PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL.

[FROM OFFICIAL HORTTAL REPORTS.]

[MAY 10, 1860,—Ellea S., set. 28, single, never was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rheumatism, from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks and subsequently from a relapse for four more. She has been well since then till last Satur day, white engaged in house cleaning, ahe took cold, had pain in her back, felt cold, hot had so dedded chill. Two days later her ankles began so swell, which was followed by swelling of the inee joints and of the hands. She has now dull pain in her shoulders, and her knuckies are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of scute rheumatism, or, as it is now fashionably called, rheumatic faver. It is a well remarked typical case. We will carefully watch the sace, and from time to time call your attention to the various symptoms which present themselves. My chief object in bringing her before you now, is to call attention to a remedy which has recently been recommended in the treatment of rheumatism. I mean propylomeire. Dr. Awenarius, of St. Festerburg, recommends it in the highest terms, having derived great benefit from its use in 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I projoce therefore to give it another trial. I must confess I am always moredulous as to the worth of new remedies, which are vaunted as specifics; but this comes to us recommended so highly, that (FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS.) orth of new remedies, which are vaunted as specifies at this comes to us recommended so highly, that we

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER !

BIMAY 23, 1860.—I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I prescribed Propylamine, and was then laboring under an attack of acute rheumation. She has steadily taken it in doses of throe grains every two hours (latermitting it at night.) The day after you saw her, I found her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or more, judging from her other attack. (The patient now walked into the room.) The improvement has steadily progressed, and you cannot all to notice a marked change in the appearance of her inter, which are new meany all of their natural size.—Inter far our experiment would have seemed very successful; but gentlemen, we must wait a little while before we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be the result.

Here is another patient who was placed on the use of the same medicine on Sunday last; she has long been suffering from a brother hearmatism, and I found her at that time with an acute attack supervening upon her chroalc affection. The wrists and knuckles were much swollen and tense. She took the chloride of Propylamine in three grain doese every two hours, and you will perceive that the swelling of the joints has much diminuted.

THREE DAYS LATER!!

MAY 23, 1860.—This is the case of acute rheumatism treated with propylamine, the first of those to which I called your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice daily. In this case it has seemed to be followed by very estigatory ressits. The second case to which your attention was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do well. I will now bring before you a very characteristic case of acute rheumatism, and if the result be sutfactory, I think, as good jurymen, we shall justly render istic case of acute rhoumatism, and if the result be satfactory, I think, as good jurymen, we snall justly render our verdict in lavor of propylamin:

He is a seaman, set. 28, who was admitted a few days ago. Has had consistent in the matter pains, but not so as to keep his bed, until eight days ago. The pains began in his right knee, subsequently affected the left knee, and later, the joints of the apper extremities. These joints are all swollen, tenne and tender. His tongue is furred;
his skin, at present dry, tough there has been much sweating. His pulse is fall and strong, and about 90.—
He has now used propylamine for twenty-four hours.
This gentleman is what may be called a strictly typical case of acute rheumatism. There was exposure to cold and wet, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of coldness; severe articular pain, beginning, as it usually and wet, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of coldness; severe articular pain, beginning, as it usually does, in the lower joints. There is lover and the profuse sweating, so generally attendant on acute rhemmatism. I did not bring this patient before you with the latention of giving you a lecture on all the points conjected with rhemmatism, but to again give a trial to the new remedy we are testing, and to exhibit to you this typical case, as I have called it, than which there could not be a fairer opportunity for testing the medicine in question. We are, therefore, avoiding the use of all other medicines, over anodytess, that there may be no misgivings as to which was the efficient remedy. You shall see the case of a lature cibiic.

THE RESULT.

A FAVORABLE VERDICT.

June 2, 1860.—The next of our convalescents is the case of scuterheumatism before you at our clinic of May 26th, which I then called a typical case, and which it was remarked was a fair opportunity for testing the worth of our new remedy. It was therefore steadily given in three grain doese every two hours for four days. The patient has got along very cheely, and is now able to walk about, as you see. I do not hesitate to say that I have neves seen as severe a case of acute rheumatism so soon restored to health as this man has been, and without being propared to decide positive by as to the value of the remedy we have used, I feel bound to state that in the cases in which we have tried the Unioride o Propylamine, the patients have regained their health much earlier than under the treatment ordinarily pursued. I wish gentlemen, you would yourselves try it, and report the results.

For a full report of which the above is a condense extract, see the Philadelphia Medical and Surgical Reporter. It is the report after a fair trial by the best med cal authority in this country, and makes it unnecessar to give numerous certificates from astonished doctors and rejoicing patients.
