To the People of Pennsylvania. [From the Miner's Journal, Sept. 27, 1862]
The Democratic State Central Committee having authorized their chairman, Francis W. Hughes, to place before the people of the State of Pennsylvania such matter as that committee think the people ought to reflect upon at this time, and Hughes having undertaken to do so, it is the duty of such persons as know Hughes well, to give the people such facts as will ena-ble them to determine for themselves, whether Rughes is laboring to serve the North or the South, whether he is trying to have the Union restored or to have the rebels succeed, the States

At a public political meeting, held in the court house in Pottsville, Schuylkill county, in February, 1861. John T. Werner, who was sheriff of Schuj ikill county from 1846 to 1849 was present, and he heard Francis W. Hughes say, when speaking about the amount of cotton that was exported from the United States, 'Cotton is king, and I toauk God for it."

Mr. Werner read the above this morning and says it is correct. C. LOESER. Poirsville, 17th Sept. 1862.

C. Tower, Esq., Pollsvills, Pa.:
DEAR SIR: In the winter of 1861 I was in any body sitting on the same seat of the car with him; I know there was not with me. He was locked the same with me. He was conversing with a grafteness of the car with a grafteness of the c conversing with a gentleman, who sat right opposite him, and the second seat shead of me, on the same side with me. I heard Francis W. Hughes, then and there, say to that gentleman, "I am a delegate to the Democratic State Contion at Harrisburg, and I am going over to the negro. Hugnes just attend the Convention, and when there, I regro in slavery.

Pointsville, Sept. 8, 1862. tion, that Pennsylvania secede from the Union and join herself with the South, and leave Rhode Island, and Connecticut, and Massachusetts, and them d-d little petty States, to subsist on their codfish and Plymouth rock.' You are at liberty to make any use of this statement you may think proper, and I shall

Very respectfully, DAVID LOMISON.

POTTSVILLE, Sept. 8, 1862.
C. Tower, Esq.—Dear Sir: I have duly considered the importance of your inquiry relative to my personal knowledge of the attempt made some eighteen months ago by F. W. Hugnes, Esq., to "switch" the Sta e of Pennsylvania out of the Union, in nearly the same manner, and by the same unnuly means that were employed to carry Tennessee, Missouri, Louisiana, and other States out; and in compliance with your request, will endeavor to give a plain, unvarnished statement of such facts as I may be possessed of, confining myself as strictly as possible to the precise language used at the time.

be ready to verify it by my oath, at any time, when required to do so.

A day or two prior to the assembling of the Democratic State Convention at Harrisburg, in February, 1861, I heard it bruited about that Mr. Hughes, (who was a deligate to that Convention,) designed to introduce into that body a resolution, the object of which was to carry Pennsylvania out of the Union, and to join the so-call d Southern Confederacy.

The report notwithstanding my knowledge of Mr. Hughes' sympathy for the South, (he having previously told me in conversation with him, that the only mietake in Mr. Erchanan's Administration was that "he did not receive Mesers. Rhett & Co., of South Carolina, as Commissions; 'nstead of 'distinguished citizens,' and exact with thom upon the subject or their mission;'') the report, I say, struck me as being so manifestly absurd as to be scarcely worthy of not ce.

On the evening of the day of the Convention, (I think the 22d of the month,) while on my way home, I fell in company with his nephew, John Hughes, E.q., (law partner of F. W. Hughes,) and as we walked a considerable distance in the same direction, I took occasion to mention to him the reports I had heard in relution? He answered, "Yes—he took such a resolution with him—I read it myself several times, and advised him not to offer it." I need scarcely say, that what I was disposed to regard before as an idle rumor had now become a stern reality. On my return from tea, I stopped to see the late Judge Hegins, and communicated what John Hughes told me. The Judge smiled and said: "Why, Frank showed me that resolution before he left, and asked my opinion of it I advised him for God's sake, not to offer it, as it would kill him politically, forever." I anxiously awaited the proceedings of the Convention, and was gratified to see that the resolution in question was not among them. Thus matters rested until some time, I think, in April or May following when, on the way to my place of business, I met Mr. James Gowan, of Harrisburg, an old friend and acquaintance. The war having been actually commenced, our conversation naturally turned upon that subject. Some pretty severe strictures were made by myself on what I considered the mistakes of Mr. Buchanan's administration, and as being in my opinion the direct cause of all our troubles. My triend, on the other hand, defended Mr. Buchanan's policy. While thus engaged, we were joined by Gen. J. Y. James, of Warres, a mutual friend and acquaintance of both of us. Mr. James sustained my views on the question, and the "talk" became somewhat animated, in the course of which I mentioned the effort attempted to be made by Mr. Hughes in the late Democratic State Convention to "switch" Pennsylvania out of the Union, when I was interrupted by Mr. James, who said: "Why, wasn't I in that Convention, and on the committee to draft resolutions? And didn't Mr. Hughes come to me in the committee room and ask me to sup-nort his d-d treasonable resolution?" He port his d-d treasonable resolution?"
continued: "After I had read it I got so dmed that I shook my fist and swore that if he attempted to offer that resolution, either in committee or Convention, that I would pitch him and his resolution headloremost out of the window." "I don't know," continued the General, "whether it was my threat or what, but I neither heard nor saw anything more of that resolution." The material points of Mr. James' statement were subsequently admitted by him to Mr. L. F. Whitney, of this borough, in my presence.
This is substantially all I have to say in relation to your queries, and is given in nearly, if not precisely, the same language used at the time. It has been hastily drawn up, but you are at liberty to make whatever use, of it you may think proper. Very respectfully, &c., JEROME K. BOYEB.

If necessary, I will verify the above on oath J. K. B.

At the time of the Democratic Convention at Harrisburg, in February, 1861, Francis W. Bugh s was a delegate from Schuylkili county to that Convention. In a conversation betwee the H n. Charles W. Hegins and Benjamin Pott, Hegins said "Hughes is making a fool of himself," that he had shown him, (Hegine,) resolutions he (Hughes) had drawn up to offer at that Convention in favor of Pennsylvania joining the Southern Confederacy, Hegins said he gave him a hell of a sociding.

Mr. Pott read the above this morning, and says it is correct.

C. LOESER.

Pottsville, 9th September, 1862. In the latter part of summer or fall of 1861, Francis W. Hughes, of Potteville, came into the office of William B. Wells, an attorney-at-law of the same place, and who had been, from the year 1850 to the year 1854, the law partner of Hughes.

Lloyd's Railroad map, showing the State, was hanging against the wall, in the office, open. Hughes pointed to the map with his cane, and explained to Wells what he (Hughes) thought would be the result of this rebellion; selves and act as they think right, I give the evidence following.

C. LOESER.

Pottsville, 24th Sentember 1960 that the Western States would eventually join New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and he may have included Ohio. Ohio would be all that would remain of these United States, and that they would have to bear all the expenses or burden of this war; and that would be, as he thought, the result of this rebellion, and live in such a country. He said if he could fix his matters to suit him—or language to that effect—he would go to some other country. effect—he would go to some other country or place; Wells does not remember which. Wells then asked Hughes where he would go. He replied, "to Sandy Bottom, as Natty Mills used to say." Wells said, "Hughes, you come to these conclusions upon the basis that this rebellion cannot be put down." Hughes replied, "yes." Wells then asked him what conclusion the supplied that C. Tower, Esq., Pottsvills, Pa.:

DEAR SIR: In the winter of 1861 I was in the cars, going to Philadelphia, and while between Pottsville and Reading, I was sitting on the left-hand side of the car, and Francis W. Hughes, of Pottsville, was in the same car, sitting on the right hand side of the car, and the same car, and the same car, and the same car, sitting on the right hand side of the car, and the same time, that he believed it could not be put down. Wells reiterated that he firmly believed that the same time, the put down. Hughes

> The foregoing was read by Wells, and he says it is correct. He says Hughes gave reasons for his belief, the chief of which was the bad feeling between the North and South, relating to the negro. Hughes justifies holding the C. LOESER.

> In July last, about two weeks after the fune-ral of the Hon. Charles W. H. gins, which was on the 4th of July, John P. Hobart, late Sheriff of Schuylkill county, and his wife, were at Sun-bury, and while there called upon Mrs Donnell the widow of the late Judge Donnell, of Sun-bury, and the sister of Judge Hegius, on a visit of frieudship. In the course or conversation Mrs. Donnell said, "Mr. Hobart, you know my brother was a patriot in every sense of the word, and for some time before his death the state o his country troubled him very much. A short time before his death he called me to his bed, and said overtures had been made to him by a prominent politician of your place, of Schuylkill county (I mention no names,) to join with them, which he declined doing. And he then said, the course the Democratic party were now pursuing was the greatest fraud ever practised upon the country." Mrs Donnell then said, "I authorise you to tell this in Polisville."
> By Mrs Donnell's statement, Mr. Hobart and his wife were both satisfied that Judge Hegins had named to his sister the prominent politician of rottsville, Schuylkill county.

Mr. and Mrs. Hobart read the above this morning, and say it is correct.

C. LOESER. Pettsville, Sept. 9, 1862.

This morning, while the above was in course of printing, after much reasoning, I prevailed on William Till to give me these facts:

"In the spring of 1861, shortly before For Sumter was surrendered to the rebels, F. W. Hughes applied to Till to go to the state of Georgia, and take the management of ninety thousand acres of timber land that he (Hughes) owned in Georgia. Hughes said he had, be-sides the land, a steam saw mill and railroad tuere; that he had a contract with the English and one with the French, to supply them with ship timber; that he had his brother Dory down there, but Dory could not manage the bus and therefore, he wanted lill to go down there and take the management. Till objected to going, because of the unsettled state of the country. To this Hughes replied that this would all be settled within three or four weeks; that within that time, there would be a separation of the states; both England and France gard to Frank's secession resolution. He re- would acknowledge the independence of the plied, "Yes I think that Frank is doing wrong Southern Confederacy, and there would be no in that matter." I asked him if it were really further trouble. Till then said to Hughes, if true then, that he designed to offer such a reso- that was to be the case, then he would not go down there for any consideration, to which Hughes answered that he would see Till about it at another time, in three or four weeks. Till is a sober, industrious mechanic, 52 years old, a native of Reading, Berks county, and close Connection made at Harrisburg has all his life been, and now is, one of the most thorough Berks County Democrats, which Hughes well knew.

Till objects to having this made public, because he says he is afraid if he offends Hughes, it will injure him, (Till,) in his personal affairs. I tell Till that he is bound to make known any fact that may benefit his country in its present distress. That his first duty is to his Maker, second to his country, third to his family, and only the fourth to himself. That I will take all responsibility, and make what he says as public as I can, and if, thereby, he loses all he has and is entitled to get, and his head with it. I have told him further that if he has said one word that is untrue, it may cost him his head he says he will stake his head upon the truth of the above.

The above was read by Till, in the presence of Thomas Wren, for whom Till is now working as a Pattern Maker, and Wren's foreman James Aikman, and Till says it is true.

[FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REFORM.]

MAY 19, 1860,—Elios S., sel. 28, single, never was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rheumatism, from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks and subsequenty from a relapse for four more. She has been well since then till last Satur day, while engaged in house cleaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, felt culd hot had so decided chill. Two days later her ankies began so swell, which was followed by swelling of the knee joints and of the hands. She has now dult pain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumatism, or, as it is new fashionably called, rheumatic fever. It is swell remarked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time call your steention to the various symptoms which present themselves. My chief object in bringing her before you now, is to call attention to a remedy which has recently been recommended in the treatment of rheumatism. I mean propylausine. Dr Awenarius, of St. Petersburg, recommends it in the highest terms, having derived great benefit from its use in 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journaks, and I propose therefore to give it another rial. I must confess I am always incredulous as to the worth of new remedies, which are vaunted as specifics but this comes to us recommended so highly, that we are bound to give it a trial. FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS.] are bound to give it a trial,

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER |

MAY 28, 1860.—I will now exhibit to you the patient lot whom I prescribed Propylamine, and wa steen laboring under an attack of soute rhoumatism. She has steedly taken it in doses of three grains every two hours (intermitting it at night.) The day after you saw her, i found her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or more, judging from her other attack. (The patient now walked into the room.) The inprovement has steadily pregressed, and you came of it is notice a marked change in the appearance of her hints, which are new nearly all of their natural size.—nue far our experiment would have seemed very successful; but, gentlemen, we must wait a little while before we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be the result.

Fro we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be the result.

Here is another patient who was placed on the use on the same medicine on Sunday last; she has long been suffering from a bronic rhemmatism, and I found her at that time with an acute attack supervening upon her chronic affection. The wrists and knuckles were much swollen and tense. She took the chioride of Propylamine in three grain doses overy two hours, and you will perceive that the swelling of the joints has much diminished.

THREE DAYS LATER!!

THREE DAYS LATER!!

MAY 26, 1860.—This is the case of acute rheumatism eated with propylamine, the first of those to which I alled your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice daily. In this case it has seemed to be followed by very satisfactory resails. The second case to which your attention was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do well! I will now bring before you a very characteristic case of acute rheumatism, and if the result be satisactory, I think, as good jurymen, we snall justly render our verdict in favor of propylamin.

He is a seaman, set. 26, who was admitted a few days use. Has hag occasional rheumatic pains, but not so as to keep his bed, until eight days use. The pains began in his right isnee, subsequently affected the left knee, and later, the joints of the upper extremities. These joints are all swellen, tense and tender. His tongue is furred, his skin, at present dry, though there has been much aweating. His pulse is full and strong, and about 90.—He has now used propylamine for twenty-four hours. This gentleman is what may be called a strictly typical case of scote rheumatism. There was exposure to coid and wet, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of coldness, severe articular pain, beginning, as it mainly does, is the lower joints. There we forwar and the profuse and wet, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of coldness, severe articular pain, beginning, as it countries does, it is lower joints. There is fever and the profuse sweeting, so generally atthendant on acute rhemantism. I did not bring this patient before you with the intention of giving you a lecture on all the points connected with rhemantism, but to again give a trial to the new remedy we are testing, and to exhibit to you this typical case, as I have called it, than which there could not be a fairer opportunity for testing the medicine in question. We are, therefore, avoiding the use of all gher medicines, even anodynes, that there may be no misgivings as to which was the efficient remedy. You shall see the case of a future chinic
