EVENING EDITION.

The Forged Proclamation.

The Albany Evening Journal calls to mind a precedent, in England, to the case of Howard now in Fort Lafayette. The celebrated case of Lord Cochrane, which occurred in 1814, during the great war between France and England. Charles Random de Beranger, Sir Thomas Cochrane, Andrew Cochrane Johnstone, Richard Gathorne Butt, Ralph Sandom, Alexander McRae, John Peter Holloway and Henry Eyre, subjects of Great Britain, were convicted in it. It occurred to some one that by forging a document announcing decisive results on the Continent stocks would suddenly go up, they might sell at a large advance, and make their fortunes. Accordingly, the first-named of their number wrote a letter purporting to have been addressed by a high government official to the British Admiral commanding at Deal, announcing the defeat of the French, the death of Napoleon, &c. Here is the document:

"Dover, One o'clock, a.m. Feb. 21, 1814.

"To the Honorable J. Foley, Post Admiral, Deal, &c., &c.

"Sir: I have the honor to acquaint you that the L'Aigle from Calais, Pierre Duquin, master, has this moment landed me near Dover, to proceed to the capital with dispatches of the happiest nature. I have pledged my honor that no harm shall come to the crew of the L'Aigle; even with a flag of truce they immediately stood for sea. Should they be seen I have to entreat you immediately to liberate them. My anxiety will not allow me to say more for your gratification than that the Allies obtained a final victory; that Bonaparte was overtaken by a party of Sacken's Cossacks, who immediately slew him, and divided his body between them. General Platoff saved Paris from being reduced to ashes. The Allied Sovereigns are there, and the white cockade is universal; and immediate peace is certain. In the utmost haste, I entreat your consideration, and have the honor to be,

"Sir, your most obidient servant,

"R. DU BOURG,
"Lieut.-Colonel and Aid-de-Camp to Lord Cathcart."

The news was believed, the funds took a sudden start, and the cunning forgers reaped a golden harvest.

They were subsequently arrested on charge of conspiracy against the public welfare and the interests of the realm, and tried in the Court of King's Bench. The trial was fully reported. It lasted two days, and was sharply conducted on both sides. Some of the evidence is very amusing, while the speeches of the counsel were most elaborate and exhaustive. The forgery was proved, and the defendants found guilty. Cochrane and Butt were sentenced to pay a fine of one thousand pounds each, Holloway to pay a fine of five hundred pounds, all are to be severally imprisoned in the custody of the Marshal of the Marshalsea of our Lord and King, for twelve calendar months, and Berenger, Cochrane and Butt to be set in and upon the pillory opposite the Royal Exchange, in the city of London, for one hour, between the hours of twelve at noon and two in the afternoon; and that they be severally committed to the custody of the Marshal, and severally imprisoned until their fines be paid.

It ought to be said that Thomas Lord Cochrane was able to prove, after many years, that he was innocent of any share in the transaction, and was publicly restored to the honors he had lost. His cousin, Andrew Cochrane Johnstone, was guilty, and was rightly punished, with the other conspirators. He basely made use of Lord Cochrane's character and house to lend countenance to the fraud. The Evening Journal remarks:

"We have spoken of the two cases as parallel. They are not so, strictly speaking. The offence in the case of Howard is the greater. The English forgers sought to put money in their pockets by stimulating the public confidence; the American forger aimed at a similar result by making it appear that the country was on the verge of ruin. The former played upon the hopes—the latter upon the despair of the people. The one endeavored to compass no public mischief beyond the narrow circle of the stock-jobbers; the other committed an act that might have for its effect, if it did not have for its design, the destruction of the national credit, and the overthrow of the government. If Cochrane and his confreres were put in the pillory what punishment should be meted out to Howard?"

LATER FROM GENERAL GRANT.

A Stand to be Made North of the Chickahominy.

Later From Gen. Sherman.

WASHINGTON, May 31—3.15, P. M.

To Major General Dix, New York:

We have dispatches from Gen. Grant down to 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

There seemed (the dispatch says) to be some prospect of making a stand North of the Chickahominy; his forces were on the Mechanicsville road, south of the Tolopotomy creek and between that stream and Hanes' shop, his right resting on Shady Grove. Dispositions for an attack were being made by Gen. Grant.

Wilson's cavalry had been ordered to destroy the railroad bridges over the Little river and South Anna, and break up both routes from those rivers to two miles southwest of Hanes' shop, where the headquarters of our army were established. There is as yet no telegraphic lines of communication with Washington.

A dispatch from General Sherman, dated yesterday, May 30, 11 A. M., reports changes in the position of the armies. Some slight engagements had occurred subsequent to the affair of Saturday.

No intelligence from any other quarter has been received by this Department.

EDWIN M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

From Washington.

NOTHING LATER FROM THE FRONT.

WASHINGTON, May 31.

The steamer Georgia, from Port Royal, brought up to-day about one hundred sick men.

She left Port Royal at eleven o'clock yesterday. All the Government property at Port Royal has been placed on transports, and they were ordered to clear the river by nine o'clock to-day.

No cannonading heard there when she left, and if there had been any fighting it was with musketry.

Parties who came up on the Georgia report that Fredericksburg has been totally evacuated by our forces, and is now in possession of rebel scouting parties and guerillas. The transports Narragansett and Givan having become disabled were sent from Port Royal to Baltimore to be repaired.

Late from Richmond.

Excitement in Richmond.

Federal Prisoners at Libby.

Captain R. S. Britton, of the 1st New York Dragoons, captured near Todd's Tavern in the recent fight with Sheridan, arrived this morning from Richmond, having left there on Saturday last. Three cavalrymen were paroled with him, and one chaplain and seven surgeons released, and sent down on the same boat. They had only been in Richmond about ten days, and were very fortunate in so soon escaping from their captivity.

AFFAIRS IN RICHMOND.

Captain Britton represents the excitement at Richmond as very great, especially during the recent fights at Drury's Bluff, when the cannonading, and even the volleys of musketry, could distinctly be heard in the city. Women and children who are able to leave are moving off in large numbers, though the greater proportion of the present inhabitants of the city were compelled by their necessities to remain with their families. There is still a large population in the city, and the military authorities express great confidence in the ability of Lee to frustrate all the plans of General Grant.

The rebel Government is impressing provisions, and gathering as large a stock of supplies into the city as possible. Flour is held at from $400 to $500 per barrel, and everything is correspondingly high.

OUR PRISONERS AT RICHMOND.

It has been asserted by some of the correspondents from Bermuda Hundred that Gen. Butler lost several thousand men, with Gen. Heckman when taken prisoner. The lowest estimate given was 1,500, but we learn from Capt. Britton that the whole number captured from Gen. Butler is but 460. Indeed all the prisoners brought to Richmond from General Butler and the Army of the Potomac up to Saturday last did not exceed eight hundred.

FEDERAL OFFICERS AT LIBBY.

The following are the names of the Federal officers at Libby Prison on Saturday last, all of whom have been captured during the present campaign, those previously occupying it having been sent to Georgia. There are also about a dozen wounded officers in the hospital, the names of whom Captain Britton could not ascertain:

CAPTURED FROM GENERAL BUTLER'S COMMAND, MAY 16, 1864.
