HARRISBURG, PA.
FRIDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 28, 1864.

TOWN AND COUNTRY.

ATTENTION, REPUBLICAN INVINCIBLES!—A meeting of the Invincibles will be held at their Hall this (Friday) evening, at 7 o'clock. Every member is expected to be present, to consider the propriety of accepting an invitation to visit a neighboring town, and transact other important business. By order of the PRESIDENT.

The Farmers' Bank of Lancaster is to become a National Bank.

THE HOPE FIRE ENGINE COMING.—The new steam engine of the Hope Fire Company was shipped from Waterford, New York, today, and is expected to arrive here early next week.

A SPECIAL meeting of the Printer's Union will be held this evening at seven o'clock, for the purpose of making arrangements to attend the funeral of their late brother, Geo. W. Price.

SALES of condemned government horses will take place at Giesboro', D. C., on Tuesday and Friday of next week. Bargains may be had by persons desiring horses for farming purposes.

THE GERMAN REFORMED SYNOD HAS SELECTED PHILADELPHIA AS THE PERMANENT HEADQUARTERS FOR ITS PUBLICATIONS. An effort will be made to raise funds sufficient to re-establish their printing office.

TO BUILDERS.—Proposals for constructing two large spans of an iron bridge, over the Allegheny river, are invited by the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad company. See advertisement in our columns.

THE PARTY THAT DON'T CHEER OVER UNION VICTORIES IS ENGAGED IN PERPETRATING A TREMENDOUS TRAUMA UPON THE SOLDIERS. In order to secure the election of McClellan. Drygoods boxes filled with bogus ballots have already been forwarded to New York and other places. This surpasses all previous mean acts of the copperheads.

CHANGE OF HOURS ON THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.—On Monday next a number of changes will take place in the time of the arrival and departure of trains on the Pennsylvania Railroad. Persons who design traveling over the road would do well to consult the time-table in our columns, and carefully note all particulars contained therein, as some of the trains will not run through, as heretofore.

There will be preaching in St. Paul's M. E. Church, on Vine St., next Sabbath at 10 o'clock A. M. and 7 o'clock P. M., by Rev. R. J. Carson, of Philadelphia. Rev. Mr. Carson's numerous friends will be highly pleased with another opportunity of hearing him dispense the Word of Life. The public are cordially invited to attend. Yours respectfully, J. OWEN SYPERD.

THE SEA OR ICE.—The very disagreeable state of the weather did not prevent the people from going to the Theatre last night, and the large hall was crowded. The great sensation drama, The Sea or Ice, was produced for the first time, with all its grand scenes &c. Those who were present pronounce it a magnificent production, surpassing anything ever introduced in our city heretofore. This evening the play will be repeated. Everybody should see it. As there will doubtless be a great crowd present, those who intend to take ladies should secure reserved seats at Bannwart's Drug Store.

PROMOTION OF A GALLANT YOUNG HARRISBURG SOLDIER.—We have just heard of the promotion of a gallant young soldier, a native of this city, in whose career we have always felt a lively interest.—Simon Snyder—the youngest son of Charles A. Snyder, Esq., of this city. Simon enlisted before he was seventeen years old—was in all the battles of the Army of the Potomac, and distinguished himself in the highest degree, winning alike the applause of his companions-in-arms and the confidence of his superiors. He has been made a captain in the 108th U. S. Infantry, receiving his promotion direct from the ranks. We congratulate Captain Snyder, and feel confident that he will some day earn and receive a star on his shoulder.

THE GALLANTRY OF A HARRISBURG CAVALRYMAN.—We have just read a letter from the Army of the Shenandoah, in which reference is made to the gallant action of a Harrisburg soldier, attached to a New Jersey regiment—Sergeant Benton H. Zerbe. In one of the splendid cavalry charges recently made by the gallant Sheridan, Sgt. Zerbe cut down a rebel standard-bearer, and captured the rebel colors, within sight and resistance of a whole regiment. Gen. Sheridan pronounced the act one of the bravest he ever beheld, and commended the young soldier for his gallantry. We believe that young Zerbe has many friends and relatives in this vicinity, all of whom will be proud to hear of his daring deed. Although he is attached to a New Jersey regiment, Pennsylvania claims him as one of her own brave sons, and, at the proper time, will do much honor to his deserves.

WHAT WE DRINK.—Upon several occasions our citizens have been horrified with the rumor that unclean substances had been thrown into the reservoir, from which they drew their daily supply of water for drinking and other purposes. To such an extent did these rumors prejudice some of our citizens against the river water, that they commenced a run upon the few remaining pumps, from which even yet, we have no doubt, the more fastidious continue to derive their daily supply of the pure element in preference to that obtained from the reservoir. Although, in each case, these rumors were found to be fallacious, yet even those who were the most confident of the result, could not help but experience a feeling of relief when the fact was uncontestedly proved by draining the reservoir and submitting it to a thorough examination.

As shocking as some of these rumors were, we doubt very much, even had they proved correct, if they could have impaired the purity of the water as much as it is now daily undergoing by a very different process. From observation made by our reporter, the fact is clearly established that soldiers and strangers are resorting to the very mouth of the pipe through which the waters flow to supply the pumps for filling the basin, to wash their filthy linen and cleanse their dirty wardrobes. The reader, almost any morning or evening, by resorting to the river bank in the vicinity of the water-house, will have an opportunity of observing the corroboration of our statement. The people in that vicinity are morning and evening witnesses of these daring outrages, while we have frequently seen, in passing along Front street, soldiers engaged in washing their clothes and cleansing their persons in the very current of the stream that flows into the water-house. We have called attention to this nuisance heretofore, and unless the proper officers soon see to its abatement, we will be constrained to complain of still another nuisance engendered by their neglect.

LIEUT. JOHN R. WINTERS.—The Fall of a Christian Soldier, a True Man and a Patriot.—We fulfil a mournful duty, in referring again to the death of John R. Winters, who, as is well known, perished while nobly seeking the suppression of a wicked conspiracy for the destruction of the free government and free homes of the American people. The memory of such men belongs to the nation. Their deeds will become the richest heirloom of the generations that are to follow in our path—deeds which will constitute the theme of the poet and the subject of the painter, when these, in that peaceful era which is reserved for the nation, achieve their triumphs and lay them at the feet of a mighty and a free people.

Lieut. John R. Winters was a native of Lebanon county, born on the 27th of May, 1837—and, when he fell beneath the flag of his country, only 27 years of age. His early years were passed in agricultural pursuits, a vocation which became his settled business, and in which he was regarded as highly successful. He left Lebanon county to take charge of the farm connected with the State Lunatic Hospital. While living in this vicinity, Lieut. Winters was baptized and received into the Rev. James Colder's church (First Free Baptist) in January, 1861. His Christian walk and conversation were at once such as evinced the sincerity of his piety and the purity of his feeling. To him, duty was action—the action which produces fruits at once beneficial to himself and those with whom he was associated. Thus he won at once the confidence and the affection of all with whom he came in contact.

The military career of our hero commenced before he was regularly connected with the army—proving by this that his patriotism did not need the force of a muster-in oath to teach him his duty as a defender of his country when traitors clutched it by the throat. He participated in the battles of Fair Oaks and Malvern Hill, as a citizen. Being present when those conflicts were raging, he did not stand merely as an idle observer of the struggles of his countrymen, but plunging into the thickest of the fight, he seized the weapon of a fallen brave, and bore himself like a true man, winning thereby the applause of the soldiers who witnessed his deeds of daring, and the admiration of the officers in command who beheld his noble conduct.
