a stand at the river. This road we found occupied by the enemy in large force, and at this point, Major Jordan was taken prisoner. The retreat was then continued by the old Burkseville road. Col. Owen having the old Burkesville road. Col. Owen having left Burkesville, we followed after and overtook him about 7 miles northeast of Albany.

Our los is four killed, fifteen wounded and wenty missing—who are paroled. Capt. Bel was alightly wounded in the shoulder; Lieut. Campbell was wounded, and is a prisoner; Lieut. Sullivan was killed. Owing to the suddenness of the attack, we were compelled to, abandon everything except what we had upon our person. I have since learned from reliable authority, that the enemy soffered a loss of 27 killed besides the wounded which cannot be estimated. Col. Hunt of a Georgia Regiment was mortally wounded, and died at Tompkins-ville on the 26th uit. We all mourn the loss of Lieut. Sullivan, who, after being shot from his horse, discharged his revolver at the enemy before expiring. He fell gallantly at the head of his company. The officers and men of this batallion behaved most gallantly.

I herewith append a list of the killed and wounded.
