THADDEUS STEVENS.

The re-nomination of this veteran legislator, by the people of Lancaster, as the Congressional candidate in that district, is one of the most unmistakable signs of the continued loyalty of the masses of the Old Guard. In a crisis like the one now upon the nation, such men as Thaddeus Stevens are institutions. Independent and intropid in all his actions; as ready to denounce a friend, if he does wrong, as he is to applaud a foe, if he does what is right, there can be no mistaking the motives which prompt such men either in their adherence to party or their advocacy of principle. Without such men, the results of the age would become stale, flat and unprofitable. Without their study opposition to wrong, tyrants would long since have triumphed, and the nation that is now state itself would have an additional force of the want of enterprise. struggling in the grasp of a wicked rebellion. would have yielded to its assailants and become the prey of the desperate men who have sworn arming at least that number of troops, and these surd. its destruction.

-The re-nomination of Mr. Stevens will reassure the friends of the Union that the loyal men of the Old Guard are in earnest in all they are doing for the support of the government. As such, at least, we hail this nomination.

EXCITING RUMORS AT OHAMBERSBURG.

By private advices and telegraphic despatches received in this city, we learn that the citizens of Chambersburg, last evening, could distinctly hear firing in that vicinity. This fact has of the people of Pennsylvania. FROM THE SICK AND WOUNDED.

By advices received in this city, direct from Washington city, we learn that Gen. R. C. Hale, has succeeded in securing the comfort of all the sick and wounded Pennsylvania soldiers he could reach, and that they want for nothing which money and attention can procure or bestow. Gen. Hale was dispatched to Washington by Gov. Curtin immediately after the late battles, specially to look after the sick and wounded belonging to this state. He has accomplished that work to the satisfaction of the Governor, and he is now engaged in superintending the removal of such of the men as are in a condition to be transported to localities prepared for their reception within the limits of comfortable lodgment of those whom it is deemed injudicious to remove at present:

The people of Pennsylvania who have friends in any of the military hospitals of the government, may rest assured that they are as comfortably situated and carefully watched in every particular, as if they were at home, surrounded is gone. The worm is at its heart. by their immediate friends. Gov. Curtin rests his reputation on the treatment of the sick and wounded soldiers of the Keystone state. Let this be a guarantee to all who have friends in the army.

PENNSYLVANIA, SS:

In the Name and by the Authority OF THE

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, ANDREW G. CURTIN.

Governor of the said Commonwealth. A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, in the present position of affairs, it is expedient that measures should be taken to arm and prepare our people

Now, therefore, I do carneally recommend the immediate formation throughout the Commonwealth, of volunteer companies and regiments, in conformity with the militia act of 1858. Arms will be distributed to the organisations so to be formed, agreeably to the provisions of that act.

It is further recommended, that, in order to give due opportunities for drill and instruction, all places of business be closed daily at three o'clock, P. M., so that persons employed there in may, after that hour, be at liberty to attend to their military duties.

The cheerful alacrity with which the men of Pennsylvania have hitherto given themselves to the service of the country, has pressed heavily during the stay of the Unionists, expressed on her military resources. I am reluctant to sympathies with the cause, but few of whom remained, however, and these men too aged to remove. The stores of men who had fied with it is in their behalf that I put forth the recommendations herein contained, and urge a prompt compliance with them.
