HARRISBURG, PA. Wednesday Afternoon, September 17, 1862.

GEN. ROBERT A. PATTERSON.

To the Editor of the Telegraph: Will you enlighten a soldier as to whether it is true or not, that Gov. Curtin is about to place Gen. Robt. A. Patterson at the head of the troops now being organized for the defence of the State?

REPLY: We have no knowledge that Gen. Robert A. Patterson is in quest of such a position, or that he is urged for such a command on the Governor. But we will answer that we have more faith in Gov. Curtin than to suppose that he would do so unless an act, which would be alike unjust to himself and the brave men who have rushed to arms in response to his summons.

THE CHAIRMAN OF THE BRECKINRIDGE STATE COMMITTEE AT WORK.

We alluded to the fact, yesterday, that Frank Hughes had suborned certain journals in this State, and published a card to the effect that in lieu of services which were to be rendered to the clique that Hughes now controls, the editors of such journals were to receive certain sums of money—said money to be collected from the deluded adherents of the clique aforesaid.

The testimony which we printed yesterday, was ample and sufficient to show that the loco-foco press of this State was entirely within the control of Hughes, and that he had bribed it with money.

ATTENT TO BURN THE HARTFORD ARSENAL.—An attempt was made on Sunday night to set the state arsenal at Hartford, Connecticut, on fire, but the incendiary was detected before he could consummate his undertaking.

IN THE BATTLE OF SOUTH MOUNTAIN, which was fought on Sunday, on the turnpike road between Middleton and Boonesboro, Md., we took between 1200 and 1500 prisoners. Our loss was about 8000 killed and wounded. The rebels lost 15,000 killed, wounded and missing.

The steamer Champton, from Aspinwall on the 5th inst., arrived at New York yesterday, with $984,416 in gold, and a large number of passengers. The Panama papers give a report of the death of Governor Garcia in a skirmish with the revolutionary forces.

THE USE OF THE CONFISCATION ACT. Andrew Johnson, of Tennessee, declared last year, in Cincinnati, that "a rebel against this government has no right to own anything."

The recent rebel raids into these States have been and continue to be eminently unsuccessful, so far as to regrade the political odium Davis and his Confederates hoped to achieve thereby.

What is the result? Neither in Kentucky nor in Maryland has there even an attempt at a rising, such as the rebel leaders evidently expected and to the last moment looked for. It is not pretended that the people of these States are all or nearly all loyal.

The answer is plain. The secessionists in Maryland and Kentucky are notoriously the men of property, the slaves and land owners, the wealthy men of these communities.

No risk their friends had run for their sakes would induce these secessionists to come to their help; and thus the first result of the confiscation act is the teaching of this bitter lesson to the Confederate leaders, that those who have not yet their necks in the halter, will not now be induced to run the risk; and that they who have foolishly and wickedly begun the war are now calmly left in the lurch by their friends in the border States.

LET IT NOT BE FORGOTTEN that this wholesome effect is produced by the mere passage of the confiscation act, and that the loyalists of the border slave States owe their security to-day, their safety from the horrors of an insurrection which was opposed by some of their leaders as unwise. Impolitic as they thought it, it has proved their salvation.

IT IS STATED by persons recently from Minnesota, that from 6000 to 8000 men, women and children have been massacred by the Sioux in Minnesota, and that at least one-third the area of the State has been deserted by its terrified population.

THE OPERATIONS OF MONDAY. FLIGHT OF THE REBELS.

Additional Particulars of the First Splendid Victory of McClellan. The Divisions of Longstreet and Hill Defeated with Great Slaughter.

Gen. Hatch and Col. Miles Wounded. Howell Cobb Wounded and a Prisoner

8000 Prisoners and two Batteries Captured. After the battles of South Mountain Gap and Burkillville Gap, fought respectively by the forces of Burnside and Franklin on Sunday, the enemy having been driven from their position, fell back rapidly to Boonesboro, and thence southward to Sharpsburg, and began crossing the Potomac above and below Sharpsburg.

Franklin's corps, supported by Couch's division, passed through Burkillville Gap, which he captured so handsomely, striking the road leading direct from Boonesboro to Harper's ferry, and thence moving in the direction of the latter place, gaining Elk Ridge mountain, which flank the enemy's position and brought them within good range of our artillery.

Yesterday evening, previous to this news, McClellan and Burnside were rapidly making such dispositions as would have resulted in the complete defeat and capture of nearly the entire rebel host.

THE UNION army is in splendid condition. The men are all in light marching order, with buoyant spirits over their success. Several regiments of new troops were in the fight of Sunday, and behaved with great bravery.

PANIC OF THE REBELS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16, 1862. Great anxiety has been manifested here all day to learn the fate of Harper's Ferry and its gallant defenders. It was known that they were completely surrounded by the rebel forces, and had been sustaining a fierce and unequal conflict for two whole days, and that no reinforcements, except those from Martinsburg had arrived.

It will be seen that Colonel Miles, as he had pledged himself to do, refused to surrender, and that General White, who assumed the command and after Colonel Miles was wounded, capitulated only at the last moment of possible resistance against an overpowering force, by which the position was surrounded on all sides.

During Saturday they were planting batteries there, which would com and both Bolivar Heights and Harper's Ferry. During Saturday afternoon the rebels also made their appearance in force on the Charleston turnpike.

ABOUT eight o'clock A. M. Col. Miles was severely wounded in the left leg by a piece of shell. After this the command was assumed by Gen. White. Reinforcements not coming up as had been anticipated, it was thought useless to further continue the fight, and the works, with all the stores, &c., were surrendered at ten A. M. by Gen. White to Gen. Hill.

L A T E R.

THE PANIC OF THE REBELS, Sudden Evacuation of Harper's Ferry After Its Capture. WASHINGTON, Sept. 16. The following important intelligence has just been received. It puts a new phase upon the condition of affairs at Harper's Ferry and shows that, although there has been no direct intelligence from General McClellan during today, the enemy are evidently panic-stricken, and unwilling to await the approach of his victorious army, even in the strong position where, by dint of overwhelming numbers, the small garrison under Col. Miles and General White were compelled to surrender, after nearly three days hard fighting.

AN officer who has just arrived from Harper's Ferry reports, that the rebels had evacuated the place in a great hurry. They are sending everything across the river as fast as possible. They left Harper's Ferry in such haste that they had not time to complete paroling the prisoners, and a number were unconditionally released in consequence.
