PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL.

[FROM OFFICIAL HOPPIAL REFORM.]

MAY 19, 1860,—Ellem S., set. 28, single, never was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rheuma issm. from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks and subsequently from a relapse for four more. She has been well since then till last Satur day, while engaged in house cleaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, felt cold, hot had no decided chill. Two days later her ankles began so swell, which was followed by swelling of the knee joints and of the hands. She has now dult pain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumatism, or, as it is now fashionably called, rheumatic fever. It is a well remarked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time call your attention to the various symptoms which present themselves. My other object in bringing her before you now, is to call attention to a remedy which has recently been recommended in the treatment of rheumatism. I mean propylamine. Dr. Awenarius, of St. Petersburg, recommends it in the highest terms, having derived great benefit from its use in 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I propose therefore to give it another FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS. in 20 cases which came under his care. Various com-mendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I propose therefore to give it another trial. I must confess I am always incredulous as to the worth of new remedies, which are vaunted as specifies; but this comes to us recommended so highly, that we are bound to give it a trial.

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER!

MAY 23, 1860.—I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I prescribed Propylamine, and was then laboring under an attack of acute rheumatism. She has steadily taken it in dose of three grains every two hours (intermitting it at night.) The day after you saw her, lound her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or more, judging from her other strack. (The patient now walked into the room.) The mprovement has steadily progressed, and you cannot it to notice a marked change in the appearance of her kints, which are new nearly all of their natural size.—ner har our superment would have seemed very successful; but, gentlemen, we must wait a little while bette we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be her centle.

Here is another patient who was placed on the use of Here is another patient who was placed on the use of as same-medicine on Sunday last; she has long been suffering from a bronic rheumatism, and I found her at that time with an acute attack supervening upon her chronic affection. The wrists and knuckies were much swellen and teuse. She took the chloride of Propylamine in three grain doese every two hours, and you will perceive that the swelling of the joints has much diminished.

THREE DAYS LATER!!

THREE DAYS LATER!!

MAY 26, 1860.—This is the case of acute rheumatism cated with propylamine, the first of those to which I alled your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice daily. In this case it has seemed to be followed by very sat infactory results. The second case to which your attention was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do welr. I will now bring before you a very characteristic case of acute rheumatism, and if the result be satfactory, I think, as good jurymen, we shall justly render our verdict in favor of propylamin. He is a seaman, ast. 26, who was admitted a few days ago. Has had coastional rheumatic pains, but not so as to keep his bed, until eight days ago. The pains began in his right knee, subsequently affected the left knee, and later, the joints of the upper extremities. These joints are all swellen, tanse and tender. His tongue is furred; his skip, at present dry, though there has been much sweating. His pulse is full and strong, and about 90.—He has now used propylamine for twenty-four hours. This genileman is what may be called a strictly typical case, of acute rheumatism. There was exposure to cold east, of acute rheumatism. There was exposure to cold east, of the theumatism. There was exposure to cold east, of acute rheumatism. There was exposure to cold east, of acute rheumatism pain, beginning, as it usually does, in the lower joints. There is fever and the profuse sweating, so generally attendant on acute rheumatism. I did not bring this pation before you with the intention of giving you a lecture on all the points consected with rheumatism, but to again give a trial to the new remedy we are testing, and to exhibit to you this typical case, as I have called it, than which there co uid other medicines, even anodynea, that there may be no misgivings as to which was the efficient remedy. You that it was the case of a future clinio.

JUHEO, 1860.—The next of our convalencents is the case of acute rheumatism before you at our clinic of May 18th, which I then called a typical case, and which it was remarked was a fair opportunity for testing the worth of our new remedy. It was therefore steadily given in three grain doese every two hours for four days the patient has got along very nicely, and is now able to walk about, as you see. I do not hesitate to say that I have neves seen as severe a case of acute rheumatism so soon restored to health as this man has been, and without being prepared to decide positive by as to the value of the remedy we have used. I feel bound to state that in the cases in which we have tried the Chloride o Propyramine, the patients have regained their health much carlier than under the treatment erdinarily purvised. I wish gentlemen, you would yourselves try it, and report the results.
