PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL. [FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS.]

[FROM COTTOM! HOSTIAL REPORTS.]

MAY 10, 1860,—Ellea S., set. 23, single, never was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rhoumatism, from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks and subsequently from a relapse fer four more. She has been well since then till hist Saturday, while engaged in house cleaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, felt cold, hot had so decided chill. Two days later her ankies began so swell, which was followed by swelling of the tance joints and of the hands. She has now dull pain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumatism, or, as it is now fashionably called, rheumatic fever. It is a well remarked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time call your attention to the various symptoms which present themselves. My chief object is bringing her before you now, is to call attention to a remedy which has recently been recommended in the treatment of rheumatism. I mean propylamine. Dr. Awenarius, of St. Petersburg, recommends it in the highest terms, having derived great benefit from its use in 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I propose therefore to give it another trial. I must confess I am always incredulous as to the worth of new remedids, which are vanued as specifies: but this comes to us recommended so highly, that we see the confession of the case of the confession of the case of the confession of the confession of the case of the case

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER!

MAY 22, 1860.—I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I prescribed Propylainine, and was their laboring under an attack of acute rheumatum. She has steadily taken it in doese of three grains every two hours (intermitting it at night.) The day after you saw her, I found her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or more, judging from her other attack. (The patient now walked into the room.) The mprovement has steadily progressed, and you cannot it to notice a marked change in the appearance of her inits, which are new nearly all of their natural size.—
hug far our experiment would have seemed very succeeful; but, gentlemen, we must whit a little white becre we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be he result.

ore we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be result.

Here is another patient who was placed on the use of all same medicine on Sunday last; she has long been suffering from a bronic rheumatism, and I found her at that time with an acute attack supervening upon her chronic affection. The wrists and knuckles were much swollen and tense. Ehe took the chloride of Propylamine in three grain doses every two hours; and you will parceive that the swelling of the joints has much diminished.

THREE DAYS LATER!!

THREE DAYS LATER!!

MAY 26, 1860.—This is the case of acute rheumatism treated with propylamine, the first of those to which called your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice daily. In this case it has seemed to be followed by very sate isfactory resaits. The second c-se to which your attention was called at our last fecture, has also continued to do well. I will now bring before you a very characteristic case of south rheumatism, and if the results be satfactory, I think, as good jurymen, we shall justly render our verdict in layor of propylamin.

He is a seaman, set. 26, who was admitted a few days ago. Has had occassional rheumatic pains, but not so as to keep his bod, until eight days ago. The pains began in his right knee, subsequently affected the left knee, and later, the joints of the upper extremities. Those joints are all swollen, tense and tender. His tongue is furred; his skin, at present dry, though there has been much sweating. His pulse is full and strong, and about 90.—He has now used propylamine for twenty-four hours.

This gentleman is what may be called a strictly typical case, of acute rheumatism. There was exposure to cold and wet, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of coddness, severe articular pain, beginning, as it usually does, in the lower joints. There is lever end the profuse sweating, so generally attendant on acute rheumatism.

I did not bring this patient before you with the intention of giving you a lecture on all the points connected with rheumatism, but to again give a trial to the new remedy we are testing, and to exhibit to you this typical case, as I have called it, than which there could not be a lairer opportunity for testing the medicine in question. We are, therefore, avoiding the use of all other medicines, even anolynes, that there may be no missivings as to which was the efficient remedy. You shall see the case of a future clinic.

THE RESULT.

A FAVORABLE VERDICT.

pa June 0, 1860.—The next of our convalescents is the case of scuterheumatism before you at our clinic of May 26th, which I then called a typical case, and which it was remirred was a fair opportunity for testing the worth of our new remedy. It was therefore steadily given in three grain doese every two hours for four days. The patient has got along very incely, and is now able to walk about, as you see. I do not hesitate to say that I have neves seen as severe a case of acute rheumatism so soon restored to health as this man has been, and without being prefared to decide positive up as to the value of the remedy we have used, I feel bound to state that in the cases in which we have tried the Chloride o Propylsanie, the patients have regained their health mich earlier than under the treatment ordinarily pursued. I wish gentlemen, you would yourselves try it, and report the results.

For a full report of which the above is a condensed extract, see the Philadelphia Medical and Surgical Reporter. It is the report after a fair trial by the best med cal authority in this country, and makes it unnecessar to give numerous certificates from astonished docto
