The Case of Surgeon General Hammond The court marijal in the case of Surgeon General Hammond has completed its labors, and rendered a verdict which dismisses that officer in disgrace from the service, and debars him also, from ever holding any posi ion of honor or trust in the bestowal of the Government of the United States. This verdict has been approved by the President, and to-day he who only a few months since occupied one of the proudest and most honorable positions in the possession of any man in the world, is disgraced as low as the most abject felon, with the mark of crime indellibly stamped upon his forehead, a reproach to his countrymen and a disgrace to his kind. There is a moral in the fall of Hammond, which we trust will have its influence on all who aspire to positions in the gift of the Government. He was invested with dignity and authority, at an hour when the country needed the noblest exertions of all its children-at a moment when the humble and the poor were freely giving up their families and sacrificing their lives to insure the safety of the Government.' He was asked to make no sacrifice: but had his condition rather improved by entering the service of the nation. Yet alas for his weakness and the sordid attributes of his was in a positionich the life

-he could hear the groans of those who were suffering for freedom, who were perishing that the Government might live, and yet with all these noble sacrifices of his countrymen before his eyes, Surgeon General Hammond entered into conspiracies with speculators and thieves to rob his embarrassed Government, to drain the treasury by dishonesty to sustain which the poor and the laboring men were freely giving their all to

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY, Aug. 22, 1864.

The House met at 10 o'clock, A. M. Mr. WATSON, from the joint committee on the military organization of the State, reported a further supplement to the act for the organization, discipline and regulation of the militia of the Commonwealth, and moved that the bill be printed and made the special order for this afternoon-which was agreed to. The House then resumed the consideration of Senate bill providing for the payment of certain military claims, embracing claims for recruiting services, etc., which have been approved by the board of military claims in an informal manner, which the Supreme Court has decided to be not in accordance with the requirements of law.

Mr. SMITH (Chester) moved to amend by adding a proviso that where any claims are other persons than the original claim held by ants, such persons shall not receive any great er sum than that which they paid for the claim, with interest, and in case the sum paid by the State Treasurer shall be less than the amount of the warrant, the difference shall be paid to the original claimant. This, after a lengthy discussion, was adopted, and the bill, thus amended, passed finally. Mr. COCHRAN (Philadelphia) called up Senate bill relating to coal and mining companies. Passed finally. Mr. BIGHAM, from the Committee of Ways and Means, reported an act providing for the payment of a certain loan, the expenses of the extra session of the Legislature and other mis-cellaneous items. This bill passed second reading. It makes an appropriation to refund the loans made by the banks to pay the militia of the State called out to repel the rebel raid of 1863. It also appropriates to each Senator and member of the state where seven members of the House who, at the last session, were appointed to prepare, during the recess, and to report at this session, a revised tax code. It also makes provision for the construction of a paved foot-way in place of the present board-walk through the capitol grounds. The bill embraces other appropri-tions of minor importance. When the bill had passed second reading the House adjourned.

replenish. The picture presented by Hammond's conduct, is one of loathsome, infamous ingratitude; because the Government which he served remunerated him in the most liberal manner. His pay was ample to provide him and his family with every luxury; and had he died in the service, a pension would have been promptly awarded to those who had claims upon his support. Yet with all these bounties from a good and blessed Government-with honor derived from the same source, this man could not resist the temptation to become rich. He wanted wealth, and to secure it suddenly he risked all of honor and all that was worth living for, and he lost in the venture! What a spectacle does this case present! What an example for others! The story should be told all over the land, as a warning to the rising generation. The incidents and facts of this case will constitute the great and only digrace which the North has felt throughout the war-not that Hammond is the only man guilty of dishonesty in his dealings with the Government-not that there are not many others who are still engaged in robbing the Government-but that he, for his damnable lust of money, would risk a fall from a high estate, that he might enjoy ill-gotten wealth, and live in a splendor which involved his own disgrace and his country's ruin.

Latest from the Cumberland Valley.

[The following dispatch was received at this office by telegraph last evening and should have appeared in our morning edition, but the military authorities here declared the same contraband and forbade the telegraph operator to deliver us our own property. We pay for this dispatch to the company. It came here as an associate press dispatch and has been published as such in Washington and all the large cities, and why it should be suppressed here we have been unable to ascertain. We called at Gen. Couch's headquarters this morning for the purpose of ascertaining the reason, but Major Shultze, the telegraph censor, being absent, we have concluded to lay it before our readers. Our readers in the Cumberland valley, who are most deeply interested in the action of the rebels in that quarter, have a right to know what is going on. We copy the dispatch from the Washington Chronicle published on Sunday morning, and it is no doubt published in all the city dailies to-day .--- ED-ITOR OF THE TELEGRAPH.]

REPORTS FROM HAGERSTOWN. HAGERSTOWN, Aug. 20.

There was another big scare here last night. General Averill retired from Martinsburg on Thursday evening with his main force, leaving one company of the Lincoln Cavalry to garrison the town. Yesterday afternoon sixty-five rebel cavalrymen, commanded by Captain Boyd, of Tennessee, entered the place and drove our men out in the direction of Hainesville. This caused a general stampede of parties residing between Williamsport and Martinsburg towards this place, who reported that our troops were retiring in this direction, followed by the rebels. The merchants here immediately packed their goods and sent them

North. The quartermaster's train, with Govern nent property, was dispatched for Frederick, but, before getting out of town, Capt. Wm. H. Browne halted it in the street. He determined not to move it until he knew more upon the subject. It remained until 7 o'clock this morning, when it was ordered back to camp. The stores are all closed to-day and but few of the citizens are to be seen on the streets. The sick and wounded from hospitals have been removed to Harrisburg.

Martinsburg is reported to harrisourg. Martinsburg is reported to be in possession of the rebel cavalrymen, and Early's advance is said to be at Winchester. Every horseman. who enters this town is immediately besieged by parties who anxiously inquire as to the whereabouts of the rebels.

Later from the Army of the Potomac Our Losses in the Lute Fight on the Weldon Railroad.

Full Particulars of the Engagement.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Aug. 21. -Our losses in the fight on the Weldon railroad on Friday afternoon, were greater than heretofore re-ported in this correspondence. The number of prisoners is now put down at 1,500. It seems that our troops were surprised, many of them being in their shelter tents at the time trying to escape the heavy rain that had been falling for several hours previ ously.

The enemy just appeared about noon, on the right of the road, in front of the 3d Divi-sion of the 5th Corps, but this was evidently

About 3 P. M., they charged in heavy force between the fath and 9th Corps, and snoceeded in turning the flank of the former capturing a large number of prisoners. A heavy column at the same time charged n'the left of our line west of the railroad held by the second division, Gen. Ayres, which they broke, and here also they took 500 and 600 prisoners from the regular brigade. This brigade was commanded by Col. Orgen Hays, who is believed to be a prisoner, as he cannot be found.

Our whole line was then forced back with heavy loss in killed and wounded. The enemy, however, suffered more than we did in this particular. His men lying thick around property. the field.

Before dark our men were re-formed, and being reinforced, a desperate charge was made to receiver our lost grounds which was successfully accomplished, so that we held at night the lines which had been taken from us in the afternoon.

Col. Earle is reported a prisoner, as is also Col. Hartzlein. General Crawford was shot through the yest and shirt, and narrowly escaped capture. Lieut. Clark, of his staff, was shot in the arm, while Capt. Monteith, Lieuts. Meade and Mansfield, and Capt. Smith, also of Gen. Crawford's staff, had their horses shot while carrying orders and rallying the men of the various commands. The last named was a prisoner for awhile, but having a favorable chance made his escape.
