Army of the Potomac

GREAT ACTIVITY AT THE OUTPOSTS.

A SUCCESSFUL REBEL RAID.

FORCE SENT IN PURSUIT.

The Enemy Overtaken.

FIGHT IN PROGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. The mail steamer Charles Deering, from City Point, brings another batch of rebel deserters. She reports that on Thursday night two regiments of rebel cavalry made a raid on our cattle corral, a short distance below City Point.

Reports are conflicting as to the number of cattle driven off by the rebels. Some say that they got thirty-five hundred, while others report the number at less than one thousand.

LATER.

Further Particular of the Rebel Raid.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY POTOMAC, Sept. 16. The flank attack by the enemy cavalry early yesterday morning was a most daring move, and seems to have been partially successful.

A rumor reached camp this morning that the cattle had all been re-captured, but I cannot trace it to any reliable source. One object of the raid was, however, to supply the ranks with captured horses.

The United States steamer Mangham is now performing blockade duty of this post, but was unable to render any assistance, not being aware of the raid until after its termination.

From the 201st Regiment.

CAMP COUCH, NEAR CHAMBERSBURG, September 16th, 1864. Editor Telegraph: 'Home again' as you will perceive by the heading of this letter. We left Camp 'A' on the 11th inst.
