Monday Afternoon, August 18, 1862.

UNION COUNTY CONVENTION The friends of the Administration and the opponents of the present unboly rebellion, are invited to assemble in County Convention for the nomination of county officers, which will meet in the Court House at Harrisburg, on Tuesday the 19th day of August, 1862, at 101 o'clock held in the various townships of the county, The game is being played with great desperaat the usual place of holding said elections, be tween the hours of five and seven P. M., and hours of 7 and 9 P. M., on Saturday the 16th H. C. ALLEMAN, Chairman Republican County Committee.

RECRUITS FOR THE OLD REGIMENTS.

Since the county has paid the $50 bounty to the nine months volunteers, we hope that the committee will at once resolve to pay all those who enlist for the old regiments a bounty of $50 from the money so liberally contributed by the These men, imbued with a partizan spirit which citizens of Harrisburg. Some sixteen thousand dollars have been contributed in that way, which ought to be used for this purpose and the relief of the families left by those who have volun-

WHAT ARE WE DOING!

Since the orders of the War Department, one summoning three hundred thousand men to the field, and another directing a draft of a like number of men to be made, the several states of the Union which cleave to the government have been actively employed in responding .-While we are interested in the success of our sister commonwealths, and view with favor and solicitude every effort which each state is makpeople of Pennsylvania, and regard their milithis time forward arrangements have been made to contribute two regiments per day—and before the expiration of the present week, we expect to have contributed no less than twentytwo regiments, fully armed and equipped, and capable of being disciplined for active service in an incredible short space of time. Of these nty-two regiments, five are for the term o three years, and outside of these enlistments, hun- of the Union, and glorying in their infidelity dreds of recruits have been sent forward to the and spiritualism, the writers for the tory-secesh old regiments, while the Bucktall Brigade is re- organ, this morning, indulge in a most brutal ceiving acquisitions of men every day, of which and unprovoked attack on the loyal preachers our state military records contain no account. of Harrisburg. We take it that this assault is At the same time, also, many of the counties of directed against such patriots as Rev. Of course it will become necessary to order this draft in localities, but in a very large majority of districts, it will not follow, as the men are ready, nay clamoring for gion into disgrace. On this account, they assail places in the ranks where they can distinguish the loyal preachers of Harrisburg. Unable to themselves best by performing the most active approach them with argument, and too cowardservice for their country.

BY FRIDAY OR SATURDAY NEXT, PENNSYLVANIA WILL HAVE MORE MEN IN THE FIELD. AS HER QUOTA OF THE LAST CALL OF THREE HUNDRED their pure Christianity. THOUSAND, THAN NEW YORK AND ALL THE EASTERN STATES COMBINED.

This is what Pennsylvania is doing. These are only the operations which appear before the world, while the other silent influences, such as the contribution of money, the surrendering of positions of emolument and the entire abandonment of prosperous pursuits, will never be properly valued or appreciated. We have placed our all on the scales with the government. Life, honor and fortune are invested in the cause. Numbers and energy are both aroused for its defence. Nothing that is sacred, holy or valuable, will be reserved, for in the event of the breaking up of this government, sacredness and holiness, with the valuation of every right and material interest, would soon become the prey of evil passions and the sport of those who aspire to rule or ruin the Republic.

POLITICS AND THE WAR.

A large class of men, honestly solicitous for the success of our army and the restoration of peace, regard any thing like the introduction to be dangerous to the cause of the government. In one respect we agree with these men. Politics, though the origin and the food of the rebellion, have nothing to do with its overthrow and the punishment of its instigators. Politics have nothing to do with the administration of the law and the vindication of justice. But politics must be met by something like an organization on the part of the peoplesomething like an understanding that is the struggle to sid the civil authority in all its coordinate branches, none but loyal men, men unquestionably attached to the government, be placed in position to frame its laws and invested with authority to wield their power. In this way only politics may, with discretion and with great service, be introduced, not in the conflicts of this war, but in those other contests which are to give force and success to the struggle of the war. It is the politics which make an issue with those who have really made party prejudices and organization the impediments of the war, which must not be lost sight of, or all our efforts to sustain the government, and all our contributions to support the war, will become useless and fruitless. The political aspect of Pennsylvania has now become such, that all true and loyal men are either forced to make an issue with the leaders of some of our most corrupt factions, or the state will be placed in a position where its influences can be used with as great effect against Meetings for the election of delegates will be as they are now wielded for the government. tion and also great skill. The object is to get a vote against both the state and national adin the several wards and boroughs between the | ministrations—to place the legislative power of the state and nation in the hands of men who are notoriously the opponents of the Executive branches representing both. Suppose, for instance, that the Congressional and the Legislative Houses were composed of such men as Generals Miller and Roumfort. Would President Lincoln and Governor Curtin receive the support essential to the success of the vigorous policies adopted for the suppression of the rebellion? We answer, emphatically, in the negative recognizes no compromise except that which promises the realisation of their own asperations, would make politics the means of crushing both, and in the end, the nation would again find itself in the power of the very men who are now battling for its destruction. With such men as these, and with the party they represent, we must of course make an issue. If that issue descends into politics, they are to blame, because they have persistently refused to give up their partizan identification. We are bound to oppose such as these, because the highest interests of the state and nation are at stake; and if such men are to be invested with power, those interests will of course be placed in jeopardy, if not entirely destroyed. It is not only in our own Congressional and Legislative ing to contribute its quota of men, we are of districts, that we are called on to oppose these most concerned in the position of the men, but their associates and those with whom they are identified all over the commonwealth, tary operations as most directly affecting the must also be opposed. We must meet them on honor and glory of the Union. Since the last the political grounds which they, have staked call for three hundred thousand men, and up out. We must meet them on the issue which to this time, Pennsylvania has marshed into they have proposed; an issue as to whether camps of instruction ten regiments. From this war can be vigorously prosecuted to a successful termination, or whether by the influence of the politics which they represent, it shall be compromised in a manner to insure the satisfied with having traduced Rev. Moore, Rev. Robinson, Rev. Colder, and others whose names we cannot now recollect, ism with their religion, and identified the cause which they are teachers. This feature of treason is in keeping with its tendencies. Those conspire for the overthrow of a free government, must not be expected to pause in any develish work which will bring the holy calling of relily to avow their real feelings of infidelity. they seek to malign our ministers of the gospel because of their patriotism, their loyalty, and

The promulgation of treason was bad enough in all conscience—but since the traitorous organ has fallen into the hands of reputed infidels and spiritualists, it seems that we are to be treated with attacks, not alone on the government, but on the Christian loyalty of our purest and most patriotic preachers. Truly, treason is assuming its worst shape, when its organs thus indulge in the aspersion of the representations of religion, because they are loyal.

IRISHMEN, READ THIS.

An officer of the Signal Corps, recently released from Richmond, had an interview with Col. Corcoran before he left the rebel capital. The Colonel told him that the rebels refused to exchange him because they feared that, if he was released, the story he could tell of the outrages inflicted upon him, and the sufferings he had endured in consequence of his loyalty; would bring every Irishman in the loyal states down to Richmond to avenge the barbarous treatment he had re ceived for so long a time, and is still enduring.

"THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY."

This is the heading of a leader in the "tory secesh organ" of this morning. It starts cut with this modest declaration: "The great Democratic party embodies the essential elements and genius of a republican form of government, and is, therefore, the only party that can successfully rule the country. THEY ARE THE GOVERNING POWERS !"

This is modest, truly. This is claimed for a party that has ruled the country for at least two thirds of the period of its existence, and day upon the rebel wounded, who were found has brought it to the very verge of ruin, and and collected this side of the Rapidan. would destroy it effectually had not the people rsien in their might, as they have done, and hurl- with the aid of a cane. ed it from the power it has abused. This is a true portraiture of this political organization, as a party. Thank God, that thousands of honest, but heretofore misguided men who have been swayed by this iniquitous power, are opening their eyes, and like true patriots. as they are, are deserting the sinking ship .-The country will be saved, but not under the rule of the corrupt organization 'yelept the Democratic party !"
