HARRISBURG, PA.

Wednesday Afternoon, September 10, 1862

HON. AMOS KENDALL recently purchased $100 worth of grapes, for distribution among the sick soldiers in the various hospitals around Washington city.

WANTED, A DOMESTIC to do the general housework of a small family. Apply at this office from 8 o'clock in the morning to 12 o'clock, noon. None but those who can come well recommended need apply.

COL. GEORGE MATYR, one of the oldest citizens and business men of Lancaster, died in that city yesterday. He had been identified with the progress and prosperity of the Old Ward for more than half a century.

FOR THE INFORMATION of those not posted, we state that those volunteers called into the State service will receive the same pay and rations as the volunteer in the United States army while in active service, the pay, however, dating back only two days before they march.

STATE MEDICAL BOARD.—The State Medical Board of Pennsylvania will meet in this city tomorrow, to examine candidates for assistant surgeons. About one hundred and eighty medical officers will be required for the old and new regiments. Surgeons will be obtained by the promotion of assistants who prove worthy.

NEW MUSIC.—Mr. Knoche sends us the following new music: "We are Coming Father Abraham, or 800,000 More," arranged as a quick step, in an easy manner, by Prof. J. A. Getze; "Songs of the Day," a collection of beautiful waltzes, by Chas. Coose; "Battle of New Orleans," with handsomely illustrated title page.

PASSED THROUGH.—On Monday evening four cars filled with sick and wounded soldiers, passed through Lancaster on their way to Philadelphia. They had been in the hospital at Frederick, and were compelled to leave there rather suddenly to avoid being captured by the rebels. Many of them were anxious to get into active service again, and expressed the hope that in eight or ten days they would be with the army.

PATRIOTISM AT MILLERSBURG.—The patriotic citizens of Millersburg have enrolled themselves into a military company, and the Rev. Mr. Ayres, a Methodist clergyman, has been elected as captain. W. H. Moore as first lieutenant, and S. P. Auchmuty as second lieutenant. The company is composed of the best citizens of that borough, and express themselves ready to leave home any minute for the defence of the country. They will receive their arms as soon as the proper requisition has been made for them.

THE POLICE OF GEORGETOWN, D. C., recently found eighty-five splendid telescope rifles, each carefully packed in a separate box, and all concealed in a lumber yard of that city. This kind of arm is very costly; and the above number in the hands of skillful rebel sharpshooters would do us more mischief than a whole regiment of ordinary soldiers. They were undoubtedly designed for transportation to the enemy, as they were found on the premises of a well-known secession sympathizer.

ANOTHER MONSTER GUN.—H. F. Mann, who has been to Washington to have his steel breech-loading cannon tested, has returned to Pittsburgh with an order for the construction of a 200-pounder gun on the same principle. This will be the largest breech-loading cannon ever manufactured, and its completion will be looked for with no ordinary interest. The steel gun, already made, has been fired several hundred rounds without any apparent injury to the bore. It is highly thought of by the War Department, and no doubt as soon as the trial is over other guns of a like character will be ordered.

MAJOR GENERAL POPE IN LANCASTER.—Major General Pope lately commanding the Federal army in Virginia, passed through Lancaster on Monday afternoon last. A large crowd assembled at the depot to take a look at the man who for the past few weeks has filled so prominent a place in the public mind. He was heartily cheered and in response said:

Citizens of Lancaster.—I thank you for your kind reception, and regret that I have no cheering news to tell you; but I still live in hope that Pennsylvania will not be invaded. The troops under my command fought well, and among them none fought better than the Pennsylvanians. We did all that we could do, but we were not supported by the Government as we should have been.

General Pope has been relieved at his own request, from the Army of the Potomac, and has been assigned to the command of the troops in the North-West. He appears to be in excellent health but looked somewhat haggard and care worn.

A WASHINGTON correspondent of the Tribune narrates an "amusing scene" between General Halleck and a Mr. Graves, an Englishman visiting the Capital grounds. In reply to some inquiry of the stranger, the General is reported as answering that the Capital was "a bakery for the United States army." Not being able to "see the point" of the reply, Mr. G. fancied that it was an intentional insult, produced his card, and demanded satisfaction, being ignorant of the name or rank of the General. The latter walked off with an impertinent rejoinder, and the point of the "amusing scene" is supposed to come in when Halleck's rank and position are made known to Mr. Graves. It may be that the story is manufactured from whole cloth, but the writer is evidently just enough of a hot spit to regard such an exhibition of discourtesy in an official as a good joke—when the rub is not on himself. A polite inquiry should have been politely replied to.

VALUABLE PROPERTY AT PUBLIC SALE.—Ten three acre lots, and the valuable brick house and lot of ground situated in Market Square, late the residence of David Hummel, dec'd., will be offered for sale at Brant's Hall tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock.

SOME MISAPPREHENSION exists as to the character of the organization being formed in response to the late proclamation of the Governor, calling on the people of the Commonwealth to arm and hold themselves in readiness for any emergency. The mere matter of being attached to such a company does not exempt a man from draft. His name will be placed among those for the draft, the same as if he had not subscribed it to the other roll. This is an important fact, and we trust that it will be remembered.

BANDAGES should be made from cotton which has been washed; any old cotton which will bear a hard pull will answer the purpose. They should be from three to six inches in width, and from four to ten yards in length. They should be placed by lapping one end over the other and sewing the pieces securely; the edges need not be turned in. No selvages or hard seams should be allowed on them. So writes an experienced surgeon to the TELEGRAPH.

A CONTEMPLATED CHANGE in the POLICY of the METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—It is the custom in the Methodist Church in this country, for the conferences of that body to assign to their ministers the stations they are to occupy, without consulting the wishes of either the pastor or his assigned charge upon the subject. In England, the plan of the Wesleyan body is to send a schedule of the preachers proposed for the various stations in advance of the meeting of the conference, in order that all concerned may have the opportunity of making objections or suggesting alterations. The New York Methodist, we observe, is advocating the adoption of the English plan, and characterizes the present system as one of "Spartan severity."

JOHN A. BIGLER.—If we were certain that the card of this biped, which appeared in the tory organ of this morning, was not a plagiarism, we would notice it; but as the presumed author of that card has convicted himself of that meanest of all tricks, appropriating the mental efforts of others, marking them as they appeared in the Patriot, with his own name, and circulating that sheet thus marked, we of course can take no further notice of him, than by thus alluding to his tricks. It may be possible that some of the sentences, and at least the poetical quotation with which he so gracefully displays his scholarship, was prepared to his hands in the columns of the old Freeman, a journal from which he was in the habit of plagiarizing his editorials, while he was advertising himself in the streets of Harrisburg as the editor of the tory organ. If Bigler desires to know more of himself, and if those who have lately used him, in connection with the tory organ desire to know how often he affixed their names to some of the dirtiest articles against the gallant men and patriotic measures of the times, thus divulging what they imagined to be a secret, let him prolong this discussion.

JOY TO JUVENILES.—Marble time has come, and the agates and allays are hauled from their hidden corners, and the dusty calico bags held to light once more. Youngsters whose naps are disturbed by dreams of do-do's, agates and allays, rise up with the sun, and strive to initiate some unskillful disciple of the art into the mysteries of shooting in the ring. The hours of morning are spent and the school is still unattended.—Marbles are banished from the scholar's pocket and away he travels to the school—late—where a frowning face and threatening rod caused him to shake like a Peck Slip Ferry boat. How often do we see, if we happen to pass along a street pretty populous with juveniles, a crowd around two or three flag stones, like blue tailed flies around a drop of molasses. And then the head of an enraged housekeeper at the second story blinds, and a vision of fleeting transparency, and down comes a pall of water upon the heads of the unscaped devotees. How they spring from their seats, and with disheveled locks, skedaddle. We cannot tell whether the price of marbles have risen or not since the war commenced, but we know that "secessh" may soon be compelled to make a draft on them, for want of something else to shoot, or else use up the stones which are scattered all over. If some of the larger boys whom we have seen playing marbles, seeming to have nothing else to do, would go and help their country, it would be more to their credit. Let the children who cannot find other amusements, monopolize the game of marbles.

A SOMER IN COURT.—Attempt to Commit Suicide.—Yesterday afternoon, says the Eastern Express of September 8d, a young and very pretty girl of seventeen years, named Sarah Bowers, was brought up for trial before court, now in session in Easton. It appears that she had for some time past, been keeping company with girls of loose character, and conducted herself very badly in spite of the remonstrances of her mother, when the latter finding that her efforts to mend the ways of her child were unavailing, determined that she would have her sent to the House of Refuge. She made complaint before the proper person, and yesterday the case came up for trial. The girl was found guilty and sentenced to the House of Refuge for the term of four years. As soon as the sentence was pronounced, the girl declared, in the most positive manner, that she would not be taken to the House of Refuge alive, intimating that she would take her own life. The mother wept and so did the daughter, and the scene was a painful one to all present. The girl was then taken out, and just as she was leaving the Court House, she swallowed some laudanum, that was concealed on her person in a small phial, to enable her to carry into execution the threat she made in the court room. She was taken to jail immediately, and a physician sent for, who pumped the deadly liquid from her stomach and saved her life. This morning the unhappy girl was comfortable. She will be taken to the city tomorrow.

LINT.—Should be made by revolving from pieces of damask or linen cloth, cut three or four inches square, laid straight and packed in paper boxes—this being the most desirable. The uneven or short threads should be kept by themselves; they are used as second quality. Scraped lint is accepted, but used as third quality.

GARDNER AND HEMMING'S CIRCUS was in Havover, York county, when the news reached that locality that the rebels were advancing, and partaking of the general alarm, the entire establishment skedaddled to Lancaster city, where their appearance, unannounced, created the most intense alarm among the people. It would not damage the loyal or the moral cause of the country, if all such establishments were captured by the rebels.

THE DIFFERENCE in the MANNERS of the LADIES.—A friend who made his exit from Frederick on Saturday last, and came to Harrisburg on the special train to this city from Chambersburg on Sunday evening, gives his experience in regard to the difference between loyal and secessh women. Our correspondent writes: "On the way from Chambersburg to Harrisburg, I observed a great many persons at the various stations, all exhibiting the strangest desire to hear the latest news from the seat of war in Maryland. The ladies were out in strong force, waving their handkerchiefs and giving other demonstrations of welcome to a party of soldiers who were on board. At one of the stations, a party of ladies, principally dressed in white and drawn up in line along the track, had a beautiful flag, which they displayed upon the approach of the train. These beautiful and patriotic ladies gave every evidence in their power of the appreciation of those who have gone to fight the battles of the country. Their conduct was in striking contrast to that of the deluded and foolish females in Dixie, where your correspondent lives, who delight in welcoming and cheering on those misguided wretches who are moving heaven and earth to destroy this great and free Government. God bless these beautiful ladies with good husbands."

HARRISBURG, Sept. 9th, 1862. Geo. BRONNER, Esq.: Your article in this evening's paper reflecting on Mr. John A. Bigler, does that gentleman injustice, and I ask the publication of the following statement of facts: On Monday evening I called on Col. A. K. McClure at his room in the Jones House and inquired whether the service of a company of active and hardy young men, accustomed to the use of fire arms, would be accepted for immediate service. Col. McClure replied that such a company could be used at once for special duty, and that if we organized we should be supplied with the best arms in the arsenal, and detailed at once for active service.

A meeting of young men proposing to form this company of "scouts" was held later in the evening at Mr. Bigler's office, and the advertisement which you term an "imposition" was handed in to both parties. We presumed that we had sufficient authority in the person of Col. McClure, and were willing to sacrifice our business and risk our lives in the undertaking. Remarks: In reply to Gillard Dock, we have to state: Yesterday we were called upon by several gentlemen in this city, (among them Capt. Gowen,) and others from a distance, protesting that the publication of the notice to which the above card alludes, was an injury to the service, and had a tendency to embarrass enlistment. The gentlemen from a distance, Mr. J. S. McCurdy, of Thompsons, Juniata county, insisted that he had attempted to get the acceptance of a company, but failed, and that such a notice appearing in the TELEGRAPH, which circulates largely in the community from which he hailed, would show as if he had neglected to use proper exertion to get a similar acceptance, while on the contrary, he had labored sedulously to gain such a success, having offered nearly eighty men. To satisfy these gentlemen, and relieve ourselves of all blame, we called at the proper department, (the Adjutant General's office,) and were informed that no such authority had been given to such persons, that the advertisement was a "sell," and that as such we should expose it. As such we exposed the "sell," deeming the authority of Adjutant General Russell amply sufficient to make the exposure.—EDITOR TELEGRAPH.

A MODEL ESTABLISHMENT.—Among the many improvements lately made in our city, to which we can point with pride as an evidence of prosperity and as a determination on the part of our business men, no longer to remain behind the "light house," is the completion of Eby & Kunkle's large brick building at the corner of Market and Fifth streets, which is alike creditable to the owners and ornamental to that part of our city. The building is not only one of the largest, devoted to the grocery business, outside of New York, but the stock it engages competition.—Without going into detail, we may safely say that the firm keep on hand everything usually kept in a grocery store, (liquors excepted,) and that they sell at very small profits. Their clerks are civil and accommodating, and have strict instructions under no circumstances whatever to misrepresent or take advantage of any customer. A general invitation is extended to the public to visit the new building and examine the extensive stock, whether they purchase or not.

New Advertisements. PURIFY THE BLOOD. NOT a few of the worst disorders that afflict mankind arise from the corruption that accumulates in the Blood. Of all the diseases and ailments that have been made to purge it out, none have been found which could equal in effect ALEX. LEITCH'S COMPOUND EXTRACT OF SASSAPARILLA. It cleanses and renovates the blood, it stills the vigor of health into the system, and restores the humor which makes disease. It stimulates the healthy functions of the body and expels the disorders that grow out of a diseased blood. The extraordinary virtues are not yet widely known, out when they are it will no longer be a question what remedy to employ in the great variety of ailments that require an alternative remedy. Such a remedy, that could be relied on, has long been sought for, and now, for the first time, the public have one on which they can depend. Our space here does not admit of a full description of its effects. The trial of a single bottle will show its effects. It has virtues surpassing anything they have ever taken. Sufferers from Scrofula, Scrofulous Swellings and Sores, try it, and see the rapidity with which it cures.
