heir conscience does not smite them before, these gaunt skeletons will rise up in judgment before these unchristian and inhuman men, the chiefs and leaders of this bloody rebellion, who turned their backs on their suffering and un-buried men, and held high church at Harrodsburg next day, where, with backs well clothed and stomachs well filled, were congregated Bragg and Smith, Hardee and Cheatham, Buck-ner, Marshall and Morgan, and last, but not least, on this list of names, Leonidas Polk, late Bishop, not even asking for their dead "a little A great part of the men of both armies who fought this battle were those of Shiloh, who were used to scenes of blood and carnage, and unwilling to retreat on either side, which acearth for charity."

GENERAL BANKS delivered a speech in Boston on Saturday evening, in the course of which he said: The period of war is never one of continued success or perpetual disaster; alternate triumphs and defeats diversify the history of every warlike nation. We had our disasters as other nations in like circumstances, and despondency rested momentarily upon many loyal faces. He saw nothing in the future to justify apprehension, or to strengthen for a moment a fear that the next morning, after sunrise, I counted forty-four of them lying, shot dead, in the forehead or through the heart, in their exact straight line of battle, in the line of ba apprehension, or to strengthen for a moment a fear that our earnest efforts for the re-establishphysical strength of the nation has not yet been appreciated, much less exhausted. Not a loyal State, except perhaps Maryland, exhibits, or has exhibited, the slightest evidence that the Government was engaged in a serious war.— Whenever their power shall have been com-pletely developed, the rebellion will be suppressed. It can never resist successfully an earnest and exhausting demonstration of the marvellous power of the loyal States. The apenemy checked by the reserve regiment. One regiment of Federal troope from Michigan stood in line of battle, awaiting the storm; at the first close volley their standard was shot its strength. Numerous expeditions were on its strength. Numerous expeditions were on foot that could not, if vigorousiy pressed, but be fatal to the revolted States. He hoped to bear his share in the hardships and perils of these labors, and he asked no other satisfaction men shot on the spot. When the broken remand of the regiment fell back they carried all the tattered fragments of the old symbol as caresuch gallant spirits as Massachusetts had sent forth to battle for the great and imperishable principles of humanity and liberty.
