THE NEW EDITION

PURDON'S DIGEST HAS JUST BEEN PUBLISHED. PRICE $5 00.

A N ENTIBE new edition of this well known Law Book has just been issued. It is now distinguished by the following superadded features: The laws contained in the various annual Digests published since the date of the eighth edition (1853) have been incorporated in the nody of the work. Many thousand new authorities have been cited; the report of the revisors of the Penal Code has been embodied in the notes to the various sections of it, and the appendix contains for the first time, the Acts of Congress for the Authentication of Records, and the Statute of Fraudulent Conveyances, with full and elaborate notes of the decisions explanatory of them. The work has been prepared by the learned editor, Mr. BRIGHTLY, and its freshness and permanent value will be preserved by the continuation of the annual Digests, which have given so much satisfaction. PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL.

[FROM OFFIGIAL HOSTITAL REFORMS.]

MAY 19, 1860,—Elles S., est. 28, single, never was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rheumatism, from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks and subsequently from a relapse fer four more. She has been well since then till last Batur day, while engaged in house cleaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, felt cold, but had so decided chill. Two days later her ankles gas so, swell, which was followed by swelling of knee joints and of the hands. She has cow difficient in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumatism, or, as it is now fashionably called, rheumatic fewer. It is a well remarked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time call your attention to the various symptoms which present themselves. My chief object in bringing her before you now, is to call attention to a remedy which has recently been recommended in the treatment of rheomatism. Im can propylamine. Dr. Awenarius, of St. Petersburg, recommends it in the highest terms, having derived great benefit from its use in 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I propose therefore to give it another trial. I must confess I am always moredulous as to the worth of ew remedies, which are vaunted as specifies; but this comes to us recommended so highly, that we are bound to give it a trial. SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER I

May 23, 1860.—I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I prescribed Propylamine, and was then laboring under an attack of acute rheumatism. She has steadily taken it in doses of three grains every two hours (intermitting it at night.) The day after you saw her, I (ound her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or more, judging from her other strack. (The patient now walked into the room.) The mprovement has steadily pregressed, and you cannot if to notice a marked change in the appearance of her ints, which are new nearly all of their natural size—nur far our experiment would have seemed very sucsensul; but, gentlemen, we must wait a little while bepre we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be her result.

Here is another patient who was placed on the use of re we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be he result.

Here is another patient who was placed on the use of .1s same medicins on Sunday last; she has long been suffering from a bronic rheumatism, and I found her at that time with an acute attack supervening upon her chronic affection. The wrists and knuckles were much swollen and tense. She took the officine of Propylamine in three grain doses every two hours, and you will perceive that the swelling of the joints has much diminstrated.

THREE DAYS LATER!!

MAY 26, 1860.—This is the case of acute rheumatism cated with propylamine, the first of those to which I alled your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice daily. In this case it has seemed to be followed by very earliefactory results. The second case to which your attention was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do well? I will now bring before you a very characteristic case of acute rheumatism, and if the result be satfactory. I think, as good jurymen, we shall justly render our verdict in favor of propylamin

He is a seaman, at 26, who was admitted a few days ago. Has had ocasional rheumatic pams, but not so as to keep his bed, until eight days ago. The pains began in his right knee, subsequently affected the left knee, and later, the joints of the upper extremities. These joints are all avoilen, tense and tender. His tongue is furred; this akin, at present dry, though there has been much sweating. His pulse is full and strong, and about 90.—He'has now used propylamine for twenty-four hours.

This gentleman is what may be called a strictly typical case of soute rheumatism. There was exposure to cold and wet, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of coldness, severe articular pain, beginning, as it usually does, in the lower joints. There is fever and the profuse weeting, so generally attiendant on acute rheumatism. I did not bring this pation before you with the inten-THREE DAYS LATER !!

does, in the lower joints. There is fever and the profuse sweating, so generally attendant on acute rheumatism. I did not bring this patient before you with the intention of giving you a lecture on all the points connected with rheumatism, but to again give a trial to the new remedy we are testing, and to exhibit to you this typical case, as I have called it, than which there could not be a fairer opportunity for testing the medicine is question. We are, therefore, avoiding the use of all other medicines, even anodynes, that there may be no misgiving as to which was the emicient remedy. You chall see the case of a future clinic.

THE RESULT

A FAVORABLE VERDICT

June 1, 1860.—The next of our convaisacents is the case of acute rheumatism before you at our clinic of May 18th, which I then called a typical case, and which it was remarked was a fair opportunity for testing the worth of our new remedy. It was therefore steadily given in three grain doese every two hours for four days. The patient has get along very nicely, and is now able to walk about, as you see. I do not hesitate to say that I have neves seen as severe a case of acute rheumatism so soon restored to health as this man has been, and without being propared to decide positive by as to the value of the remedy we have used. I feel bound to state that in the cases in which we have tried the Chloride o Propyamine, the patients have regained their health much earlier than under the treatment ordinarily pursued. I wish gentlemen; you would yourselves try it, and report the results.
