PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL.

[FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS.]

[FROM OFFIGIAL HORSTYAL REFORMS.]

MAY 19, 1860,—Elles S., set. 28, single, never was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rhetumatism, from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks and subsequently from a relapse for four more. She has been well since then till last Satir day, while engaged in house cleaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, felt bold, had had no deedded chill. Two days later her ankies becam so swell, which was followed by swelling of the trace joints and of the hands. She has now dull pain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumatism, or, as it is now fashionably called, rheumatic fever. It is a well remarked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time call your attention to the various symptoms which present themselves. My chief object in bringing her before you now, is to call attention to a remedy which has recently been recommanded in the treatment of rheumatism. I mean propylemsine. Dr. Awenarius, of St. Petersburg, recommends it in the highest terms, having derived great benefit from its use in 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I propose therefore is give it another trail. I must confess I am always specifies is on the worth of new remedies, which are vaunted as specifies; but this comes to us recommended so highly, that we are bound to give it a trial.

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER I

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER I
MAY 23, 1860.—I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I prescribed Propylamine, and was then laboring under an attack of acute rheumatism. She has steadily taken it in does of three grains every two hours (intermitting it at night.) The day after you saw her, I found her much more comfortable, botter than she expected to be for a week or more, justing from her other attack. (The patient now walked into the room.) The mprovement has steadily progressed, and you cannot il to noting a marked change in the appearance of her ints, which are now nearly all of their natural size.—
hay far our experiment would have seemed very, sucessful; but, gentlemen, we must wait a little while beore we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be the result.

the result.

Here is another patient who was placed on the use of as same medicine on Sunday last; she has long been suffering from a bronic rheumatism, and I found her at that time with an acute attack supervening upon her chronic affection. The wrists and knuckles were much swollen and tense. She took the chloride of Propylamine in three grain doses every two hours, and you will perceive that the swelling of the joints has much diminated.

THREE DAYS LATER [1

THREE DAYS LATER!!

MAY 26, 1860.—This is the case of soute rheumatism cated with propylamine, the first of those to which I alled your attention at our last clinic. She-is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice daily. In this case it has seemed to be followed by very satisfactory reesits. The second case to which your attention was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do well. I will now bring before you a very characteristic case of acute rheumatism, and if the result be satisatory, I think, as good jurymen, we shall justly render our verdict in favor of propylamin.

He les seaman, sat. 26, who was admitted a few days ago. Has had crassional rheumatic pains, but not so as to keep his bed, until eight days ago. The pains began in his right knee, subsequently affected the left knee, and later, the joints of the upper extremities. These joints are all swollen, tense and tender. His tongue is furred; his skin, at present dry, though there has been much sweating. His puise is full and strong, and about 30.—He bas how used propylamine for twenty-four hours. This gentleman is what may be called a strictly typical case of acute rheumatism. There was exposure to cold and wet, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of coldacies; severe stricular pain, beginning, as it usually does, in the lower joines. There is fever and the profuse sweating, so generally attendant on acute rheumatism. I did not bring this panent before you with the intention of giving you a lecture on all the points consected with rheumatism, but to again give a trial to the new remedy we are testing, and to canibit to you this typical case, as I have called it, than which there on uld not be a fairer opportunity for testing the medicine in question. We are, therefore, avoiding the use of all ether medicines, even anodynes, that there may be no mingfyting as to which was ton efficient remedy. You wish the case in a future clinic.

THE RESULT.

A FAVORABLE VERDICT.

June 9, 1860.—The next of our convalencents is the case of some rheumatism before you at our clinic of May 36th, which I then called a typical case, and which if was remarked was a fair opportunity for testing the worth of our new remedy. It was therefore steadily given in three grain doses every two hours for four days. The patient has got along very nicely, and is now able to walk about, as you see. I do not nestate to say that I have neves seen as severe a case of acute rheumatism so soon restored to sheath as this man has been, and without being prepared to decide positive by as to the value of the remedy we nave used, I feel bound to state that in the eases in which we have tried the Chloride o fropylamine, the patient nave regained their health much carlier than under the treatment ordinarily purned. I wish gentlemen, you would yourselves try it, and report the results.

For a full report of which the above is a condensed extract, see the Philadelphia Medical and Surgical Reporter. It is the report after a fair trial by the best med. cal authority in this country, and makes it unnecessary to give numerous certificates from astonished doctors les from astonished doctors and rejoicing patients.
