FRIENDS OF THE SOLDIER, READ!

FATHERS, YOU THAT HAVE SONS IN THE ARMY, READ! READ!

BROTHERS, YOU THAT HAVE BROTHERS FIGHTING FOR YOUR COUNTRY, READ! READ! READ!

At a period when the hot shot and bombs were falling thick and the rabble of militia that might be brought to fast around the gallant band who were defending their country's to abound in fat cattle, cereals, horses, and honor in Fort Sumter, Gov. Curtin had sent into the Legislature of the State, then in session, a message suggesting the better organization of the militia, and asking for an appropriation of five take his own physic, which is a great deal more hundred thousand dollars to place the state on a war footing. When aloud for peace in a very short time. For our own part, we trust the proclamation of Pope, and the manner in which his army carried Leave New York at 73 P. M., by the Fast
Through Express Train, arriving in Harrisburg clared his disregard of all that aimed at the defence of our homes and of Virginia. Let not a blade of grass, or a stalk at 8 A. M. the preservation of our liberties.

Freemen of Dauphin county! Soldiers! who marched at the first call of danger to the defence of the capital of your country, and who still rest upon your arms night and day around the limits of the strong language of the capital are you ready to yote for a man who so lightly esof that capital, are you ready to vote for a man who so lightly estimated the honor of your country and the lives of its defenders? Dr. Heck is one of the old Breckenridge Democrats who sympathized these cometh of evil." A man's strength of character may be correctly measured by the manner in which he answers an opponent. "I Breckenridge, and showed his attachment for those who are at the set to Sir Joseph Williamson, who had nominated to her a candidate for the borough of head of this rebellion by refnsing to make an appropriation to arm Appleby, "by a usurper. I have been neglected by a court, but I will not be dioasted by a subject—your man sha'nt stand!" We need the great state of Pennsylvania to aid their overthrow and its suppression. This man is again before you, and again solicits a strong woman. When President Lincoln, while on his way to the capital, asked the Demyour vote that he may again disgrace the halls of legislation with oratic Legislature of New Jersey it they would his presence and his conduct. He desires to be returned that he may aid in embarrassing the future efforts of our noble old commonwealth in assisting to redeem the land from rebellion by enforcmonwealth in assisting to redeem the land from rebellion by entorcation in a should it be necessary "to put down the foot firmly." These few meaning words showed that he had moral staming. The plain Saxon brave, loyal lover of his country can vote for Dr. Heck.

Freemen, nemember that this is the record of Dr. Heck whilst he was in the Legislature. Let us now examine his action at a later period.

On the 7th day of August, 1862, the Democratic County Convention met at the Court House, in this city, for the purpose of nominating a ticket. Dr. LEWIS HECK was a delegate to that Convention, and assisted in nominating himself as a candidate for the Legislature. We copy the following from the Patriot and Union of August '3, 1862, viz:

"Dr. FIECK moved that the resolutions passed by the Democratic State Convention on the 4th of July be adopted by this Convention.

"The reading of the resolutions was called for, and after reading of which they epithets are often but other words for saying ere adopted amid applause." E are offering for sale a splendid quality of Vanilla Bean at low prices; by the pound, ounce or singly.

The resolutions and nominations of that Convention have thus been latrly and dence; and they alone. When the calculating openly approved by Dr. HECK, and we give him all due credit for his action in politician wishes to know which a do of a politician which side the stands therefore squarely up to the platform which the ly asks himself which side has the claim of friends of the traitor John C. Breckenridge advocated in this State.

The candidates nominated by that convention are also the avowed enemies of the country. Isaac Slenker and James P. Barr, for Auditor and Surveyor General, are both on the record as the abettors of rebellion. Slenker seconded the efforts of Take the oath of allegiance to the Confederate Government, which will not only entitle you to tablish, if he had the power, the slave trade in every port of the Union. Barr is known to have so far defended treason as to have incurred the wrath and run the danger of a halter at Pittsburg.

Such is the record and such the company in which we find Dr. Heck.

First, We find him voting against arming the State.

Second, We discover him in a Convention called to endorse the proceedings of hose who openly oppose the National Government.

If we fail to defend them, we are conquered, ruined. To defend our principles requires plain, truthful speech. "Let your yea be yea, and your nay, nay," says the sacred writer, "let ye fall into condemnation." It requires moral courage to obey the injunction. We are prone to dissemble; considerations of kindness often bonor and glory of the Commonwealth.

Is such a man fit to occupy a seat in the Legislature?

of men who now appear to be over wise and claim to be very sagacious when they declare that Gov. Curtin's call for the Militia was "a big scare." Let such as them read the following Richmond Dispatch, and they will discover what the rebels actually designed when they attempted the invasion of Maryland. The Dispatch thus declared :

The road to Pennsylvania lies invitingly open. There are no regular soldiers on the routs, and it would be a task of little difficulty to disperse it out, will not be forgotten. We hope the or a sack of salt, or a horse or a cow, or a hog or a sheep, be left wherever they move along Let vengeance be taken for all that has bee This is the country of the smooth spoken would-be-gentleman, McClellan. He has caused fall upon something else, and let it fall upon everything that constitutes property. A Dutch farmer has no negroes, but he has horses that can be seized, grain that can be confiscated, cattle that can be killed, and houses that can be burnt. He can be taken prisoner and sent to Libby's warehouse, as our friends in Fau-quier and Loudon, Culpepper and the Peninsu-la, have been sent to Lincoln's dungeons in the North. Let retaliation be complete, that the Yankees may learn that two can play at the game they have themselves commenced.

MORAL COURAGE. That was a noble reply when the Sultan of Turkey offered Kossuth wealth and power if he would embrace the Moslem faith: "Welcome, if need be, the ax or the gibbet; but curses or the tongue that dares to make to me so infamous a proposal!" He was a refugee in the domains of the Sultan, and to refuse compliance his conscience should be free. The words of Zwingle, when emolument was offered him if he would adhere to the Romish tenets, were as age never uses weak words. The Saviour enun-ciated the principle of true moral courage when he said, "Let your communication be yea, yea; out a legislature of new occessor is they would sustain him should it be necessary "to put the foot down firmly," it understood him, and applauded. He did not say that "if he should be reduced to the dire necessity of resorting to coercion to uphold the principles of constitu-tional liberty for which the fathers," etc., but of his Inaugural sent to the winds the scheme of compromises. In blunt, bold words, he thrusts the principles of equity and of the Constitution into the face of the nation, and declared that he would stand by those principles. The people took heart—their sense of justice woke-they knew their man, and reechoed his voice. There are comparatively few who, under all circumstances, dare speak their real sentiments. Let one glance over The Congressional Globe for the last decade, and he will see how lamentably the truism is verified. Our Charles Sumners and Andrew Johnson can hardly be called representative men. They are "Like Druid rocks, Or spires of land that stand apart, Cleft from the main."

Men like Sumner are known as "radicals," and The resolutions and nominations of that Convention have thus been fairly and such men are regarded with universal confihumanity—he is confident that Sumner will not swerve from that. The reply of Parson Brownlow, the Tennessee patriot, is an example of true independence of spirit. He was in prison, and had suf-Gold Pen and Sliver Holder for $1 25. a speedy release, but will insure you protection." "Sir," said Brownlow, "before I would take the oath to support such a bell-forsaken institution, I would tuffer myself to rot or die with old age!" The answer, though characteristically Southern, reminds one of Luther's famous remark about entering Worms. The noble Tennesseean was ready to sacrifice ease, health, and life itself for a principle. He meant to be his own man, and dared assert his claim to his manhood in unmistakable words.

Principles are bulwarks intrusted us by God.

If we fail to defend them, we are conquered, lead us into deception; we must train ourselves lead us into deception; we must train ourselves to truth. A men trained to truth finds in truth his moral atmosphere, and his soul dilates and becomes godlike in the clear, pure pir. His uncompromising words come forth in the day of trial as spontaneously as that of Kossuth, Zwingle, or Brownlow. He lives for his spiritual nature. BALTIMORE, Uot. 4. The American contains the following des-

HARPER'S FERRY, Oct. 3.—The railroad bridge was completed yesterday, and trains of cars passed over it into Harper's Ferry to-day, with troops and munitions of war and army

The completion of this bridge is one of the main points of the campaign, and may be regarded as the forerunner of active operations. The Winchester road is being put in order, and trains will run at once to and beyond Bolivar Heights.
The President spent the day in reviewing the different divisions of the troops, after a long consultation in the morning with Gen. McClellan. He will start to-morrow (Sunday) morn ing down the National road towards Frederick viewing on his way the South Mountain battlefield and stopping at the hospitals at Middle-

It is expected that he will reach Frederick about noon, where extensive preparations are making for his reception by the people, and a scene of enthusiasm may be expected that will rival the welcome of General McClellan. The President will return to Washington with a better opinion of the loyalty of Maryland than has heretofore been entertained in official quar-

There is much uncertainty here as to the movement of the army. A strong advance will undoubtedly be made into Virginia, but whether it will be by the way of Hrrper's Ferry or over the Williamsport Ford, no one has the slightest idea. The precise position and force of the enemy is known at headquarters, and our troops are ready and anxious to move forward, and it is said that the delay is not owing to any lack of readiness on the part of General McClellan. So long as the enemy lies in his present position it is said no hurry will be evinced on our part to disturb him. A large body of the enemy are still at Falling

Waters, and at Bunker's Hill, in the rear of Martinsburg, whilst a few regiments are at Charlestown, their pickets meeting those of e answers an opponent.

FROM FORTRESS MONROB

FORTRESS MONROE, Oct. 8, 1862. The flag-of-truce boat Metamora left here again at noon to day for Aiken's Landing taking up about fifty Rebel prisoners released from Fort McHenry. She expects to bring down several hundred Union prisoners. The buildings in the rear of the hotel at Old Point are now being demolished. The main building has not yet been disturbed.

With the exception of occasional alarms there is nothing stirring at Suffolk. No attack is expected at present.
