EGGS IN A BASKET.

We very often hear the remark, "I don't want too many eggs in one basket." This is in response to our advice that the Government Securities are the best to invest in.

To which we simply answer—Whatever shape you keep your money in, when it comes out it is in Governments. Your mortgages are paid in Governments; and if you have a County, City or State Bond, do you even expect anything in payment but Governments?

Therefore your remark about eggs is simply absurd.

But is there a danger of repudiation? When this question comes, we look right in the face of our customer, and if he is idiotic, we merely say, No. If he is mentally sound, though he may be politically rotten, we make a retort in this vein:

Sir, the American people have a national pride that was never excelled by the Romans in any period of their glory. Every man who is an American by birth or adoption, will not at least for the honor of his country, and as long as we are a nation, our national obligations will be good.

Before the people will ever vote for repudiation, let me tell you, sir, what they will do: they will vote to take a good percentage of the money bonds and property of the rich, to wipe out the national debt.

This war is a thousand times more for the rich man than for the poor man; then why should every American for generations and centuries to come, feel a disgrace upon his name and his nation because the rich men dislike to foot the bills, when 20 per cent. of their "pile" would wipe out our national debt.

Not a whit of it. Webster's definition of avarice is, "One in favor of an equal distribution of property among the inhabitants of a country." We propose to adhere strictly to the equal and salutary principles of every common school district of the country—assess the tax for the support of the institution (School of the Government) on the property of the district or country. Of course a rich old bachelor mutters out "agrarian," contrary to truth and the dictionary.

Taking the property of a country for the support of the institutions of the country, is in better conformity to equal justice than to donate the price of the poor man's sugar, tea, coffee, and even physic, for ages and ages to come.

Sir, you cannot bring your repudiation to take root in this soil of National Pride and Universal Suffrage, while both the interest and pride of nine-tenths of the voters will be so much better served by voting to pay the country's debt out of the property of the country.

You may as well let your eggs go into the Government basket; they are as safe there as anywhere.

For the Telegraph, HARRISBURG, Oct. 5, 1864.

Mr. ENTON—There was quite an important feature of Monday evening's proceedings, which you have not noticed in your paper. A loyal young lady armed with rotten eggs, intended to applaud Hon. Wm. Miller by throwing them at him, but being unable to get close enough to him, stood on the sidewalk and threw them at the speaker in front of the school house, but unfortunately they fell in the crowd and caused quite a stampede among the followers of the Hero of the Chickamauga. I am sorry you omitted this, and regret that the person they were intended for did not get them at his worthless head.

AN EYE WITNESS.

A FATAL MISTAKE.—We heard of a sad mistake, says the Hagerstown, Maryland, Herald, which occurred about two weeks ago, to a family living near Clearspring, which proved fatal to one of the parties, and quite serious to the other. It appears that a gentleman by the name of Levi Bowers, was engaged in night fishing at the Conococheague, when he caught what he supposed to be an eel. With-out stopping to examine it he cut off the head and skinned it. Taking it home with the fish he had caught, his wife cooked it for breakfast. After eating heartily of their meal, Mr. B. and his wife became deathly sick, and could not account for it. Mrs. B. immediately went and examined the remaining pieces of the supposed eel, and found that it looked very blue, unlike the color of an eel. A doctor was sent for, and he at once pronounced the fish poisoned, and after his examination, found that what was supposed to be an eel, was a snake. Mr. B. died, and his wife was quite ill for several days.
