STOP MY PAPER.

Such were the peremptory demands, yes terday, of Gen. A L. Roumfort, the Democratic Beckinridge candidate for Assembly. The loss of six ceuts per week, (of which about one dant is clear profit.) to the TELEGRAPH establishment will be severely felt, and if it were not character of circumstances, can much more for the fact that, while we lost one subscribes in the person of General Roumfort, we added their neighbors, and who are perfectly willing thirteen new subscribers to the daily and three to the weekly Terronapa on the same day we should soon be obliged to stop.

While thus bidding farewell to the gallant Gen. Boumfort, and placing on this high record bausted, and the moment they are exhausted his still higher regard for the liberty of the press, we might as well give fair and timely the ardent and patriotic. It is maintained by the best journals in the country, and among these, with great force by the Missouri Democrat, that it is an essential featur of our system of government to keep up no standing army, except it is one of merely nominal strength, is times of peace. The force of this argument is obvious, as our form of government contem plates, and the Constitution provides that the militia. The militia of the country is defined by an early act of Congress, which provides at length for its organization and regulation, to comprise "each and every free able-bodied white male citizen of the respective States, resident therein, who is or shall be of the age of eighteen years, and under the age of forty five years," with certain exceptions. (See act of Congress of 8th of May, 1792.)
