PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL [FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS.]

(From Official Hospital Rifforms.)

(May 10, 1860, Ellearis, est. 28, single, never was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rheumatism, frem which she was confined to her bed for two weeks and subsequently from a reispee for four more. She has been well since then till last Satur day, while engaged in house deaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, felt cold, hot had no decided chill. Two days later her ankles began so swell, which was followed by swelling of the knee joints and of the hands. She has now dull pain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of scute rifsumatism, or, as it is now fashionably called, rheumatic fever. It is a weil remarked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time call your attention to the various typintons which present themselves. My other object in bringing her before you now, is to call attention to a remedy which has recently been recommended in the treatment of rheumatism. In the an propyldismite. Dr. Awenarisu, of St. Petersburg, recommender it, in the highest terms, having derived great neacht from its use in 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I propose therefore to give it another trial. Thus to onless I am always moredulous as to the worth of new remedies, which are vanued as specifies; but this comes to us recommended so highly, that we are bound to give it a trial.

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER I

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER I

MAY 28, 1800.—I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I prescribed Propylaming, and was then laborfing under an attack of acute freedmatism. She has steadily taken it in doese of three grains every two hours (jutermitting it at night.) The day alter you saw her, I found her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or more, judging from her other attack. (The patient now walked into the room.) The improvement has steadily progressed, and you cannot all to notice a marked change in the appearance of her ints, which are now nearly all of their natural size.—
nur far our experiment would have seemed very sucestial; but, gentlemen, we must wait a little white beore we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be
be result.

he result.

Here is another patient who was placed on the use of the same medicine on Sunday last; she has long been suffering from o hronic rheumatism, and I found her at that time with an acute attack supervening upon her chrodic affection. The wrists and knuckles were much awoiled and tense. She took the chloride of Propylamine in three grain does every two hours, and you will perceive that the swelling of the joints has much diminated.

THREE DAYS LATER!!

THREE DAYS LATER!!

MAY 26, 1860.—This is the case of acute rheumatism treated with propylamino, the first of those to which I called your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice daily. In this case it has seemed to be followed by very statisfactory reasils. The second case to which your attention was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do well. I will now bring before you a very characteristic case of acute rheumatism, and if the result be satisfactory, I think, as good jurymen, we shall justly render our verdict in favor of propylamin.

He is a scammen, wt. 25, who was admitted a few days go. Has had coassional rheumatic pams, but not so as to keep his bed, until eight days go. The pains began in his right knee, subsequently affected the left knee, and later, the joints of the upper extremities. These joints are all swollen, tense and tender. His tongue is furred; his akin, at present dry, though there has been much are all swollen, tanse and tender. His tongue is furred; his skin, at present dry, though there has been much sweating. His pairs is full and strong, and about 90.—He has now used propylamine for twenty-four hours. This gentleman is what may be called a strictly typical factor of the strong and the strong and the strong and wet, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of colleges, severe strictler pain, beginning, has it usually does, in the lower joints. There is tever and the profuse sweating, so generally attiendant on some rheumatism. In the lower joints, the strong the profuse sweating, so generally attiendant on some rheumatism. In the lower joints of the profuse sweating, as generally attient or points commercial with rheumatism, but to again give a trial to the new remedy we are josting, and to exhibit to you, this typical case, as I have called it, than which there so all soot be a fairer opportunity for tosting the medicine in question. We are, therefore, avoiding the use of all other medicines, even anodynes, that there may be no miggivings as to which was the efficient remedy. You shall see the case of a future clinic.

THE RESULT.

A FAVORABLE VERDICT.

JUHE 8, 1860.—The next of our convalencents in the case of souterheumatism before yes at our clinic of May 1860, which I then called a typical wase, and which I was remarked was a fair opportently? for testing a the worth of our new remedy. At was sterefore, steadily gives in three grain-doses every two bours for four days. The patient has got along very such, and is now able to walk about, as you see. I do not hesitate to say that I have neves seen as fevere a case of acute rheumatism so seen restored to health as this man has been, and if without being prepared to decide positive sy as to the value of the remedy we have used; if see ibound to grain the cases in which we have tried the Chloride o they in the cases in which we have tried the Chloride o the point of the patients have regained their health much earlier than under the treatment ordinarily pursued. I wish gentlemen, you would yourselves try it, and report the results.

For a full report of which the above is a condensed extract, see the Philadelphia Medical and Surgical Reporter. It is the report after a fair trial by the best mo cal authority in this country, and makes it unnec so give numerous 'certificates from astonished doctor and rejoicing patients.
