[FROM OFFIGIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS.]

MAY 19, 1860,—Biles S., sel. 29, single, aerer was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rhouns tism, from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks and subsequently from a relapse for four more. She has been well aims them till last Satur day, while engaged in house cleaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, selt cold, hot had so deedded chill. Two days laster her ankles began so swell, which was followed by swelling of the knee joints and of the hands. She has now dult pain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very lender red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumatism, or as it is now fashlomably called, rheumatic fever. It is a well remarked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time call your attention to the various symptoms which present themselves. My ohlef object to bringing her before you now, is to call attention to a remedy which has recently been recommended in the treatment of rheumatism. I mean propylamine. Dr Awenarius, of St. Petersburg, recommends it in the highest terms, having derived great benefit from its use in 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and 1 propose therefore to give it another trial. I must confess I am always incredulous as to the worth of new remedies, which are vanued as specifica; but this comes to us recommended so highly, that we are hound for sive it a trial. FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS. but this comes to us recommended so highly, that we are bound to give it a trial.

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER !

MAY 23, 1860.—I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I prescribed Propytamine, and was then laboring under an attack of acute rhoumatism. She has tesadily taken it in doese of three grains every two hourse (intermitting it at night.) The day after you saw her, I found her much more confortable, better than she expected to be for a week or more, judging from her other attack. (The patient now walked into the room.) The mprovement has steadily progressed, and you cannot sell to notice a marked change in the appearance of her innis, which are new nearly all of their natural size.—nur far our experiment would have seemed very successful; but, gentlemen, we must wait a little while before we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be the result.

Here is another patient who was placed on the use of the medicine on Sonday last; she has long book authoring from chronic attack supervening upon her at that time with an acute attack supervening upon her obvious affection. The wrists and knuckles were much swellen and tense. She took the chloride of Propylamine in three grain doses every two hours, and you will perceive that the swelling of the joints has much diminished.

THREE DAYS LATER !!

MAY 26, 1880.—This is the case of acute rhoumatiam cated with propylamine, the first of those to which ! alled your attention at our last clinic. She is still very considerable, and is now taking three grains thrice daily. In this case it, has seemed to be followed by very satisfactory results. The second case to which your attention case of soute rhaumatism, and if the result be satisfactory, ! think, as good juryinen, we small justly render our verded: in layor of propylamin

Jumps, 1866.—The naxt of our-convalescents is the case of acute rheumatism before you at our clinic of May 38th, which i then called a typical case, and which it was remarked was a fair opportunity for testing the worth of our new remedy. It was therefore spealily given in three grain doese every two hours for four days. The patient has got along very nicely, and is now able to walk about, as you see. I do not hesitate to a ty that i have neven seen as severe a case of acute rheumatism in soon restored to health as this man has been, and without being prepared to decide positive by as to the value of the remedy we have used, I feel bound to state that in the cases in which we have tried the Chioride or Propylamine, the patients have regained their health much earlier than under the treatment ordinarily pursued to condition.
