THE NEW EDITION

PURDON'S DIGEST HAS JUST BEEN PUBLISHED, PRICE 85 00.

N ENTIRE new edition of this well known A Law Book has just been issued. It is now distinguished by the following superadded features: The laws contained in the various annual Digests published since the date of the eighth edition (1858) have been incorporated in the nody of the work. Many thousand new authorities have been cited; the report of the revisors of the Penal Code has been embodied In the notes to the various sections of it, and the appendix contains for the first time, the Acts of Congress for the Authentication of Records, and the Statute of Fraudulent Conveyances, with full and elaborate notes of the decisions explanatory of them. The work has been prepared by the learned editor, Mr. Brightty, and its freshness and permanent value will be preserved by the continuation of the annual Digests, which have given so much satisfaction. PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL

[FRON OFFICIAL HOSTIAL REPORTS.]

MAY 19, 1860,—Elles S., sst. 23, single, never was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rheumatism, from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks and subsequently from a relapse fer four more. She has been well since then till last Satur day, while engaged in house cteaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, felt cold, not had so decided chill. Two days later her ankles begun so swell, which was followed by swelling of the knee joints and of the hands. She has now dult pain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of scute rheumatism, or, as it is now fashionably called, rheamagic fever. It is a well remarked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time calt your attention to the various symptoms which present themselves. My chief object in bringing her before you now, is to call attention to a remedy which has recently been recommended in the treatment of rheumatism. I mean propylamine. Dr. Awensrius, of St. Petersburg, recommends it in the highest terms, having derived great benefit from its use to 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I propose therefore to give it another trial. I must confess I am always moredulous as it. the worth of new remedies, which are vaunted as specife, out this comes to us recommended to highly, that we are bound to give it a trial. FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL SUPORTS.)

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER!

MAY 23, 1860.—I will now exhibit to you the patient if r whom I prescribed Propylamine, and was then laborng under an attack of acute rheumatism. She has steadily taken it in doses of three grains every two hours (intermiting it at night.) The day after you raw her, i cound har much more confortable, better than she expected to be for a weak or more, judging from her other attack. (The patient now walked into the room.) The mprovement has steadily pregressed, and you cannot it to notice a marked change in the appearance of her inits, which are new nearly all of their natural size—nur far our experiment would have seemed very sucessful; but, gentlemen, we must wait a little while benro we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be he result.

he result.

Here is another patient who was placed on the use of the same medicine on Sunday last; she has long been suffering from a bronic rheumatism, and I found her at that time with an acute attack supervening upon her chronic affaction. The wrists and knuckles were much swollen and tense. She took the chloride of Propylamine in three grain doses every two hours, and you will perceive that the swelling of the jointe has much diminished.

THREE DAYS LATER!!

MAY 26, 1860.—This is the case of acute rheumatism eaten with propylamine, the first of those to which I alled your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice, daily. In this case it has seemed to be followed by very satisfactory results. The second case to winch your attention was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do weir. I will now bring before you a very characteristic case of acute rheumatism, and if the result be satisfactory, I think, as good jurymen, w. snall justly render our verdict in favor of propylamin.

He is a seaman, sat 26, who was admitted a few days ago. Has had coassional rheumatic pause, but not so as to keep his bed, until eight days ago. The pains began in his right knee, subsequently affected the left knee, and after, the joints of the upper extremities. These joints are all swollen, tense and tender. His tongue is farred; this skin, at present dry, though there has been much sweating. His pulse is full and strong, and about 40.—He has now used propylamine for twenty-four hours.

This gentleman is what may be called a strictly typical case of acute rheumatism. There was expositive to cold and wet, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of coldness, severe articular pain, beginning, as it usually does, in the lower joints. There is fever and the profuse sweating, so generally attendant on acute rheumatism. I did not bring this patient before you with the intention of gring you a lecture en all the points connected with rheumatism, but to again give a trial to the new remedy we are testing, and to exhibit to you this typical case, as I have called it, than which there co uld not be a fairer opportunity for testing the medicine in question. We are, therefore, a wouling the use of all ather medicines, own anodynes, that there may be no misgiving as to which was the efficient remedy. You this
