Second Ward Meeting. An adjourned meeting of the citizens of the Second ward will be held this (Thursday) evening, at 7 1/2 o'clock, at the Second Ward House, for the purpose of devising means to procure volunteers to fill the quota of the ward under the late call of the President. Let there be a full attendance.

LAST EVENING we were favored with several showers of rain, which have had the effect of cooling the atmosphere, and will cause the growing corn and potatoes to improve.

MUSTERED IN.—We learn that a company of cavalry was mustered into the one hundred days' service, at Lancaster, yesterday, by Lieut. W. T. Melbourne, of the 15th United States infantry, who is a mustering officer.

SENT FORWARD.—One hundred and ninety-three deserters and stragglers left here this morning under guard, en route for the Army of the Potomac. These men were forwarded by Capt. Opdyke, Provost Marshal of this post.

A STRANGER had one of his pockets cut from his clothing last night, while seated in one of our hotels. The pocket contained a wallet of money amounting to upwards of $150.00. He was doubtless followed to the hotel by some of the sharpers who infest our city.

VIOLATION OF MARKET ORDINANCE.—William D. Jack was before the Mayor, yesterday, on a charge of forestalling the market by purchasing a large quantity of pears, with the intention of retailing them. He was discharged upon payment of four dollars, fine and costs.

WOUNDED IN BATTLE.—We learn that Sergeant Osgood, of the 11th Penna. regiment, and who was recently on duty in the Provost Marshal's office, in this city, was wounded in a recent engagement at Marietta, Ga., and has had his right leg amputated. Sergt. O. was well known here.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.—Mr. Jackson Humes, charged with setting fire to Mr. Osman's shop, had another hearing yesterday afternoon, and was committed to answer at court. No new developments were made.—It is hoped Mr. H. may yet be able to establish his innocence, as his friends can scarcely believe him to be guilty. The case is certainly a singular one.

ATTEMPTS AT BURGLARY.—Last night attempts were made by thieves to enter the house of P. K. Boyd and Daniel Reichert, on Chestnut street. At the former, an iron door opening into the cellar was opened, and at Reichert's a pane of glass was removed from one of the windows. Several dogs made a noise which aroused one of the neighbors, whose effort to quiet the animals is supposed to have frightened the burglars, and they fled without accomplishing their object.

POLK RAISING.—On Saturday last, a large Union pole was raised at Manadaville (in this county), as an evidence of the loyalty of the citizens and their hearty endorsement of the nomination of Lincoln and Johnson. A large flag was flung to the breeze amid the shouts of those present, and cheers for the Union nominees. A salute was then fired, after which a brief but very patriotic address was delivered by A. H. Boyer, Esq.

A GRAND COMBINATION.—The great combination of equestrian and zoological attractions formed by the union of Thayer & Noyes' popular Circus troupe, with Van Amburgh & Co.'s Menagerie, which is to be here on the 22d and 23d, presents inducements for a general patronage such as are seldom offered in a single establishment. This is the first season of the combination, and we learn that the favor extended to it is such as to well reward the energetic projectors of the enterprise for the enormous expenditure they have incurred in effecting the junction of two such extensive companies. Van Amburgh's Menagerie has a world-wide reputation, and the collection the present season is said to be one of the finest ever brought together on this side of the Atlantic, comprising many extremely rare specimens of animated nature. The huge elephant "Hannibal," the largest quadruped on this continent, and much the largest animal of his species ever exhibited in America, is included in the Menagerie, and is an exhibition of himself. The performances given at each entertainment will be of the most varied character, including every description of equestrian, gymnastic and acrobatic feats, introducing one of the most talented and complete circus companies ever organized. Dr. Thayer, the inimitable humorist, will administer his sovereign remedy for low spirits in allopathic doses, and altogether, visitors may depend upon receiving a full equivalent for the price of a ticket. The feats of Mr. Noyes' beautiful trick horse "Grey Eagle," and the performances of Mous, Davis, a pupil of the great Van Amburgh, in the lions' den will be found worthy of particular attention.

CAPT. SANNO'S company of cavalry received their horses this afternoon. They are splendid animals.

FORTY-ONE colored recruits have been sent from this city to Camp William Penn, since Monday last, for the one hundred days' service.

The borough council of Chambersburg offer a bounty of $100 for volunteers, to be credited on the quota of the town. Term of service, one year.

APPOINTMENTS.—Route agency between Philadelphia and Harrisburg, Mr. Andrew Sibley is appointed, in the place of J. M. Krieger, declined.

Baggage master, Baltimore to Harrisburg.—Mr. H. S. Nones is appointed in charge of the mails over this route, in place of Geo. Calder.

The friends of George Sherman, a private in company G, 18th Penn's Vols., are informed that he died in the hospital at City Point, on the 12th inst., from disease contracted in the army. His remains were decently interred near City Point, and the grave is marked. We have been unable to learn Mr. Sherman's place of residence previous to his enlistment.

THE QUOTA FROM DAUPHIN COUNTY FULL.—We have the gratification to announce that the quota from Dauphin county, under the one hundred day call, is more than full. The State authorities fixed our quota at 402, and she paid the bounty to 445 men, all which have been credited to the county of Dauphin. This county is the first that has filled her entire quota under all the calls thus far made, and her citizens are now actively engaged to fill her share of the call just issued by the President.

PUT IN SUBSTITUTES.—It is now just about an established fact that volunteering cannot be carried out to an extent sufficient to avoid the draft, and the next best plan is for individuals to obtain substitutes and have them mustered in, in advance of the draft. Business men all over the country are taking advantage of this method to clear themselves, while it fills up the ranks without any expense to the Government. It seems, too, like the most independent and satisfactory way of doing the business, relieving the principal at once of all further trouble and securing to him a certainty, which will not interfere with his business.

The impression prevails to some extent that only aliens can be put into the army. This is a mistake. There are two other classes. First, men who have rendered two years' service, and second, minors under the age of twenty years. The latter class will exempt the principal for one year in any event, and as much longer as the principal and substitute shall not be drafted. As the latter will not be enrolled when enlisted, there is scarcely a chance of his being enrolled, and therefore the principal will be exempt for the full term of three years.

A THRILLING INCIDENT.—Worthy of Imitation.—The Hagerstown Herald of 4th inst. gives us the following account of the heroic conduct of a good old Union man, in Maryland, who determined to protect his property from the thieving rebels who recently invaded that State. The example is worthy of imitation by our Pennsylvania farmers. If they would defend their property as this man did, instead of leaving their homes, the rebels would not be likely to trouble them for their stock. Says the Herald and Torch:

A Thrilling Incident.—The records of ancient or modern history may be traced in vain for a more remarkable instance of heroic fortitude, sublime patriotism and unwavering faith in the Almighty arm, than that which we relate below, the particulars of which are furnished by the Rev. Mr. (Startzman), who witnessed the closing scenes of the occurrence. Mr. George Blessing, a farmer, residing near Myersville, Frederick county, (Md.) when it was learned that the rebels were prowling through the neighborhood stealing horses and committing depredations generally, was importuned by his family to remove his stock beyond the reach of the marauders, which he declined doing, avowing his purpose to defend his property to the last extremity. He had ten guns in his house, which he proposed to load and put in readiness, in the event of a necessary arising for using them. At noon, on the 2d of July, he gathered his family about him and read aloud the 91st Psalm—"I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress; my God! in Him will I trust."—When he engaged in devotional worship, imploring the Most High to shield and protect his household from the assaults and rapacity of the enemy who were laying waste his native soil, and seeking to overthrow the best Government ever devised by the wisdom of man, pleading God to uphold and sustain the old flag of his fathers. He had two guns, he repaired, with his son, a lad yet in his teens, to his barn, from which he described a squad of rebels approaching on horseback. Handing him his gun, he ordered him to take a certain position, and should the squad dismount and attempt to break open the doors of the stable, which were fastened by locks, he should fire upon them. The rebels advanced to within a short distance of the stable, when one of the number threw himself from his horse and commenced the work of demolishing the stable door. At that moment the old man and his son fired simultaneously upon the offenders, both balls taking effect in his right arm. The balance of the party scampered away, leaving their wounded comrade behind, and swearing vengeance upon the resistants. Before they had escaped beyond the reach of Mr. B.'s gun, he fired a second shot at the fleeing foe, but with what result he could not tell. The rebel at whom he aimed fell forward on his horse, evidently wounded, but he managed to get away. Mr. Blessing's neighbors, learning what he had done, waited upon him, and, by every argument they could advance, endeavored to dissuade him from his purpose to "stand his ground." They tried to prevail upon him to leave the vicinity and seek refuge from the infuriated rebels, who would return with reinforcements, and not only destroy his property but would murder him and his son. The brave old patriot was immovable in his purpose to defend his property, which he in the event his life should be forfeited. He expressed infinite confidence in his God and his country, and assured that needed strength would be given him in the unequal contest which might ensue. The guns were reloaded, and father and son resumed their former positions and awaited the return of the foe. They were not long kept in suspense. Twenty mounted rebels, accompanied by four citizens of Myersville, with whom Mr. B. was acquainted, were advancing on his premises. When within a short distance of Mr. B.'s barn the citizens were ordered in front of the rebel squad, as a protection to them from the bullets which the cowardly land pirates knew were ready to greet them. Undismayed, Mr. B. warned his acquaintances about moving a step forward, assuring them that should they do so they would meet with swift and certain death. Intimidated and bewildered, these the rebels stood, hesitating what to do. Every shot fired in the direction where they supposed the "Yankee soldiers" were secreted, was promptly and vigorously answered. "What should they do?" reasoned these baffled, thieving sons of Mars. Evidently they were fighting superior numbers, and would not hazard the chances for success with their present force, but would go back for artillery. As they were wheeling their horses to retreat Mr. B. shot the leader of the band through the head, killing him instantly. A second time Mr. Blessing's neighbors waited upon him and urged him, in the most earnest language they could employ, to desist from the hazardous course he was pursuing. Their entreaties were unavailing. He was determined to fight to the bitter end, severe as the consequences might prove to him. Would God permit him to kill one more traitor he was willing to die. Momentarily expecting the marauders to return with artillery, Mr. B. shouldered two guns, and posted himself in a clump of trees on a lane leading from the public road to his residence. He had been there but a short time when he observed heavy clouds of dust rising from the road, some distance off. A large body of horsemen were moving toward him. In the advance he noticed what he conceived to be a rebel scout. In an instant the old man raised his gun and was in the act of firing, when the object of his aim fell back into the main column of soldiers riding rapidly up the lane. He now recognized the Blue Coats, who, having heard of the heroic conduct of the dauntless old patriot and his worthy son, were hastening to their rescue. The scene which followed can better be imagined than described.

Mr. Blessing is upwards of seventy years of age, enjoys good health, and is brimful of the spirit of '76. He is an elder in the Myersville Lutheran Church, over which Mr. Startzman presides.

(For the Telegraph.) HARRISBURG, July 6, 1864. MR. EDITOR.—Will you have the kindness to publish the following tribute of respect to a brave soldier who fell at the battle of the Wilderness, near Spotsylvania, Virginia, on the 12th day of May last?

Capt. John M'CORD Guyer was born in Harrisburg, in December, 1839, and was removed to Bradford county when a small boy. In the spring of 1861, when the wicked rebellion of the South was organized, and threatening Washington city, young Guyer volunteered for the army, and was placed in a company of volunteers assisted in raising a company of volunteers in Bradford county. The company was soon full, and he was elected First Lieutenant. With the Bradford county volunteers he marched to Harrisburg, where they were organized and entered the United States service as the Pennsylvania Reserves. I need say nothing of the noble conduct and valuable services of the Pennsylvania Reserves—history has recorded this far above the powers of my feeble pen. Lieutenant Guyer belonged to Co. "I," Sixth regiment, and was the youngest commissioned officer in the regiment.

The regiment moved to Franklin county and drilled for some time near Greencastle. From there they marched to the defence of Washington under Gen. McCall, and were engaged at Tennyton, near Georgetown; but they soon moved into Virginia and went into action.

Lieut. Guyer first faced the foe at Drainesville and distinguished himself in his first fight as a brave, cool officer. He betrayed no excitement and perfectly understood and obeyed all orders from his superior officers. His company were so well pleased with his conduct in this engagement that they presented him with a handsome new sword.

Lieut. Guyer was with Gen. McClellan through the Peninsula campaign; with Gen. Pope in the second battle of Bull Run; again, with Gen. McClellan at the battles of South Mountain and Antietam, Md.; then with Gen. Burnside in his hard fought battles at Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville.

In 1863, he was promoted to a captaincy, and took charge of his old company. Under Gen. Grant he fought from the Rapidan to Spotsylvania. On the 11th of May he wrote his parents, saying that his company had fought seven days, and still he had escaped a wound; but this was his last letter; the next day he was killed instantly; a ball struck him in the eye and passed through his head.

Capt. Guyer served his country in the army a little over three years, and was engaged in the front of as many desperate battles as any man of his age in the United States, and in all those conflicts he bore a conspicuous part for honor and bravery. The first wound he received was the last, and to him the end of all earthly things. If I would attempt to describe the anguish of his parents and the home family, I would only be describing that of thousands of others in the same situation. They have the consolation of knowing that he died the death of a patriot in a righteous cause, and that his character for generosity, honor and noble bravery was unimpaired.

FACTS IN REGARD TO DRY GOODS.—We do not wish to be considered as alarmists, but a plain statement of facts compels us to say that with the opening of winter trade, purchasers must be prepared to pay a large advance on the present prices. This state of things can only continue for a short time, and we now respectfully advise (under the existing state of prices) those in want of Dry Goods, to purchase at once. The large and well selected stock of goods at C. L. Bowman's, No. 1, corner of Front and Market streets; is worth attention.

Bannart's Troches. For the cure of Hoarseness, Throat Diseases, &c., are specially recommended to ministers, singers and persons whose vocation involves the use of the voice in public. Manufactured only by C. A. BANNART & Co., Harrisburg, Pa., to whom all orders should be addressed. Sold by druggist every where. Read the following testimonials from some of our eminent clergymen:

HARRISBURG, Feb. 8th, 1864. C. A. BANNART.—Dear Sir: I have used Brown's Bronchial Troches, Wistar's Lozenges and other preparations for hoarseness and throat troubles, and in comparison with them all, can conscientiously commend your own as a most admirable specific for public speakers and singers, in cases of "hoarseness, coughs and colds." I have found them serving in time of need, most effectually. Yours truly, T. H. ROBINSON, Pastor of N. S. Presbyterian Church.

I agree with Mr. Robinson as to the value of Bannart's Troches. W. C. CATTELL, Late Pastor of O. S. Presbyterian Church.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 1, 64. To C. A. BANNART.—Dear Sir: In habits of speaking very frequently, and in places where the voice is very much taxed, I have found the effect of some good troches, and that want has been supplied in your excellent Troches. I consider them very far superior to any Lozenges that I have ever used, in removing speedily that hoarseness of the voice arising from its too frequent use, and impairing the effectiveness of the delivery of public addresses. Yours, &c., JNO. WALKER JACKSON, Pastor of the Locust St. Methodist Church.

To C. A. BANNART.—Dear Sir: Having used your Troches, I can say that they are the best I have ever tried, and take great pleasure in recommending them to all persons afflicted with sore throat or hoarseness of voice arising from public speaking or singing. Yours, &c., G. G. HAKESTRAW, Pastor of Ridge Avenue Methodist Church.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S OFFICE, HARRISBURG, Feb. 29, 1864. To C. A. BANNART.—Dear Sir:—I have found your Troches to be invaluable in relieving hoarseness and in strengthening the muscles of the throat. They impart clearness to the voice, and are certainly of great benefit to all public speakers. Yours, &c., H. H. HERR, District Attorney.
