PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL. [FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS.]

[FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS.]

MAY 19, 1860,—Ellen S.; set. 28, single, never was very scrog. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rheumanism, from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks and subsequenty from a relapse for four more. She has been well since then till last Saturday, while engaged in house cleaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, fast cold, hot had so dedded chill. Two days later her ankies began so swell, which was followed by swelling of the lance joints and of the bands. She has now dull pain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumatism, or, as it is new fashionably called, rheumatic fever. It is a well remarked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time call your attention to the various symptoms which prosent themselves. My chief object in bringing lier before you now, is to call attention to a remedy which has recently been recommended in the treatment of rheumatism. I mean propylamsime. Dr. Awenarius, of St. Petersburg, recommends it in the highest terms, having derived great eeneft from its use in 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I propose therefore to give it another trial. I must confess I am always incredulous as to the worth of new remedies, which are vaunted as specifies; but this comes to us recommended so highly, that we are bound to give it a trial.

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER I

MAY 23, 1860.—I will now exhibit to you the patient fer whem I presorthed Propylamine, and was at then laboring under an attack of soute rheumatism. She has steadily taken it in doese of three grains every two hours (intermitting it at night.) The day after you saw her, I found her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or more, judging from her other attact. (The patient now walked into the room.) The improvement has steadily progressed, and you cannot ill to notice a marked obange in the appearance of her ints, which are new nearly all of their natural size.—not far our experiment would have seemed very, successful; but, gentlemen, we must wait a little while better can give a decided opinion as to what is to be the result.

the result.

Here is another patient who was placed on the use of the same medicine on Sunday last; she has long been suffering from a pronie rheumatism, and I found her at that time with an acute attack supervening upon her chronic affection. The wrists and knuckles were much swollen and tones. She took the chloride of Propyla-mine in three grain doses every two hours, and you will perceive that the swelling of the joints has much dimin-thed.

THREE DAYS LATER!!

THREE DAYS LATER!!

May 26, 1860.—This is the case of acute rheumatism ested with propylamine, the first of those to which I alled your attentions to ure last clinic. The is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice daily. In this case it has seemed to be followed by very satisfactory resaits. The second case to which your attention was called at our last locure, has also continued to do welr! I will now bring nefore you a very characteristic case of acute rheumatism, and if the result be satfactory, I think, as good jurymen, we shall justly render our verdict in (avor of propylamin.

He is a seaman, sat. 26, who was admitted a few days ago. Has had occasional rheumatio pains, but not so as set of keep his bed, until sight days ago. The pains began is his right kines, subsequently affected the left knee, and later, the joints of the upper extremities. These joints are all awollen, teuse and tender. His tongue is furred; his skin, at present dry, though there has been much sweating. His paties is full and strong, and about 90.—He has now used propylamine for twenty-four hours. This gentleman is what may be called a strictly typical tase of scute rheumatism. There was exposure to cold and wet, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of coldness, severe articular pain, beginning, as it usually does, in the lower joints. There is tever and the profuse sweeting, so generally attendant on acute rheumatism. I did not bring this patient ordere you with the intention of giving you a lecture on all the points connected with rheumatism, but to exam give a trial to take new remedy we are testing, and to exhibit to you this typical case, as I have called it, than whou there co did not be a tairer opportunity for testing the medicine in question. We are, therefore, avoiding the use of all other medicines, even anodynes, that there may be no misgiving as to which was the efficient remedy. You shall see the case of a future clinic.

THE RESULT

A FAVORABLE VERDICT.

June 9, 1800.—The next of our convalence is the case of acute rheumatism before you at our clinic of May 30th, 11 then called a typical case, and which it was a fair opportunity for testing the work of the convergence of t
