As we have often written and printed with reference to this subject, the citizen when he enters the army or navy, does not give up voluntarily, nor should he be deprived by law, of a single political right or franchise. the legislation which attempt this is monstrous, and the judiciary which sustains such legislative action, tyrannical. In regard to this law of disfranchising the soldier relates to Pennsylvania, we believe that it will be repealed at the coming session of the legislature, unless the Democracy succeed in fighting off such a repeal.

A VERY LARGE BAG WANTED.

With a very large bag, we also want a Gene ral who can bag the rebels. We have a number of strapped gentlemen in the field, who are adepts at planing captures, but unfortunately that this should embrace the entire rebel populishment! lation, or even an army division. Let it be demonstrated that a brigade can be bagged, and to its ultimate consequence. It leaves the reatablishment of the bagging policy.

HOW THE REBELLION COULD HAVE BEEN AVOIDED.

Since Gen. Scott has so overwhelmingly fixed the cause and the responsibility of the slave holders' rebellion on the influences which were and still are engendered by modern Democracy. some of the newspaper organs of that party are attempting to show how that rebellion could have been avoided. While such organs are laboring for this purpose, it is generally conceded by men who have been close observers of the politics of and politicians of the south that such an insurrection of the slave states was inevitable. The Albany Evening Journal says that it was a plot of long hatching This is as true as is the fact that the system of American slavery would antagonise a free Government such as is represented by the American Union, whether that government existed in the old or the new world. Thus, then, the efforts to overthrow this government were not only long in hatching, but the conspirators have long been at work in secret, and the election of a Republican President was merely the OCCASION and not the CAUSE of the outbreak.

You are told by one of the leading organs of a faction that seeks to gain control, that if you had consented to surrender your liberties—consented to forego your right of expressing your honest conviction at the ballot-box - consented to become the mere vassals of an Oligarchy, and deliver yourselves, body and soul, into the custody of three hundred and fifty thousand slaveholders -consented to allow the agents of such slaveholders to put the manacles on you, and rob you of manhood and self-respect-you might, to-day, be "enjoying peace and prosperity!" fail in the execution of their strategy. WASHINGTON, Oct. 25. The following was received at the Headquar ers of the army to-day :

St. Louis, Oct. 24.-To Major General HALLECK, General-in Chief: Our arms are entirely successful again in north-western Arkansas' Gen. Schofield, finding that the enemy had amped at Pea Ridge, sent Gen. Blunt with the Post Division westward, and moved towards Huntsville with the rest of his forces. Gen. Blunt, by making a hard night's march reached and attacked the rebel force at Maysville, near the north-west corner of Arkansas, at 7 o'clock A. M., on the 22d inst. The enemy was under cover, and estimated at some 5,000 to 7,000 strong.

The engagement lasted about an hour, and resulted in the total rout of the enemy with the loss of all his artillery, a battery of six pounders, a large number of horses and a porion of their transportation and camp and gar rison equipage.

Our cavalry and light howitzers were still in oursuit of the scattered forces. When the messenger left our loss was small, General Schofield pursued the rebels through Huntsville and beyond Huntsville, coming clos upon them. The enemy fled precipitately be yond the Boston mountains. All the organized rebel forces of the west have thus been driven back to the valley of the Arkansas river, and the army of the frontier has gallantly and suc cessfully accomplished its mission.

C., and expects to have them at Aiken's Landing the latter pare of this week. The John A. Warner, in charge of Major Shenk, will probably be at Aiken's Landing to morrow to receive them. THE WAR NEWS.

[From the Richmond Inquirer, Oct. 20.] Despatches transpiring with the War Department state nothing more than that Bragg had fallen back from his former position a distance of forty miles, for the purpose of securing subsistence. The combination of the Unionists having been strongly reinforced, rendered the move absolutely necessary.

It is surmised that Rosecrans had commenced a strategic movement to form a junction with Buell, and cut of our army entirely.

We have nothing new from the Army of the Potomac. The enemy's cavalry have renewed their raids in Fauquier, and on Saturday visited Bristow Station, on the Orange and Alexandria Railroad. They also visited Warranten again in considerable force. A train laden with rail oad stuff narrowly escaped being captured on Saturday at Bristow. Five hundred paroled Union prisoners were sent down to Verina yes terday for exchange.
