HARRISBURG, PA. Thursday Afternoon, October 30, 1862.

THE SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

We have heretofore referred to the fact that the position of certain leaders of the party in the north which opposes the government...

Designing men, some of whom come of a long line of traitors, taking advantage of old prejudices and popular catchwords...

The plans of the Breckenridge traitors among our people are slowly but gradually developing themselves; the next grand move will be an open anti-war party...

As neglected, in the midst of our other duties, and during the excitement both before and after the election, to notice the fact that Capt. J. M. Gregg, of the regular army...

We neglected, in the midst of our other duties, and during the excitement both before and after the election, to notice the fact that Capt. J. M. Gregg, of the regular army...

With being a cavalry officer of fine ability, Col. Gregg blends in his reputation those sterling qualities and virtues without which the character of the true soldier is not complete.

MILITARY ARRESTS.

When the rebellion which is now so formidable, was precipitated, the most loyal men in the land were those most appalled at its demonstrations.

The arrests which were made by the War Department were not prompted by personal spleen. The conduct of those arrested, was not prominent for any attack on the Secretary of War personally.

A VOICE FROM THE ARMY. We have always maintained that the men who compose our armies, are opposed to those who are antagonizing the federal administration.

the spirit which actuates every man who is in earnest in making this war a contest in reality for freedom. The writer has the idea of not only fighting the enemy in the field...

From the Army of the Potomac.

Delay in a Forward Movement—Jackson at Bunker Hill—'Now' and 'Wait'—The Mud Blockade—More 'Shoddy' for the Pennsylvania Soldiers—Waste in the Army, &c.

(Special Correspondence of the TELEGRAPH.) IN CAMP NEAR THE ANTIETAM, October 27, 1862.

We are in the midst of a severe storm of wind and rain, and in camp and on the march, there is nothing but mud. Should the present weather continue a few days longer...

From rebel deserters escaping into our lines yesterday, we learn that Lee and Jackson have gathered their shattered forces and are retreating towards the north.

The arrests which were made by the War Department were not prompted by personal spleen. The conduct of those arrested, was not prominent for any attack on the Secretary of War personally.

We notice that some of the newspaper correspondents complain of the tremendous waste of the army, and impute the evil to the men. It is an undoubted fact that the daily waste of our army would subsist every day...

FROM MISSOURI.

THE REBELS AGAIN WHIPPED.

Pursuit of the Rebel Cattle Thieves

RECAPTURE OF CATTLE, HORSES, &c.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. The following dispatch was received at headquarters today:

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 29.—MAJOR GENERAL HALLECK, General-in-Chief.—The army of the frontier is again successful.

Gen. Schofield dispatches from Fayetteville, Ark., that on yesterday at daylight Brig. Gen. Herron, with the 1st Iowa cavalry and 7th Missouri cavalry, attacked a rebel camp four miles east of that place.

After a sharp engagement of an hour, the enemy was completely routed, leaving all his camp equipage and a few wagons.

Gen. Herron pursued them for several miles into the Boston mountains.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The following has been received at Headquarters:

CUMBERLAND, Mo., Oct. 29.—Brig. Gen. R. E. Marcy, Chief of staff.—I ordered Lieut. Col. Quirk, of the 2d Illinois, to take the Ringgold Cavalry and two guns of Bonk's battery, and pursue the party that took the cattle in Hardy county.

FROM BALTIMORE. The Arrest of Loyal Citizens.

GREAT INDIGNATION OF THE PEOPLE.

Petition for the Removal of Gen. Wool.

BAITIMORE, Oct. 30. The loyal citizens arrested on Tuesday night and sent down the bay have not yet been released.

Gov. Bradford has gone to Washington to see the President. He has demanded the unconditional release of the parties, and that the papers and documents that were seized be given up.

The petition for the removal of Gen. Wool received numerous signatures last night and this morning.

The arrested parties in the morning were notified that they would be removed to Fort Mifflin. Shortly after 10 o'clock a company of cavalry made its appearance at the station house...

At this point the excitement was intense, not less than a thousand persons being collected in the vicinity. The cheering and groaning manifestations were repeated, and at one time it was thought that a collision would have occurred between the soldiers and the friends of the arrested.
