PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL [FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS.]

May 19, 1860,—Riles S., set. 28, single, never was very trong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rheuma am, from which she was confined to her bed for two week strong. Two years ago she had an attack of scuta rheuminism, from which she was confined to har bed for two weeks and subsequently from a relapse for four more. She has been well since then till hast Batur day, while engaged in house cleaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, fall. cold, hot had so decided chill. Two days later her ankles began so swell, which was followed by swelling of the knee joints and of the hands. She has now dull pain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of soute rheematism, or, as it is new fashionably called, rheimatt evers. It is a well remarked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time call your attention to the various symptoms which has recently been recommended in the freatment of rheumatism. Im can propylamine. Dr. Awenarius, of it. Petersburg, recommends it in the highest terms, having derived great benefit from its use in 350 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I propose thepsfore to give it shother trial. I must confess I am always meredulous as to the worth of new remedies, which far vaunted as specifies; but this comes to us recommended so highly, that we are bound to give it a trial.

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER!

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER!

MAY 23, 1866.—I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I prescribed Propylamne, and was then laboring under an attack of acute rhoumatism. She has seedily taken it in doset of three grains every two hours (intermitting it at night.) The day after you saw her, I found her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or more, justing from her other stack. (The patient now walked into the room.) The improvement has steadily progressed, and you cannot all to notice a marked change in the appearance of her kints, which are new nearly all of their natural size.—
nor har our experiment would have seemed vory successful; but, gentlemen, we must wait a little while before we can give a declued opinion as to what is to be the result.

ore we'can give a declued opinion as to what is to be he result.

Here is another patient who was placed on the use of all same medicine on Sunday last; she has long been suffering from chronic rheumatism, and I found her at that time with an acute attack supervening upon her chronic affection. The wrists and knuckles were much swollen and tense. She took the chloride of Propylamine in three grain does every two hours, and you will perceive that the swelling of the joints has much diminished.

THREE DAYS LATER !!

THREE DAYS LATER!!

May 26, 1860.—This is the case of acute rheumatism treated with propylamine, the first of those to which I called your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice daily. In this case it has seemed to be followed by very satisfactory reasits. The second case to which your attention was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do well? I will now bring vefore you a very characteristic case of acute rheumatism, and if the result be satfactory, I tifink, as good jurymen, we shall justly render our verdict in favor of propylamin. He is a seaman, sat. 28, who was admitted a few days saye. Has had coassional rheumatic pause, but not so as to keep his bed, until eight days ago. The pains began in his right kines, subsequently affected the left kines, and later, the points of the upper extremities. These joints are all swollen, tense and tender. His tougue is farred; his skin, at present dry, though there has been much sweating. His pulse is full and strong, and about 90.—He has now used propylamine for twenty-four hours. This gentieman is what may be called a strictly typical case of acute rheumatism. There was exposure to cold and wet, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of coldness, severe articular pain, beginning, as it usually does, in the lower joints. There is fever and the profuse sweating, so generally attendant on acute rheumatism. I did not bring this patient before you with the luter index remedy we are testing, and to exhibit to you this typical case, as I have called it, than which there could not be a fairer opportunity for testing the medicine in question, We are, therefore, avoiding the use of all other medicines, even anodynes, that there may be no shall see the case of a future clinic.

THE RESULT.

A FAVORABLE VERDIOT.

Juni 9, 1860.—The next of our convalencents is the case of acute rheumatism before you as our clinic of May 26th, which I then called a typical case, and which it was remarked was a fair opportunity for testing the worth of our new remedy. It was therefore steadily given in three grain deese every two hours for four days. The patient has got along very nicely, and is now able to walk about, as you see. I do not hesitate to say that I have neves seen as severe a case of acute rheumatism os seen restored to health has this man has been, and without being prepared to decide positive by as to the value of the remedy we have used, I was bound to state that in the cases in which we have tried the Chloride or Propylamine, the patients in two regained their health much carlier han under the treatment ordinarily pursued. I wish gentlemen, you would yourselves try is, and roport the results.

For a full report of which the above is a condense extract, see the Philadelphia Medical and Spraical Renorter. It is the report after a fair trial by the best med cal authority in this country, and makes it unnecessary to give numerous cartificates from assonished doctor and rejoicing patients.
