THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE FOR PRESIDENT. ABRAHAM LINCOLN

HARRISBURG. PA. TUESDAY EVENING, APRIL 12, 1864.

"Democracy" in Congress. On Friday and Saturday last, scenes were enacted in the House of Representatives, which, it would seem, were only necessary to complete the infamy of the "Democratic" leaders, and (to paraphrase a sentiment of the past) lay them in the urn of political death. During the debate on Friday last, one Mr. Long, a Representative from Ohio, indulged in remarks at once treasonable to the country and insulting to the House, the gist of which was that he (Long) would rather see the Southern Confederacy triumph, than that our armies should succeed—that he was in favor of recognizing that Confederacy-and that the cause of the slaveholder was dearer to him than that of liberty or the Union. The utterance of these sentiments created a deep feeling, and they were boldly controverted by loyal men on the floor. On Saturday following, Mr. Colfax, the Speaker of the House, made a motion to expel Mr. Long, of Ohio, for advocating the cause of the Southern Confederacy. On the motion coming before the House, a scene of violent confusion occurred on the "Demo-

"Mr. Harris (Md.) endorsed every sentiment uttered by Mr. Long yesterday, and he would stand by the latter for weal or for woe. If there was any honesty in any party they would rise like a hurricane and sweep away those who are preying upon the vitals of the Republic. He (Mr. Harris) was not only in favor of recognizing the Southern Confederacy, but acquiesced in the doctrine of Secession.

cratic" side, during which Democratic members made use of sentiments like the follow-

A scene of great excitement ensued, owing to the words of Mr. Harris, and for this he was compelled to take his seat.

Mr. Fernando Wood (N. Y.) said the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. Long) had declared in his written speech that he would prefer the recognition of the Southern Confederacy as an alternative, rather than the people of the South should be subjugated and exterminated, and he (Mr. Wood) endorsed this, and they could expel him for it."

The motion to expel Mr. Long, requiring a two-thirds vote, it of course failed to pass. Every treason-sympathizing copperhead in the House voted against the expulsion. Among those thus voting was the Representative from this district. By that vote Miller endorsed the sentiment of Long, and thus we have a Representative in Congress who is in favor of recognizing the Southern Confederacy-who is opposed to the triumph of our arms over rebellion, and who recognizes the right of secession.

-The Democratic leaders are fast defining their position with reference to the cause of treason. In that cause, those leaders, equally with the slave-holders, ventured all their interests; and now that they are about to fail, they display the recklessness peculiar to men engaged in a desperate cause. Like Mr. Long, the Democratic leaders are all in favor of treason, and opposed to the victory of our arms over rebellion. How long will the people tolerate the existence of such men-such cowardly, sneaking traitors?

Three Years of War.

This day, the 12th of April, three years ago, the traitors of South Carolina, encouraged by the Democratic leaders in all parts of the country, inaugurated armed rebellion by the attack on Fort Sumter. The knowledge of that outrage aroused the masses of the people. It was the signal for a rush to arms such as the country had never before seen. Three months were only required to show to loyal men that the rebellion had been organized on a gigantic scale. The Democratic leaders (as accessories to and allies of rebellion) aware of the large preparation made to destroy the Union and believing that the insurgents would succeed, supported the government in the first hour of its struggle with treason, for the purpose of attracting the attention of the masses from their complicity with treason, as well as to enable them the better to aid rebellion. But as soon as it was discovered that the first effort proved ineffectual, and that the government could not be overcome without the combined efforts of trairors north and south, the Democratic leaders threw off the mask, and from the first Bull Run fight, up to the present hour, have remained the steadfast, persevering and even enthusiastic friends of treason. They have hesitated at nothing calculated to ensure the success of rebellion. They have acted as spies on the government-divulged its secrets-assailed its credit sought the depreciation of its finances-impugned its honor-plotted to embroil it in difficulty with foreign powers-questioned its martial ability—and by every act and word calculated to embarrass the government, the Democratic leaders have labored for three years, for its disgrace and destruc-

-Three years of war for the safety of the Union and the integrity of the Government have developed powers in the American people never exhibited by any nation occupying a place among the governments of the world. The mere contest with armed traitors, terrible and sanguinary as it has been, will still be regarded by the historian of the era in which we now live, as the least of the struggle. The unarmed rascals who infest the Northern cities, who have managed to get seats in Legislative bodies, who have secured State Executive power, and who are vagabondizing in Europe, are the wretches who have given the Federal authorities the greatest trouble-and may be regarded as having derived their ability for harm to the nation from the Democratic leaders. But both the armed and the unarmed elements of treason are destined to be consigned to dishonorable graves. Within two months the traitors in the loyal States; two months the traitors in the loyal States; the ballot box bave been dealt death blows at the ballot box bounties to volunteers was taken up and negatived.

The set to authorize the Governor to pay bounties to volunteers was taken up and negatived.

The Senate then proceeded to the considers ation of the navel appropriation bill.

the end of armed rebellion becomes apparent. Three years of war for the safety of the Republic! However long and bloody the conflict is regarded, the sacrifices were not too great for the object achieved, in establishing the law that liberty henceforth will be su preme in the land.

Severe on a Political General.

The Western journals are severe on that general who has lately become such a favorite with the political enemies of the National Administration. One of them, in the most sarcastic manner, says that when Geo. B. M'Clellan wrote his celebrated letter to President Lincoln, for his "private consideration," in which he advised him how the war should be carried on, and who should command his armies, he wound up with the submissive intimation that if he did not inspire the necessary confidence to carry out the President's views, to entitle him to that command. he would serve in any capacity to which he might be appointed. The consequence was he was retired from the chief, or indeed, any command. In looking around for some candidate with sufficient military glory to subserve their purpose, combined with other elements supposed to attract popularity, a portion of the Democracy, those who would carry on the war, upon constitutional grounds, and in a constitutional way, very plainly indicate their preference for Gen. M'Clellan; and it is not a foregone conclusion, from the manifestations of the late Columbus Democratic Convention, that the Peace Democrats will not be constrained to yield their reluctant suffrages to him, or retire, broken-crested and powerless, to the dark corners of discomfiture, and confess themselves, what they are, unable to even annoy by the guerrilla warfare of faction. But what if a command be tendered the retired M'Clellan? Will he accept? Will he make good his voluntary offer to serve in any cpacity? Should he do so, what will become of the forlorn hope of the Democracy now rapidly concentrating upon him as their THE WAR ON THE MISSISSIPPI leader? To undertake a command, will be to acknowledge that the war is carried on constitutionally, for, would be accept position if it were otherwise? This would involve those who desire him for their candidate in a dilemma. The solution of the imbroglio will be developed in the course of time.

AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION. - The joint resolution to amend the Constitution of the United States forever abolishing slavery in all the States of the Union, in its passage through the Senate, presented some curious phases in the votes for or against it. Of the six nays are Powell and Davis, of Ky., and Saulsbury, of Del., all of whom have been at the point of being expelled from the Senate Chamber, and were only spared by the forbearance of the majority of that body-the two former charged with treasonable conduct, and the latter for drunkenness and rowdyism in the hall of the body of which he is a standing disgrace. These men are the fit champions of the expiring slaveocracy.

The other three who voted with them are McDongall, of California, who had just received the instructions of his State to vote for the measure, but which he refused to obey; Riddle, of Delaware, a mere tool of Senator Bayard, of the same State; and Mr. Hendricks, of Indiana, who most grossly misrepresents his State. Mr. Buckalew, a fair type of the Pennsylvania Copperhead, a class which, to obtain office, would as readily fall down and worship the Grand Lama of India, or the Ox of Egypt, as they would again, to accomplish their ends, vote for James Buchanan, took occasion to have it understood that, if present, he would have been alongside of the six worthies who voted nay.

One of the objects with which the rebels propose to undertake a grand invasion of the North this Spring is recruiting. The Montgomery (Ala,) Mail, in a recent article on the subject, says: "Let us invade them with our whole force. Missouri, Kentucky, Maryland, and the 'copperheads' will swell our ranks.' The Copperheads are exercising themselves (as in Coles Co., Ill., for instance) preparatory to enlistment when the stars and bars make their appearance.

A SINGULAR fact has been disclosed by Surgeon Macgowan, who has been taking physical measurements of the Chippewa Indians, now in Washington, viz: that the average size of the crania of the red men is greater than that of the whites. The head of Chief Queune-sanee-ish-mearinna ("Bad Boy") measures one inch in every direction more than that of Mr. Chase, the cast of whose head is the largest in Mr. Mills's collection.

THE HON. REVERDY JOHNSON in writing a letter congratulatory on the success of the emancipation cause in Maryland says:

A new era is now dawning on our State. A new era is now dawning on our Slavery is ended, and it will be, as Washington said it would be in that event, "the garden enot of the United States." He said so in a letter to St. John Sinclair, in '96.

If it is done also in the whole country-I think it will be great as our prosperity has been in the past, and high as has been our name with the nations of the world, both will be, immeasureably almost, enhanced. And God grant that it may be so.

Мемрия, Saturday, April 9. Grierson's cavalry still hang around Forrest, but are too weak to effect much. Yesterday morning they made a sally upon the bridge over Wolf River, which Forrest had just completed, and succeeded in capturing and de-stroying the bridge, with the loss of eight killed and wounded, capturing two prisoners. This morning they had another fight, in which Capt. Harrington was badly wounded.
It is reported that Forrest has been rein forced by a part of Lee's cavalry, and intends crossing the Tennessee, his demonstrations on Memphis being very faint. Everything is prepared for his reception.

THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

DRPARTURE OF GENERAL GRANT FOR WASHING TON — THE DAMAGED BRIDGES REPAIRED— HORRIBLE CONDITION OF THE ROADS — RE-ORGANIZATION OF THE CAVALRY CORPS, &C. ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, April 11.

The bridges crossing Bull run, Cedar run and Broad run, on the Orange and Alexandria railroad, which were carried away by the recent heavy rains, were sufficiently repaired to admit the crossing of trains at three o'clock

A special train, with Lieutenant General Grant on board, was the first to cross. The General, with two members of his staff, left Culpepper at five o'clock this afternoon, and arrived in Washington at eleven o'clock tonight.

The heavy rains of the past few days will still further delay any movement of the army for the present. The roads are in a horrible condition.

In the meantime, the organization of the army continues. Gen. Sheridan has assumed command of the cavalry corps. Gen. Kil-patrick has been relieved of the command of the Third division, and Gen. Wilson, recently of the Cavalry Bureau, assumes command. Gen. Talbert has also been ordered to relieve General Merritt, of the First division. eral Merritt will have command of the brigade of regulars. It is rumored that General Kilpatrick will also command a brigade in the First division. The Second division, commanded by General Gregg, remains the same.
