

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.
SINGLE SUBSCRIPTIONS.
This Telegraph is sent to subscribers in the city at a rate of $5.00 per week. Yearly subscribers will be charged $25.00 in advance. Those persons who neglect to pay in advance will be charged $6.00 per week.
WEEKLY TELEGRAPH.
This Telegraph is published weekly, and is furnished to subscribers at the following cash rates:
One copy, weekly, $1.00
Five copies to one Post Office, $4.00
Ten copies to one Post Office, $10.00

MEDICAL.
ELIXIR. ELIXIR.
DR. WRIGHT'S
REJUVENATING ELIXIR, OR, ESSENCE OF LIFE.

Prepared from Pure Vegetable Extracts, containing nothing injurious to the most delicate.
The Rejuvenating Elixir is the result of modern experiments in the vegetable kingdom; being an entirely new and abstract method of cure, irrespective of all the old and worn-out systems.
This medicine has been tested by the most eminent medical men of the day, and by them pronounced to be one of the greatest medical discoveries of the age.
One bottle will cure General Debility.
A few doses cures Hysteria in females.
One bottle cures Palpitation of the Heart.
A few doses restores the organs of generation.
From one to three bottles restores the manliness and vigor of youth.
A few doses restores the appetite.
A few bottles cures the worst case of Impotency.
A few doses cures low spirited.
Who bottle restores mental power.
A few doses bring the rose to the cheek.
The medicine restores to manly vigor and robust health the poor, debilitated, worn-down and despairing devotee of sensual pleasure.
The Elixir, engaged youth, the over-taxed man of business, the victim of a nervous depression, the individual suffering from general debility, or from weakness of a single organ, will all find immediate and permanent relief by the use of this Elixir or Essence of Life.
Bottle, $2 per bottle, or three bottles for $5, and prepaid by express, on receipt of money, to any address.
Sold by all druggists everywhere.
DR. W. R. MERWIN & CO.,
Sole Proprietors,
No. 59 Liberty street, New York.

CHEIROKEE PILLS.
SUGAR-COATED
FEMALE REGULATOR,
HEALTH PRESERVER,
CERTAIN AND SAFE.

For the Removal of Obstructions and the Insurance of Regularity in the Recurrence of the Monthly Periods.
They cure or obviate those numerous diseases that spring from irregularity, by removing the irregularity itself.
They cure Suppressed, Excessive and Painful Menstruation.
They cure Green Sickness (Chlorosis).
They cure Nervous and Spinal Affections, pains in the back and lower parts of the body, Headaches, Fatigue, slight cough, Palpitation of the Heart, Loss of appetite, Hysteria, Sick Headache, Giddiness, &c., &c. In a word, by removing the irregularity, they remove the cause, and with it all the effects that spring from it.
Composed of simple vegetable extracts, they contain nothing deleterious to any constitution, however delicate, their function being to substitute strength for weakness, which, when properly used, they never fail to do.
They may be safely used at any age, and at any time, except during the first three months, during which the unfolding nature of their action would infallibly arrest pregnancy.
All letters seeking information or advice will be promptly, freely and discreetly answered.
Full directions accompany each box.
Price, $1 per box, or six boxes for $5.
Sent by mail, free of postage, on receipt of price.
Sold by all respectable druggists.
DR. W. R. MERWIN & CO., Sole Proprietors,
No. 59 Liberty street, New York.
For sale in Harrisburg by S. A. KUNKEL & BRO., 118 Market street.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.
JULIUS ROSENDALE,
OPTICIAN.

BEGS to inform the inhabitants of Harrisburg and vicinity that he has removed to No. 29 North Second street, two doors from Walnut. Thankful for the confidence and patronage bestowed on him during his stay on Market Square, he hopes to merit a continuance of the same at his new stand.
PARTICULAR ATTENTION is called to the CELEBRATED TINTED PARABOLIC SPECTACLES, by which I claim the undoubted advantages:
1st. That from the peculiar construction of the Glasses, they assist and preserve the sight, rendering frequent change quite unnecessary.
2d. That they confer a brilliancy and distinctness of vision, with an amount of ease and comfort not hitherto known.
3d. That the material from which the Lenses are ground is manufactured specially for optician purposes, and is PERK, HARD AND BRILLIANT, and not liable to become scratched.
4th. That the frames in which they are set, whether in Gold, Silver or Steel, are of the finest quality and finish, and GUARANTEED PERFECT in every respect.
5th. That, from their peculiar color, they prevent a sufficiency of light striking the retina, and therefore strengthening the optic nerve and rendering it less liable to Anasarca.
Constantly on hand, a large assortment of Achromatic Microscopes, Spy Glasses, Opera, Marine and Field Glasses, Stereoscopes and Views, Magic Lanterns, Barometers, Thermometers, Magnets, &c., &c.
Remember that Rosendale's Institute will be permanent at No. 29 North Second street, five doors from the Bush of House.
J. M. S.

DR. B. M. GILDEA,
DENTIST.
RESPECTFULLY informs the citizens of Harrisburg and vicinity that he has removed his office from Market street to Third street, next door to the Police and Union office, where he is prepared to accommodate all who may desire his professional services.
FRESH FISH,
EVERY TUESDAY AND FRIDAY,
CAN be had at
THE FRUIT STORE
OF
JOHN WISE,
Third street, near Walnut.
A LARGE INVOICE OF NEW RAISINS,
CITRONS,
CURRANTS,
PRUNES,
FIGS, &c.,
SHISLER & FRAZER'S,
(Successors to Wm. Dock, Jr., & Co.)

TO THE PUBLIC.—The undersigned will be for sale in their season, a very large quantity of ROSE BUSHES, and FLOWER PLANTS in great variety.
J. M. S.

LEA & PERINE'S WORCESTER SAUCES,
The most popular and the purest ever offered to the public, just received and for sale by
SHISLER & FRAZER,
(Successors to Wm. Dock, Jr., & Co.)

Pennsylvania Telegraph.

"THE UNION—NOW AND FOREVER."—Webster.

HARRISBURG, PA., FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 6, 1864. PRICE TWO CENTS.

EVENING EDITION.

Pennsylvania Legislature.

REPORT OF THE SPEAKER FOR THE TELEGRAPH.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Thursday, May 5, 1864.

The House met at 10 o'clock.

DISPOSITION OF THE LAND SCRIP.

Mr. WELLS offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Surveyor General of this Commonwealth be and is hereby requested not to sell the land scrip, donated by the United States to the State of Pennsylvania, for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts, for a less sum than one dollar per acre.

The resolution was discussed by Messrs. WELLS, JACKSON, HILL, ALEXANDER, (Centre), OLMSTED, HAKES, PATTON, M'URTRIE, PRIOU, COCHRAN (Erie) and BROWN.

Mr. HILL moved to amend, by striking out "one dollar" and inserting "80 cents."

Mr. ALEXANDER (Centre) moved that the resolution be indefinitely postponed; and the motion was agreed to.

REPORT OF NOTIFYING COMMITTEE.

Mr. JACKSON, from a committee appointed to act in conjunction with a similar committee of the Senate, and notify the Governor of the adjournment at 12 m. to-day, made report that they had performed that duty; that the Governor had stated that he would communicate several messages before the hour of adjournment. The Governor also desired to say that he parted from the members of the Legislature with feelings of deep regret, and he returned his thanks to both Houses for their co-operation in carrying out the measures which he had recommended, and especially in the passage of the revenue bill.

Several messages from the Governor, stating the signature of various bills, were presented during the morning.

Mr. PERSHING offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the thanks of this body be tendered to Hon. HENRY C. JOHNSON, Speaker of the House of Representatives, for the impartial and dignified manner in which he has presided over our deliberations, and in our separation, we desire to express to him our kind acknowledgments for his urbanity and gentlemanly bearing.

Remarks highly eulogistic of the official and personal deportment of the Speaker were made by Messrs. FENNELL, BROWN, FARRER, QUINN, CRANFORD, MEYERS, PATTON, STANLEY, JACKSON, HAKES, LABAR and SMITH (Phiadelphia).

The yeas and nays being taken on the resolution, it was adopted unanimously.

Mr. SMITH (Chester), acting on the part of the officers of the House, then presented to Speaker JOHNSON a handsome gold watch, and a testimonial of their grateful appreciation of the obligations under which he had placed them by his kind and courteous bearing toward them. Mr. SMITH, in making the presentation, spoke as follows:

Mr. Speaker, the officers of this House so have requested me, in their name, to present to you this watch. They make the gift as a token of their respect and regard for you, both in your personal and official relations with them. They are not without the hope, also, that after their separation from you, when you use it or see it, you may revert with recollections of satisfaction to your intercourse with them, and with the feeling that however they may have failed practically, it was their desire and effort to sustain you in conducting the business of the House, and to yield without reluctance to your directions. They desire, too, to take this occasion to say, that they have met at your hands, at all times, kindness and consideration, which they appreciate and will not forget. For these they direct me to express their hearty thanks, and to say that they will not pass from their recollection.

And it may be doubted, resort to instances when, to have separated from a stranger traveler into whose company we had casually fallen on our way, has caused real sorrow; and we have felt—that is true—that even this slight had not altogether broken its connection, although we may have been well assured that our first and last meeting was the same. But when, after a daily intercourse of months, your acquaintances has ripened into affectionate friendship, a separation, which may be final and which forebodes with reasonable certainty that there will be no subsequent meeting in the same circumstances—is accompanied with a pang which is not soon soothed. Such is their feeling now. May it not be yours also?

They desire me to express to you their wishes for the future welfare and success of your life, which they hope the blessing of Providence may make useful and prosperous.

Hoping, too, that in its path you may meet more efficient friends, they are assured you will meet none more sincere.

And, Mr. Speaker, allow me to say for myself, although not sustaining toward you precisely the same relation as those for whom I have spoken, that everything that I say in the name of these officers, so far as it is appropriate, I wish to be considered as saying for myself.

Our intercourse, sir, extends back beyond this session. We met last year, and under circumstances very much the same; but at that time we were upon the floor together. I may say that, during the whole of last session, your bearing toward me was marked by kindness and even by respect, which, probably you rendered rather on account of my years than by reason of any right on my part to claim it. I may say, also, at the breaking up of this session, and in view of what must be, so far as I am concerned, our last meeting, it is with sincere sorrow that I separate from every man in this House. I know myself, perhaps, better than any man who knows me, there are with all of us at times ebullitions of feeling which have their unpleasantness; but system, which they hope the blessing of Providence will do away with. In leaving this Hall, I trust that all our recollections may be those of kindness. That which has had an appearance of asperity, let it be buried in oblivion; and if we meet not again on this earth, may we all of us "meet beyond the river, where the surges cease to roll."

Mr. Speaker JOHNSON then said: Mr. Speaker, I accept of this beautiful present with grateful pride; and appreciating the kindness of the officers who have thus honored me, I will take occasion to speak more at length on this subject at the close of this morning's proceedings.

Mr. BARGER then presented the following resolution:

Resolved, That the members of this House tender to the Chief Clerk, A. W. BENDER, Esq., their grateful thanks for his faithful discharge of the onerous duties devolving on him during the past session.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Mr. BARGER then, on behalf of the Democratic members of the House, presented to Mr. BENDER a gold-headed cane.

Mr. BARGER said: Mr. Speaker, I am charged by my friends on this side with the discharge of a very pleasant duty—a duty which I assume with cheerfulness, because it affords me the opportunity to pay a proper tribute to a faithful officer and a gentleman. I am directed by the gentlemen upon this side of the House to present to the Chief Clerk this small testimonial of their regard for him, their appreciation and their estimation of the faithful manner in which he has discharged his duties as Clerk of this House. I think I may know the echo of the feelings of all upon this side of the House when I say that they fully and entirely appreciate the faithful manner in which the retiring Clerk has discharged the duties of his position. For myself, I may be permitted to say that I join in this testimonial with the heartiest cordiality. I became acquainted with Mr. BENDER last year when both he and I sat upon this floor as members of the House. He then, it is true, bore toward me the relation of a political opponent, but independently of that, he exhibited the social qualities of a kind and courteous gentleman. Time and again I applied to him for assistance; time and again has he cheerfully acceded to it, as would a father to a son.

Mr. Speaker, in receiving this testimonial, let me remember the duties which it is the kind feelings and the good wishes of the donors; and, in after years, when passing down the declivity of age, and when looking at this gift, cleaving as it is with the good feelings of those who present it, I bid him recollect that, although they were politically opposed to him, yet by his kindness of manners and his able discharge of his duties, he won the united esteem of all the members of this body.

Mr. BENDER, in receiving the testimonial, said: This evidence of your kindness and confidence, this assurance that you have been satisfied with the execution of the important and responsible trust committed to my charge, flatters and overwhelms me. In the turmoil and strife of life, when worn with its cares and toils, we gladly and gratefully turn to the warm grasp and welcome plaudits of friends. The strain upon the mental and physical energies is relieved by the soothing touch and influence of the dear ones we love. I can now feel and appreciate how delightful it is, that kindness ministered by those upon whose kindness I have no claim.

Some opinions of obituary often separate the friends who ought to be ever friends. Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

Among all the surroundings of life, no so mischievous, no so malevolent spirit is found as the demon of politics—not the honest differences of honest men—but that philosophy of investigation which leads differently organized minds in opposite directions. These are but separate paths which advance in different directions, and which ought to be ever friends.

about to take place in the House, continued: The Democratic members of this House have charged me, Mr. Smull, with the agreeable duty of placing in your hands this cane as a thank-offering for your fidelity and urbanity, your genial deportment as a gentleman and your impartiality and integrity as an officer of this House. This gift is of very little intrinsic value, but as an honest expression of our esteem of your worth—an expression emanating from sincere hearts—we trust that you will prize it highly for the sake of those who gave it, and more especially as an evidence that even in these degenerate days, the faithful discharge of duty still exacts tributes of homage and admiration, and that now the friends are as fully recognized to be true as ever it was—

"Honor or shame from no condition rise; Act well your part; there all your honor lies."

It would be very agreeable to me to dwell longer upon this subject; but I desist because I am conscious that upon occasions like the present I need not say more than what would be very apt to chill the fervor of our hearts. With many gentlemen upon both sides of the chamber, intercourse and acquaintance with you have been of several years' standing; with myself they have been the growth of a few months. But the merit which can make friends in a few months, and bind them with links of steel, as if by the exercise of years, is of a very high order. Let me assure you, sir, in the name of these gentlemen, and for myself that you have done so. If I were to exhaust the language of the heart, I could not bestow upon you a higher meed of praise than that with which your own character and deportment have crowned you.

Now, you are young, and your footsteps are but new upon the path of life. You should 50 years hence, if a kind Providence should so long spare your life, that form will be bent under the weight of fourscore years, and that elastic tread will be changed to the tottering footstep of feeble old age; and then what a pleasing spectacle it will be to see the youth of to-day leaning for support upon the shoulders of those who were his friends in the Legislature of 1864. I know not of any of us will be living to see that day. But if, in the mysterious providence of God, we should depart, this mute stick will then become eloquent with a hundred tongues, speaking of joys that lie buried in the grave of the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four.

Mr. SMULL, in receiving the testimonial, (a beautiful gold-headed cane) said: This expression of the warm feelings of my friends finds me incapable of making an adequate acknowledgment in words; and I am left to the alternative of receiving it with my simple thanks.

Mr. QUIGLEY offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the members of this House tender to the first assistant clerk, James C. Brown, Esq., their grateful acknowledgments for the faithful discharge of his duties during the session of the Legislature.

Mr. QUIGLEY then proceeded to present to Mr. Brown, the gold-headed cane saying: Mr. Speaker, the Democratic members of this House, appreciating the many kindnesses of our first assistant clerk, have charged me with a very unpleasant duty. In a word, Mr. Speaker, they have charged me to censure our assistant clerk. [Laughter.] But they have also charged me, in doing so, not to hurt him in any way. As our time is fast running out, I will not detain the House by a speech, but without saying more, will present to Mr. Brown this testimonial.

Mr. BROWN, in responding, said: Gentlemen, I accept of this testimonial with gratitude which words are not able to express. I certainly had no right to expect this testimonial of regard from the Democratic members of the House, or the very distinguished man, in whose presence I have the honor to be seated. We, in the performance of our services in the resolution which has been passed. Such a present as this overcomes me. Permit me, however, to say that, in the performance of my duties, I have ever endeavored to discharge them impartially without respect to party. Although I am indebted, it is true, to the Republican side of the House for my position, I have no doubt that I am indebted to the Democrats of the whole House, Democrats as well as Republicans, and that I have so far succeeded in discharging my duties as not to receive the censure of either side, certainly gratifies me exceedingly. I delight to be censored under such circumstances. Permit me to tender to you all my thanks. I will treasure this testimonial, and will ever look upon it with feelings of great pleasure.

Mr. JOSEPHS offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That our thanks are hereby tendered to the transcribing clerks, for their promptitude and efficiency in the discharge of the arduous duties devolving on them during this session.

Mr. Speaker JOHNSON said: Gentlemen, officers of this House, I accept this handsome gift of yours with feelings of gratitude; and I shall ever prize it highly, not merely on account of its intrinsic worth, but in view of the kind feelings which have prompted those who gave it. We met comparatively as strangers; we separate as friends. It is often said that the true method by which to discover the qualities of a man is to accompany him on a long sea voyage, or a long journey by land. We, in the performance of our several duties, have journeyed together on the same road for four months; and let me say, gentlemen, that if, during that time, I have not been able and heartily supported in my relation as Speaker of this House, I have been unconscious of the fact. When I have thought of the aid which I have received at this desk—when I have thought of the aid which I have received at your hands—I have exclaimed to myself, "Was ever man in this position sustained as I have been?" And, gentlemen, when, after our separation, we look back to our associations connected with this House, I, for one, will always revert to them with feelings of pleasure, and I never will I be able to think of those who presented it.

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives, the dial admonishes me that it is proper that I should be brief in what I shall say to you. I have made no preparation for this occasion. I have thought that the occasion would suggest what might be called for. What has been said to-day has been so far in advance of anything that I had a right to expect or hope for that I scarcely know what to say in reply to your words of kindness; or how to express my gratitude for your acts of generosity. When we meet here four months ago, many of us met as former friends, but a still greater number as strangers to each other. You placed me in this high and responsible position. I entered upon its duties with a sincere distrust of my capabilities to perform all that might be incumbent upon me. I appealed to you for aid in my weakness, and that appeal did not fall upon unwilling ears or ungenerous hearts. Through this long and laborious session, I have frequently felt that I have erred. I have felt that in that respect I have perhaps been weaker than the ordinary weakness of mortality. But I protest, gentlemen, in your presence and before Heaven, that those errors were not the result of any want of the functions of this Chair, but at any time felt himself aggrieved, let him put it down as certain as that we live and breathe, that there was no spirit of malevolence—no act of intended unkindness on the part of the Speaker. When we separate to-day, we separate, so far as I am concerned, wholly and unreservedly as friends. There has been no act of this session, no act of this day, that can leave in my heart an unpleasant recollection.

This session has been distinguished by unusual kindness of feeling. I served as a member of this House through the session preceding this, and I have been associated with others who have served here through many years; and it has been a matter of general remark that their has been less of personal asperity, less of personal unkindness, than has ever been known at any previous session. This might be expected. We have among us men of unusual ability—many men of great kindness of heart, and as a general rule, men of courteous and devoted deportment in their social intercourse. Gentlemen, in making men of acknowledged ability, many men who have already had their mark in the history of this State and of this nation, is I feel, a high honor—one which I will recollect with gratitude to my dying day. When I think of the high character of some of the men who sit in this Hall, of their great goodness of heart and their moral and intellectual worth, I feel that I have attained far beyond my deserts in the kindness and generosity with which they have sustained me at all times, and I feel that if I had not been sustained with this, I might say, munificence of kind men, my administration would have been a failure. Gentlemen, for the kindness, for the honor of which I have been the recipient, I will be forever grateful.

In making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less than just, if I should omit to say that I am under lasting obligations to the distinguished veteran who sits at this desk as Chief Clerk, and to the gentleman who sits before me with many years of experience—Mr. Smull. With Mr. BENDER I had an association as a member of this House, and in making this acknowledgment, I feel that I would be less