GRANTING THE

FOR PRESIDENT,

OF ILLINOIS.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

About one hundred and eighty picked guerrillas from Imboden and Moseby's command, under Maj. Davis, entered Hagerstown at 5 o'clock this A. M. They are robbing the stores, and have fired the engine house Thurston's warehouse and a pile of about 200 tons of Government hay. They intend burning Zeller & Co.'s warehouse] and threaten to burn the town. The turn table of the railroad is not yet disturbed.

The rebels are heavily laden with plunder pilfered from men. women and children.-They started a squad of about twenty out the Greencastle road and fifty out the Leitersburg pike, it is supposed to meet any force which the flames of the burning town might attract to its rescue.

The rebel General M'Causland, with his brigade, was at Williamsport this morning .-Scouts from that direction report the indications in his camp that he will leave there this morning.

A high wind is blowing and the flames are reported to me, by fugitives from Hagerstown, to be rapidly spreading through other portions of the town.

I have no communication with M'Lean. [It is fair to suppose that M'Lean, with his forces, has encountered the twenty guerrillas sent out from Hagerstown towards Greencastle, as he must be somewhere on the road between those two localities.-ED. TEL.]

LATER.

No communication has yet been had from the force sent out by Gen. Couch, under command of Lieut. M'Lean, from Greencastle. STILL LATER.

At 11 o'clock, A. M., to-day, dense volumes of smoke were observed to continue to rise from Hagerstown. This act of incendiarism is regarded as a base violation of all the rules of war. as the people of Hagerstown yesterday paid $20,000 and contributed 1,500 outfits, as a subsidy to relieve the town from pillage or destruction.

The force sent out by Gen. Couch from Greencastle under Lt. McLean, has been heard from. He is in a position to operate effectually against the foraging squads of rebels now plundering the vicinity of Hagerstown. THE VERY LATEST FROM HAGERS.

town, and notwithstanding they had made a solemn agreement not to disturb the property if the required amount of money and outfits were produced, they burnt a large portion of city who have come here for protection. Let them also be required to shoulder a musketand if this be done we shall be able to repel any cavalry raid that might be made this way. We hope that a general meeting will be called at the Court House and that uniform measures be at once adopted for our protection. Let every business man close his store or shop at 5 or 6 o'clock and connect himself and his employees with companies to defend the city.

Some mode ought also be adopted, which would prevent similar scenes as we have witnessed for the last two days in this city. It seems that a large portion of the able-bodied men residing in the Cumberland Valley, have left their homes and firesides; we have seen more able-bodied men with wagons and horses, than they numbered animals. This is a disgrace to themselves and cruel treatment to their families, who have been left to the tender mercies of a ruthless mob and guerrillas. These men are now lounging on the street corners, discussing the probabilities of the rebels coming here, and finding fault with the government in not protecting their homes which they have disgracefully left. A man that is not willing to protect himself is certainly not entitled to the aid of his neighbors,

Volunteer or Draft.

It is useless to disguise the fact, that the Government must have troops to re-inforce our armies in the field. The people must decide whether the troops are to be furnished by volunteering or the draft. Heretofore, owing to the defects in the law on the subject, conscription was rendered ineffectual for practical purposes. The law, as it existed, afforded the very easiest and sure means of avoiding its own requirements; so that while the Government was expending large sums of money to secure soldiers, it required only the disbursebursement of a comparatively small sum to evade conscription. Every candid man saw the folly of such proceedings. It was admitted on all sides, that if the war was to be conducted successfully, these defects in the conscription law must be amended. Hence, Congress, at its last session, passed a law sufficiently stringent for all practical purposes. Under the provisions of this law, so far as the Government is concerned, the citizen capable of service in the field, is confronted with the alternative either to enlist or be drafted. The Government will no longer commute services in the army for money. What it wants, what it must have, are soldiers to fight its battles. If these fail to volunteer, then the citizen must submit to a draft. At this juncture in the developments of the conflict there is but one alternative left the citizen, namely, to go into the substitute market and find a man not liable for draft, and still capable of service, who will represent him in the army.

It is no pleasing task for the authorities to enforce a draft. If the President could control the business of recruiting our armies, we feel certain that he would prefer to fill up their | Williams, shoulder. to the effect that the main body of the rebels decimated ranks by volunteering. But if the people neglect, from apathy or indifference, to volunteer, and if the people intend that the authority of this government must be maintained, then a draft becomes inevitable. There is no possible chance of avoiding the draft, unless the people volunteer. Perhaps it would have been better had the law been so framed as to compel all to enter the army, when drafted, who were capable of service. Indeed, we believe it will yet come to this .--We incline to the notion that when the European sympathizers with the slaveholders are convinced that they need men, they will begin to furnish the rebel armies with these, as they have already furnished them with all the necessary supplies to conduct their hellish work. ## A Timely and Sensible Order.

General Couch has just issued an order, directing that neither horses or wagons be permitted to pass east from the Cumberland Valley, over the Susquehanna river. This order is well-timed and sensible. The people of the Cumberland Valley, or at least the able-bodied men who, mounted on horser. have been riding into Harrisburg within the past three days, should show a disposition to remain at home and arm for the protection of their lives and property. If they did this, there would be no trouble in raising troops for their relief and defence. As it is, even new hundreds and thousands of men are offering their services to march into the Cumberland Valley to meet the enemy. But we submit whether it is encouraging to such as these, as they enter Harrisburg from all parts of the State, to meet swarms of able and stalwart men from the Cumberland Valley, shrinking, as it were, to risk a peril in the defence of their own homes.

-We heartily commend the order of Gen. Oouch. It will have a tendency to stay panic, and assure the people of the necessity of organizing for home protection. Let all, then, who are at home in the Cumberland Valley, prepare there to meet and not flee from an advancing enemy. And let all, too, who have fled from the valley, at once return to their homes.

Get Your Substitutes.

There is very little doubt that we shall soon have another call from the President for at least three hundred thousand men; whether for one, two or three years, we cannot say. The quotas will be estimated by States; districts and wards as heretofore. Now, in view of the certainty of this draft, we would suggest to those who have the means to spare, to get a substitute while they may he had at reasonable rates. They can be secured now at three to four hundred dollars each, while subsequent to the draft they will range from eight hundred to one thousand. In this manner those who are wealthy can relieve those of lesser means by filling up the quotas of their respective wards. The system is already secared and placed in the service immedistoly.

Resisting the Tax Law,

Two fermers in Hunterdon, New Jersey, undertook to resist the collection of the internal revenue tax by refusing to pay it. The consequence was they were indicted, plead guilty, and each had to pay a fine of $500. The amount of tax which they refused to pay was one dollar. A man that undertakes to resist the Federal laws, when properly executed, will always come out of the contest second best. And yet we need not be surprised to hear of repeated instances of these attempts to resist the law. Simply because the conductor of every copperhead news-paper in the country is now laboring to in-"Occanica." In conres of time he soucht baptism, and was soon Elder Gibson. He cite the ignorant portion of the community to oppose the legal authorities. Indeed, the copperhead leaders seem to have no purpose in view now but to provoke a collision between a portion of the masses of the loyal States and the Government.

The Huntingdon Congressional District. The contest for the Union nomination for Congress, in the Huntingdon Congressional District, is very spirited. # Trouble Among the Mormons-

An Elder Expelled, &c.

The Descret News (organ of Brigham Young at Great Salt Lake City) has a long story about the expulsion of a Mormon elder from the company of the "saints." The elder in question is Walter M. Gibson, formerly known as Captain Gibson. It seems that he arrived in Utah, on his way to the Malay Islands, in went down to the Pacific coast, lectured at San Francisco, and was accused of being a Mormon, but denied it. Finally he reached the Sandwich Islands, and soon made his presence felt among the natives, and was apidly making a "good thing" out of them, when a committee from Utah went out to in vestigate his acts. They found him living in clover, possessing acres of land by thousands, his sheep by the same figures, and his horses and cattle, geese and turkeys in droves. But, more than all this he dispensed Mornion offices and titles. He had ordained hosts of Kamehameha's subjects as apostles, high priests, "seventies," elders and everything lse; and even the women received from his hand the honors of priestesses and other titheir veneration, while he touched their property. Our Mormon delegation visited him and remonstrated with him; but he couldn't their departure, The News thus consoles the brathren : It is not the first time in the history of this
