PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL.

[FROM OFFIGIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS.]

MAY 19, 1860,—Eller S., iet. 28, single, never was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rheumanism, from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks and subsequenty from a relapse for four more. She has been well since then till last Satur day, while engaged in house cleaning, ahe took cold, had pain in her back, felt cold, not had no dedded chill. Two days later her ankles began so swell, which, was followed by swelling of the knee jounts and of the hands. She has now dull vain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of acuter rheumalism, or, as it is now fashionably called, rheumatic fever! It is a well remarked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time call your attention to the various s) mptons which present themselves. My chief object in bringing her before you now, is to call attention to a remedy which has recently been recommended in the treatment of rheumatism. Im can propyldanism. Dr. Awenarius, of St. Petersburg, recommends it in the highest terms, having derived great benefit from its use a 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journats, and I propose therefore to give it another trial. Inust confess I am always incredulous as to the worth of new remedies, which are vaunted as specifie; but this comes to us recommended so highly, that we are bound to give it a trial. [FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS.]

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER!

MAY 23, 1860.—I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I prescribed Propylamine, and wis then liaboring under an attack of scute rheumatism. She has seadily taken it in dosed of three grains every two hours (intermitting it at night.) The day after you saw her, I found her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or more, justing from her other attacs. (the patient now walked into the room.) The improvement has steadily progressed, and you cannot nil to notice a marked change in the appearance of her and you have not an experiment would have seemed very successful; but, gentlemen, we must wait a little while before we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be he result.

Here is another patient who was placed on the use of the same medicine on Sunday last; she has long been Leasun medicine on Sinday last; she has long been suffering from a fronto rheumatism, and I found her at that time with an acute attack supervening upon her through affection. The wrists and knuckles were much swellen and tense. She took the chloride of Propylamine in three grain doese every two hours, and you will perceive that the swelling of the joints has much diminthed.

THREE DAYS LATER !!

THREE DAYS LATER!!

MAY 26, 1860.—This is the case of acute rheumatism treated with propylamine, the first of those to which I called your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice daily. In this case it has seemed to be followed by very satisfactory results. The second case to which your attention was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do well. I will how bring before you a very characteristic case of acute rheumatism, and if the result be satisfactory, I think, as good jurymen, we shall justly render our verdet in levor ef propylamin.

He is a seaman, sat. 28, who was admitted a few days ago. Has had occasional rheumatic pams, but not so as co keep his bed, until eight days ago. The pains began in his right knee, subsequently affected the left knee, and later, the joints of the upper extremities. These joints are all swellen, tense and tender. His tongdid is furred; his skin, at present dry, though there has been much sweating. His pulse is full and strong, and about 90.—He has now used propylamine for twenty-four hours. This gentlemian is what may be called a strictly typical case of acute rheumatism. There was exposure to cold and wet, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of coldness, severe articular pain, beginning, as it usually does, in the lower joints. There is fever and the profuse sweating, so generally attendant on acute rheumatism. I did not bring this patient before you with the intention of giving you a lecture on all the points, consected with rheumatism, but to again give a trial to the new remedy we are testing, and to exhibit to you this typical case, as I have called it, than which it here do all other medicines; even anodynes, that their may be no misgiving as to which was the efficient remedy. You shall see the case of a future clinic.

THE RESULT.

A FAVORABLE VERDIOT.

JUNE 9, 1860.—The next of our convalencents is the case of acute rheumatism before you at our clinic of May 26th, which I then called a typical case, and which it was remarked was a fair opportunity for testing the worth of our new remedy. It was therefore steadily given in three grain doses every two hours for four days. The patient has got along very ulcely and it now able to The patient has got along very alcely, and it now able to walk about, as you see. I do not hesitate to a ty that? have neves seen as severe a case of a cube 'heu matism so seen restored to health as 'this man has been,' and without being prepared to decide positive by as to the 'wall out of the remedy we have used, I feel bouind to state that in the eases in which we have tried the Chloride of Propulsmine, the patients have revalued their health lamine, the patients have regained their health earlier than under the treatment ordinarily pur-I wish gentlemen, you would yourselves try it, eport the results.

For a full report of which the above, is a condense extract, see the Philadelphia Medical and Surgical Reporter. It is the report after a fair trial by the best medcal authority in this country, and makes it unuscessary to give numerous certificates from astonished doctor and rejoicing patients.

Who have injured themselves by a certain practice in dulged in when alobe, a habit frequently learned from evil companions, on a school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body; should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the darling of his parents, should be snatched from all prispects and ealoyments of life, by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contemplating reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote counding happiness. Indeed, without these, the journey through life becomes a weary pligrimage; the prospect hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the meiancholly reflections that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our lown.

When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds that he has imblied the scode of this painful disease, it too often hapens that an ill-timed sense of shame, or dread of discovery, deters him from applying to those who, from e incation and respectability, can stone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms on this hort of disease make their appearance, such as ul corated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, dealness, nodes on the ahm bones and arms, blotches on the head face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall is, and the victim of this awful disease become a horrid object of commiseration, till death puts a period to his dreadful nufferings, by sending hum to "that Undiscovvered Country from whence no traveler returns."

It is a sectarcholdy fact that thousands fall victims to this tearible disease, owing to the unskillulness of ignorant pretenders, who by the use of that Deadly Potson, Mercury, ruin the constitution and make the residue of the miserable.
