Extensive arrangements are being made by the Paxton Fire Company to render their pic-nic, on Wednesday, an occasion of more than ordinary interest. No doubt there will be a large attendance, as the Paxton boys are engaged in the praiseworthy work of building a new engine-house, and the profits of the pic-nic are to be devoted to the erection of the building.

THE Eighth Pennsylvania Reserves arrived here on Saturday afternoon, en route for Pitts-done, for the most part, in the midst of a drivhere on Saturday atternoon, at your beautiful and the mustered ing rain, the delegates wading from tent to burg, at which place they will be mustered tent in a very Slough of Despond. Hafer, James Brass, and a man by the name of Watt, succeeded in getting out of the water. The two boys drowned were mere lads from eight to ten years of age. Daniel Hafer and Reuben Wykoff, both leave families.

PRESENTATION OF A WATCH. - Interesting Occasion.—The complimentary benefit tendered by our citizens to Mr. S. S. Sanford, on Saturday evening, was one of more than ordinary interest. In addition to the large number of tickets disposed of, which alone rendered the occasion one of profit, a number of the friends of Mr. S. presented him with a magnificent gold watch and chain, as a token We must prepare for their relief. And every woman who gives a day's work in providing of their respect and esteem for the pioneer manager who has afforded the public so many opportunities to enjoy themselves, at the Opera House. Mr. Sanford fully appreciates the value of this handsome gift, and will ever hold in remembrance the generous donors. The entertainment given by the opera troupe was excellent, and, as usual, Sanford was the great attraction.

We would remind our readers that the Opera semble there. A splendid programme has supplies by James McCormick, Jr., Esq. been prepared for this evening.

The United States Christian Commission on the Field.

The following interesting account of the work of the Christian Commission among the wounded at Belle Plain and Fredericksburg, is from the pen of John Y. Foster, Esq., of Harper's Weekly, who has been spending short term as delegate of the Commission: George H. Stewart, President Christian Commis sion:

Just returned from a week's labor as a dele gate of the Commission, among the sick and wounded soldiers of the Army of the Potomac, I hasten to report to you what I have seen and know of the condition of affairs in that now important field.

In company with Dr. George S. Ward, of Newark, N. J., and Mr. Paul A. Davis, of Philadelphia, I reached Washington on the morning of Wednesday, May 11th. There we were ing of Wednesday, that I in. I there we were joined by some fifteen or more other delegates, and at four o'clock in the afterneon left by steamer for Belle Plain, General Grant's base of supplies, taking with us a large quantity of hospital stores. Owing to delays, we did not reach Belle Plain until the following day. we lended at Belle Plain at seven o'clock that evening. Such a scene as there presented itself probably was never before witnessed in this or any other land. The whole hill-side was literally crowded with wounded, many lying in the mud without shelter, exposed to the pelting rain; many limping through the gloom in search of a refuge; many crouching under dripping thickets; many lying right at the river's edge, with the flood creeping to their very feet. In all, not less than ten thousand sick and wounded men were thus grouped slong the dark and desolate hills of whom had not tasted food for fortyeight hours, and many of whom had received on medical attention whatever from the time of legying the battle-field. The delegates, immediately upon getting our stores, proceeded earnestly to the work of relief, furnishing coffee, food, and stimulants; washing and cleansing the wounded, and in every way positive to the complete. This was sible ministering to their comfort. where we were welcomed with blessings; and it was a pleasure of the purest type and character to contribute to the consolation of the brave men who, suffering for liberty, submitted to every pain and hurt without a single murmur or complaint.

The force of workers having been increased by fresh arrivals, several of us proceeded on Friday to Fredericksburg, where assistance was urgently needed. Here we found every filled with wounded-not less than seven thousand in all. The Commission had several days before established its headquarters in a large building on a principle street, and from thence supplies were furnished to the hospitals, which, but for this, would have been comparatively destitute of necessary stores. By Friday night over fifty delegates were hard at work in the hospitals, and by Sunday noon, with a largely increased force, the work, had been perfectly systematized, and every hospital was under excellent dis-cipline, and supplied with everything neces-sary for present operations. Among the delegates were several surgeons, who were promptly assigned by the Medical Director, and labored night and day among the wound-ed, whose comforts they promoted largely. When we left the field supplies were still coming forward, and delegates constantly arriving. But trains of wounded were also coming in, and the demand for help was in-In coming up we aided in caring for a boat load of wounded, from Belle Plain Washington, dressing some of their wounds, and furnishing such food as we

There are in Virginia, and about Washington, at least thirty thousand men who are in need of help from this Commission. Body and soul invite Christian labor and sympathy. They expect our aid. They have learned to look for the Commission wherever pain is to be relieved; our badge is everywhere a pass-port to their favor. We must not disappoint their expectation. The Christian men and women of the North owe it to our gallant loyal-souled defenders, to minister, in every emergency, to their necessities, whether physical or spiritual. Help is needed; supplies are needed; shirts, drawers, stores of every description. Every loyal person's nimble finger should be employed in this behalf. Every loyal man's purse should be opened in this cause. The necessity, already great will yet be augmented. The desperate, decisive battles are yet to be fought. Thousands of men must yet fall. clothing; every man who gives a dime out of his fullness; every boy, every girl who may contribute to your Commission fund will earn a recompense which, in coming years, shall sweeten every cup, brighten every sorrow, and make the darkest day beautiful with the mem-ory of good deeds kindly done for freedom's

THE Chambersburg Repository contains the following; "General S. Wiley Crawford, the gallant young commander of the Pennsylvania Reserves, has been reported killed or captured; but we have seen a letter from him, dated Thursday last, which removes all doubts as to his safety. His brave command, sadly thinned by its many heroic conflicts with the enemy, has again been terribly decimated. The total loss of the Reserves is one hundred and ten officers and two thousand two hundred and ninety-four men killed wounded and missing, including eight hundred and seventy captured in the early part of the great strug-

THE WOUNDING OF COL. HAMBRIGHT.—The rumor that Col. Hambright of the 79th Penn'a regiment, had been wounded, was current here during the past week. A dispatch from the Colonel, dated Nashville Hospital, near Tunnel Hill, Georgia, May 11th, gives the following particulars:

"I was struck in the side by a piece of a shell on Monday afternoon, soon after advancing on the enemy. My injuries are slight, and I have reason to be thankful for the escape from instant death. The force of the piece must have been broken by the limbs of the trees and bushes, as the gun was quite close to where I was struck. My side is bruised considerably, and one rib broken, but this will soon mend, and I expect to be with the reciment in a faw days. with the regiment in a few days.
