Daily Telegraph THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE FOR PRESIDENT, ABRAHAM LINCOLN. HARRISBURG, PA.

TUESDAY EVENING, APRIL 19, 1864.

Meeting of the County Committee.

The County Committee will meet on FRIDAY evening next, April 22, 1864, at seven o'clock, at the office of H. C. Alleman, Esq., for the purpose of selecting delegates to represent this county in the next State Convention, and transact such other business as may be brought H. THOMAS, Chairman. before them.

The Contradictions of our Philadelphia Cotemporaries on the Capital Removal Question.

In their hot haste to remove the machinery of the State Government to some of the purlieus of the Quaker city, our Philadelphia cotemporaries have forgotten all about the national navy yard at League Island. The Evening Bulletin seems to have been selected to do the dirty work in this business, by persuading the Philadelphia delegation, first, to engage in this most monstrous outrage on the rights and interests of the people of the rural districts; and second, in maligning that same delegation, for acts which that journal, in its superior wisdom, regards as illegal and corrupt. In one paragraph the Bulletin seeks to cajole the Philadelphia delegation into the most hasty action for removal; and then, in another article, that sheet endeavors to make amends for the wrong which it advocates, by assuring the State at large that a removal of the capital to Philadelphia would at least secure a more respectable class of representat tives from that county. What are we to understand from this? Are we to believe that such sheets as the Bulletin winked at the election of the bad men whom it now alleges represent Philadelphia, purposely to carry out the wrong of removal? There is a contradiction about the course of the Bulletin, which renders its position on the removal question absolutely ridiculous; and if anything ever was calculated to excite the disgust of the representatives of the Legislature, it should be the manner in which the Bulletin treats its own delegation in that body.

We have no threats to make on this subject. What we seek to defend is a plain and simple right. What those engaged in agitating the subject of removal are after, is the perpe tration of a most wicked wrong. Hence the fallacies resorted to, and the haste sought to be adopted in removing the capital. The people nowhere have been consulted on the subject. The whole scheme is one of speculation and fraud, concocted for individual aggrandizement. If it is persisted in, it will assuredly create precedents that must damage its authors politically. And if the mass of the mercantile and commercial men of Philadelphia will permit their representatives thus to engage in plans for the disgrace of the State, the people of the State at large will hold them responsible for the injury, and retaliate whenever time and occasion afford them the op portunity.

A Uniform Currency.

Congress and the people are constantly directing their attention to the subject of a uniform currency. It is admitted on all sides

The National Debt. The Cincinnati Daily Times completely anmasks the efforts of the peace Democracy, for the purpose of depreciating the national credit on the score that the public debt is now so large that it can never be liquidated, if the interest on it can even be paid. Completely to answer their efforts at depreciation, it is only necessary to refer to the totals as exhibited in the official statements of the Treasury Department, of March 16th, 1864. From this this we learn that the immediate liabilities are $95,270,246 05. Added to this is the old public debt of $67,417,417.55. The grand total is $1,596,999,429 33. Of this there were Three year 7 3-10 bonds.....$138,063,800 00 U. S. Legal Tenders 449,073,616 60 20 years' loan of [6] 50,000,000 00 6 per cent. 5-20 Bonds 510,749,100 00 Of the Ten-Forty bonds there has been issued, up to the present time, twelve million dollars. Truly formidable as these figures may seem, they dwindleaway, comparatively, when we take into consideration the great contest in which a large proportion of the sum has been expended. Not a single dollar has been borrowed from foreign potentate or power, and to-day the issues of the Government have the abiding confidence of the people. Yet the Democratic opposers to the war tell us that the day of reckoning will come, and we admit it, while we firmly hope that its advent will be amid the restored peace and prosperity of the country. If the people have submitted calmly to the direct taxation imposed on them through the agency of the internal revenue, when an immediate necessity for large sums was apparent, they will not repudiate their indebtedness when the unrestrained tide of commerce shall again flow through its usual channels and they can accommodate themselves more conveniently to the pressure. An export duty, heretofore unknown in our history, levied upon articles which must be supplied to foreign nations, and which we, as an agricultural country can well furnish, would only be following in the footsteps of those governments older in years and better versed than ourselves in the province of political economy. What its result might be can only be gleaned from the past. During the eight years previous to 1856 the exports from this country, on articles of produce mostly, amounted to sixteen hundred millions of dollars, of which cotton alone was shipped amounting to nearly seven hundred and fifty millions. The very indebtedness now apparently so heavy may have the effect to develop more fully the resources of our wonderful country, and cause us to be less lavish of wealth which has been ruthlessly squandered in the past, And this, too, with no discomfort to ourselves as a people. A tariff for revenue, the encouragement of foreign immigration, by which the millions of acres of uncultivated land shall be made productive, and a score of other results, which will follow the re-establishment of the Union, will again enable us to rid the country of its indebtedness and win back for it the title it has worn so long as the refuge of the oppressed and the home of the free.

It is not unlikely, notwithstanding this change, that our iron clads will be alongside Charleston wharf before the incoming summer has gone out. Gen. Hatch is mentioned as the successor of Gen. Gill-more in the Department of the South. THE FORT PILLOW MASSACRE.

The Committee on the Conduct of the War, after consultation with the President and Sec retary of War, to-day determined to send sub-committée, composed of Senator Wade and Representative Gooch, to Fort Pillow to inquire into all the facts relating to that affair. The committee will leave this evening for the scene of their labors and expect to be absent about two weeks.

THE NAVAL APPROPRIATION BILL.

The Ways and Means Committee to-day considered at length the Senate's amendments to the naval appropriation bill. They have adopted most of the Senate's amendments, and will probably report it to the House to morrow.

The Senate Military Committee have reported against the House bill providing for the payment of twenty-five dollars bounty to nine-months' men.

THE DRAFT.

In order to correct erroneous: impressions it is proper to state that the President's order, of March last, requires that the amounts of men raised by voluntary enlistments be made up to April 15, and the draft be made as soon thereafter as practicable. No authority is given for the assertion that it will take place on the 1st of May. "There are more or less necessary and real delays connected with a proper adjustment of accounts with a view to

We have good reasons for believing Virginia to be the scene of the next hostile engagement of a general nature. The enemy's movements are pointing to this conclusion, and we need not be startled at any time to hear that Lee has fallen back to the environs of the capital, and that a stupendous decoy movement is being made by the enemy on the south side of the James river, from the direction of Northeastern North Carolina. Large numbers of the citizens-non-combatants-of the northern counties of Virginia are being arrest-ed by the enemy. This has been the usual prelude to general movements, and may, in the present instance, be intended to cover de-

Congress has no power to forbid the issue of bills of credit, but it has the right to impose a tax on the exercise of such a privilege. By levying such a tax, the currency would become improved, by first driving out of recognition all bills of banks solely depending upon their circulation for profits and by substituting the national currency in every part of the country. This substitution would protect the working man and the mechanic from the numerous petty shaves to which they are subjected; it would create an additional revenue for the Government and greatly strengthen its credit. It was wrong in the first place to permit the States to assume the power which they now exercise on the currency. That power grew out of the fallacies of the Democratic leaders, as they were advocated years ago, doubtless with the view to create dangerous contingencies in a crisis such as the nation is now involved .-Experience has taught us that there should be only one money-making power in the land. The faith of the Government in such matters should surely be worth more than the credit of a few individuals, associated for the purnurpose of self-enrichment. To regain its fall control over the currency, the National Government will be sustained by the voice of the people, in heavily taxing the issues of all State banks. And when all money-making powers are concentrated in one authority, instead of being detailed to many States, the credit of the whole country will be more firmly based than ever it was before, the confidence of the people will be greater in the currency afforded them for the transaction of their business; while the speculators who now disgrace the age and grind the faces of the poor, will be themselves disgraced and completely frus trated.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, April 19. The House concurred in the Senate amendment to the House concurrence in the scinate amena-ment to the House resolution, so as to read that the Committee on the Conduct of the War shall inquire into the truth of the rumors attending the recent attack on Fort Pillowwhether that fort could not have been sufficiently reinforced, and report the facts as soon as possible.

The House then went into committee of the whole on the state of the Union, (Mr. Wash-burne in the chair,) and proceeded to the consideration of the internal tax bill.

Mr. Morrell (Vt.) explained the provisions of the measure. The war having continued longer than was anticipated, it was now neces sary to revise our estimates so as to cover all deficiencies. The demands upon the Treasury are unprecedented, but our resources are sury are unprecedenced, gut our resources are equal to any emergency, good or bad. The receipts from this bill and from foreign importation will, deducting the ordinary ex-penses of a hundred millions annually, be much greater than would pay the interest on the debt of three thousand millions, with a most respectable sinking fund, besides, if we pass this bill it will show that we will main-tain our financial credit at all cost. Without coming to a vote on the bill, the We have under the present law received apriled with the present law received
