In New Hugland, where the drought was the longest the yield of hay and petatices and dairy products, which are the principal seri-cultural reliance of New England farmers, is much greater than has been represented. The hay crop is larger than the average product, and has been secured under circumstances unusually favorable. The quantity of dairy produce will rather exceed than fall below the average of the best years. The potato crop in Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Vermont, has suffered extremely. But later plannings, and they include three quarters of the whole, are in a condition to be immensely benefitted by the recent favorable weather. Indian corn looks well and promises well: The early varieties have suffered, which makes green corn scarce and high, but their suffering in no way affects the general field crop. The yield will be a moderate average. Oats and wheat will also give a moderate average vield. The wheat crop of the West is also larger than was at first supposed. The Cincinnati Gazette gives the summing up of the wheat harvest as follows: Minnesota, an increase of 2,896,000 bushels; Wisconsin, one-third of an average erop; Iowa, a deficiency of about 1.400.000 bushels; Illinois, two thirds of an average crop, or a deficiency of 6,000,000 bushels; and in Indiana, a striplus of over $4,000,000 bushels. THE RESERVE TO SERVE Exemption of Hundred Day Med. " The Attorney General of the United States has given a decision, based upon General Sanford's order of the exemption of the New York Hundred Day Men. From the doonment we copy the following, as applicable in all sections: The militis of New York, having been called to meet an emergency for a term not exceed ing one hundred days, may all be discharged from service receive the draft shall actually take place, they may be discharged at any time by the President, and he is not bound to retain their services any longer than the public necessity requires them.

If the draft ordered on the 5th of September should be postponed, or not completed on that day, no question of exemption can rise except when the person claiming exemption is in the military service of the United States at the time when he shall be personally drafted. No draft will be required in New York, if that State shall fill its quots with volunteers. Hence, for this reason, the question may be purely a theoretical one. So also it will be borne in mindCible exemption from draft is a personal privilege; and to be used by for the benefit only of the person drafted; he may prefer to waive his exemption and to remain in the service. The question of the right to exemption arises only between the Government of the United States and the individual concerned.

The statement of the law by Gen. Sanford. on a misapprehension of the meaning of the statute. It is erroneous to say that "the members of those regiments now mustered on duty, when mustered into service by the United States for one hundred days, will be exempted from the draft which is to be made in September next." The people of Mobile are all ready for the fray. The people are satisfied with the conduct of Lieutenants Buchanan, Maury and Burnette of the navy. SECOND DISPATCH.

It is painfully humiliating to announce the hameful surrender of Fort Gaines at half past nine o'clock this morning, by Colonel Charles Anderson, of the 21st Alabama regi-ment. This principal work was provisioned for his months, and with a garrison of six hundred men he communicated with the enemy's fleet by flag of truce, with the sanction of General

General Page enquired by signal what his purpose was, but received no answer.
His attention was attracted by signal guns General Page repeatedly telegraphed to hold on to your fort. The same night he visited Fore Ga found Anderson on board the Yankee fleet arranging terms of capitulation.

He left peremptory orders for Anderson, on his return, not to surrender the fort, and relieved him of his command.

Fort Morgan signalled this morning, but no answer was received except the hoisting of the Yankee flag over the ramparts of Fort Gaines.

AMERICAN NAVAL AFFAIRS MOVIDINGS OF THE UNION AND REBEL WAR VESSELS ON AND OFF THE FRENCH COAST. [From Galignani's Messenger, July 28,]

An Ostend letter in the Independance men-flows the arrival in that port of two Confedrate war steamers, the screw corvette Butter-fly, Captain Bussell, and the paddle corvette Paul Jones, Captain Engeled.

The Vigie de Cherbourg says:—Three vessels belonging to the Federal States of America— the Niagara; the Sacramento and the Kear-sarge—and four belonging to the Captal sarge—and four belonging to the Confederates—the Georgia, the Florida, the Nouvel Alabama and the General Lee-have recently been met in Channel by several merchantmen. An action between them is expected.

This may be taken for what it is worth. The Georgia, it will be remembered, has been sold at Liverpool, and lies quietly in dock there, and as to some of the other vessels named, they read very much like phantom ships.

The Army and Navy Gazette thinks that the Confederates, in their late raid, might have taken Baltimore or Washington, or both, and that they have lost a golden moment. The Antwerp journals mention that the Sacramento (federal) quitted that port on French journals continued to essert that a fight will soon take place in the waters of the British Channel between federal and rebel Cinisers. THE QUEEN'S SPEECH.

On the afternoon of the 20th ult., Parliament was formarly prorogued. The Queen's speech was delivered by the Lord Chancellor. In regard to America the speech says.

Her Majesty deeply laments that the civil war in North America has not been brought to a close. Her Majesty will continue to ob-serve a strict neutrality between the belliger-ents, and would rejoice at a friendly reconciliation between the contending parties. Her Majesty has observed with satisfaction that the distress which the civil war in North America has created in some of the manufacturing districts has to a great extent abated. and her Majesty trusts that increased supplies of the raw materials of industry may be ex-tracted from countries by which it has hith erto been scantily furnished.

The other features of the speech are an ex pression of regret at the failure of the Dano-German Conference, and a hope that the riew negotiations may lead to peace; a reference to the cession of the Ionian Islands; to the satisfactory progress of commeace, &c., in India and in China; and to the war in New Rolls and in Smills, and to the war in New Zealand &c., winding up with an enumera-tion of the most important acts of the ses-sion, and an expression of satisfaction at the commercial position of the country.

THE DANO-GERMAN WAR.

On the 29th ult., in the House of Commons Lord Palmerston made some explanations as Lord Palmerston made some explanations as to the Danish question, and stated that the negotiations at Vienna would be carried on solely between the belligerents.
