ASSISTANT ADJUTANT GENERAL OF THE UNITED STATES.

A. K. McClure has just been appointed by the President, Assistant Adjutant General of the United States, with the rank of major, and detailed for special duty in Pennsylvania, appointed Provisional Governor, by Jeff. Davis where he will be assigned the service of arranging such defences in the state as the emergency of the hour may demand, or the augmenting importance the crisis suggest. For several weeks past, Major McClure has been sedulously engaged in perfecting the details for the approaching draft, and in lending such aid in the military organization of the state, a was deem- of secession have long since left the state, with ed essential by the Governor for the entire suc. the belief that Maryland was hopelessly wedded cess of all our operations. In his new position, to the Union. They went into the rebel army, as Assistant Adjutant General, Major McClure and have either paid the forfeit of their treason, will have a more extensive field of labor, or have become so scattered as to be unable, but will encounter no responsibility which he at least immediately, to wield much influence is not amply able to assume. It is a duty for over the destinies of the state. If danger is which he is peculiarly fitted, because few men excel him in coolness of judgment or promptness of action, while the force of his great energy lately crossed the Potomac and invaded that will hurry forward all the movements which state. come within his command, at once with alacri tv and dispatch. It is for these reasons that we congratulate the service and the commonwealth of Pennsylvania on the appointment of domitable perseverance in keeping Jeff. Davis advised of the force and movements of the federal army, the rebellion has derived its main and most effective means of success. What the conspirators of the cotton states possessed of bloody desperation and villianous purport, the sly traitors and courtly scoundrels of Baltimore, rivaled by evesdropping in the federal capital, suborning weak, and treason-tainted the conspirators of success. What important military move being made in and burt; subsequently, at 3 o'clock this morning, but fortunately no one was convention and occupying the conspirators of the cotton states possessed around this post. By these operations, and with this aid the traitors have been enabled to reach their present position in Maryland. What do they intend to do there? is the interrogatory which lingers on many anxious lips. Where will they hurl their thunderbolts of war? is a conjecture full of apprehension and alarm. Will they march their victorious cohorts into Pennsylvania, ravaging the country as they go, destroying and devouring whatever comes within their reach? We think that such is not the intention of the rebel leaders. They aim at the Capital, They desire to possess the archives of the Government and seize its magnificent buildings, and then demand their recognitition from the nations of the world. Their ples will be that 'they had refrained from conquest, although the path was open to its realization. They will assert to the governments of the world that though entitled to vengeance and almost induced to retribution they had abstained from both, contented to achieve their nationality and showing to the world the invincibility of their arms and the superiority of their people. Of course, the provise to all this is the contingency of rebel success from their contingency in Manyland. Manyland Manyland States must and shall be obeyed, its laws be respected and rigidpresent position in Maryland. Meanwhile it ly enforced. The following correspondence will exhibit a difference in the positions of New York and Pennsylvania, so far as relates to the relative effectiveness of these states in the struggle to suppress rebellion. Pennsylvania has not withdrawn a single regiment from the field sinee the three months' men were mustered out of service; while the recruiting for the regiments in the field, from this state, is to-day, almost as active as it was when those regiments to be the finest looking and best drilled and disciplined regiment in the service. They have earned unfading laurels, and gained an envisable name-wherever duty has called them. The perfection of their drill and the soldierly bearing of the men have made them famous throughout this whole sarmy. Every one both citizen and soldier have something to say praisworthy of the 79th, Col. Hambright, and his officers have labored long and hard, and are worthy of the highest commendation. Col. SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS REL ATIVE TO THE DRAFT.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER

Harrisburg, Sept. 6, 1861.
Commissioner of County

Sir :—You will herewith receive a copy of General Orders No 121, issued by the War Department, giving particular instructions as to the care and organization of drafted men, or of volunteers received in lieu of drafted men .-You will examine the orders carefully and carry out their directions faithfully.

The quota for your county to fill the several requisitions made upon this State by the War Department, is men.
You will apportion this quota to the differ ent townships, boroughs and wards in your county, in accordance with the enrolment made by the Marshals, of men subject to military It will not be made however, until the appeals are held, and the claims to exemption are decided, as it cannot be justly apportioned until the exact number of men actually subject to military duty in each district is ascertained.

When the proper proportion of each sub-di-vision of the county is determined, in accordance with the men actually subject to military duty, you will ascertain from the enrollment the number of men each district has now in the service, and credit it therewith on its quota. In this credit, men enlisted in the regular army, in the marine service, blacksmiths, bridge builders, carpenters, teamsters, clerks, &c., and men enlisted in regiments or companies organized under the laws of other States, are not to be embraced. You will credit only for men enlisted in the volunteer regiments and companies recognized and com-missioned by the Governor of this State.

You will also observe carefully, to guard against the same men being credited in two listricts. In some instances, young men whose parents reside in one district, have been laboring or temporarily residing in another, and there enlisted; and they may be credited on the enrolment in both. When you detect any such case, give the credit to the district where the person enlist was pursuing his lawful call-ing or residing at the time he enlisted, without regard to the residence of his parents.

If any districts in your county have furnished more than their quotas, you will ascertain the aggregate of such excess, and apportion it as a credit to the other districts of the county, a accordance with the enrolment.

If any companies or squads of men in your county have been mustered into the service of the United States since the enrolment was made. you will, if possible, procure copies of the rolls of such companies or squads, and credit them to the proper districts in which the men resided.

Although the orders of the War D. partment required the enrolment of all men between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years, the militia laws of this State exempt from military duty, all persons under twenty one years. You will therefore, when holding appeals, crase from the list, agnant.
