Soldiers' Orphans.

Arrangements are now perfected and schools selected for the education and mentenance of the children of those brave men who have fallen in their country's service, and it is the duty of School Directors to see that application for admission into one of these schools is immediately made for every needy orphan in their respective districts. By promptly performing this pleasing duty, they will confer a lasting favor upon the surviving parent or friend of these children-generally too timid to make the application—and upon the country, by assisting in the elevation of those who, if uncared for, may grow up ignorant and worthless citizens.

Applications should be correctly made out, attested by the President and Secretary of the board, and forwarded to the chairman of the proper County Committee, from whom blanks for this purpose can be obtained. Great care should be taken that names, dates, &c., are correctly given.

The Chairman of the Committee should immediately add his certificate to these applications if correct, and forward them to Dr. Thomas H. Burrowes, Superintendent of Orphans, Lancaster, Pa. He need not call together the Committee for this purpose, as the certificate of the School Directors, who live in the same township with the applicant, is the best evidence as to the necessary facts in the case he can get.

Each member of the Committee, as well as each public spirited citizen, should cheerfully and promptly aid in securing to those entitled to it the benefits of this just and beneficent measure.

Further information can be obtained from the Pennsylvania School Journal.

Sherman's Late Movements.

The best evidence, to our mind, that Sherman is about to achieve a brilliant success, is the fact that his movements have been, thus far, perfectly shrouded in judicious secrecy, alike to friend and foe. At the very moment when the country was most solicitous for the whereabouts of Sherman and his followerswhen the affairs of the Southwest looked gloomy-when it was questioned whether Sherman still was at the head of an organized army, and even hinted that he had been annihilated-he "turns up" in a blaze of glory, startling the world with results such as have never before been accomplished by any military leader. With such a leader in the field, the country can well afford to forego all expectations, and patiently wait for results. It matters little in what direction Sherman marches; his movements are certain to be most disastrous to the rebellion.

"Be Firm."

We have been considerably amused of late with the ominous words which head this para-Copperhead organ as the title for long distirbes in reference to the causes which produced their defeat on the 8th of November. The Cops are admonished to "be firm," and of course they will be governed by the admonition.drubbing which they received, after the treason which they fulminated, and the falsehoods firmness. Of one fact the Cops may be unmistakably certain, namely, the firm determination of all true American citizens to maintain and defend the American principle of freedom, against the assaults alike of domestic traitors, slave-masters and aristocratic foreign sympathizers with rebellion.

THE GREATER NUMBER OF THE TORY ORGANS in this State are really in a decaying condition, and, if left alone, will perish for the want of patronage. But the shrewder portion of those who control this press do not want to pass out of existence aided only by their own internal rottenness, and therefore such as these are tempting the Government, by heaping on those in authority the abuse which could only emanate from traitors, to hurry the completion of their doom, by applying the strong arm of the law to their cases. We could point out at least a dozen such organs, which, by the ribaldry of their abuse, seek to attract the attention and provoke the power of the Government. The men who control such sheets do not want to pass out of existence with the odium attached to their memories as having failed—as having bankrupted themselves in their efforts to ruin the Government. They would be pleased to have what they could call a little persecution, that they might have an excuse to make for their utter failures. We hope, however, that the Government will have patience with these miscreants and charlatans. Public opinion is doing the work handsomely. Hence it needs no interposition of the authorities to rid the land of these channels of treason.

EASTERN AND WESTERN ABOLITIONISM. When our Democratic friends are inclined to talk about fanaticism and abolitionism in New England, we trust they will be so fair to that portion of our country as to recollect that the West has outstripped her in this particular respect. We think there are no six Western States that have not given a larger "abolition" majority of the popular vote for President than New England has. Such are the States that Gov. Sey mour and his factious coadjutors attempted to hound into secession.

THE BEAVER ARGUS has been disposed of by Mr. D. L. Imbrie, to Mr. D. W. Scott, who will in future control its columns. The Argus has always been a staunch advocate of sound-Republican principles, and if its new editor maintains its old reputation, he will do a good work for his patrons and himself.

Lincoln's Majority in Iowa, including the soldiers' vote, will reach Fifty Thousand exchanged, was at Hilton Head 15th.

Let the President be Merciful. We agree with a Western cotemporary, that the time has now arrived, when the President must treat rebellion and treason as the hellish atrocities and crimes which they really are .-Mercy to the nation demands this act at the hands of Abraham Lincoln. No words can tell the immense mischief wrought by tolerance of treason. We leave out of the account the awful peril escaped—the fact that the nation was brought to gaze into the very abyss of perdition, with a long honored and powerful party desperately struggling to hurl her down. God be praised for the rescue! But ought a treason-party to have been permitted to blot our history in this strife? Should not the germs of such a party have been treated as Washington and his compatriots treated tories in their day, and as the rebels have had the sagacity to treat Unionists among themselves? By the reverse process, a thousand agencies of proselytism in behalf of the traitors' cause have been allowed to work almost infinite evil, poisoning multitudes of minds, deluding the rebels with false hopes, generating distrust in even the patriotic but timid, sending recruits to the enemy's ranks, jeoparding the peace at home, and in a myriad ways distracting our energies and foiling our efforts, while proportionally encouraging and strengthening the foe. Much, but not all, of this is now past. As to the question of the continuance of toleration and protection to sneaking rebels among us, the Union men of the guerrilla-cursed States, may, perhaps, be pardoned for feeling intensely. The hostile tongue or pen, however atrocious or hateful, are more tolerable than the bushwhacker's rifle, scalping-knife and torch. In desolated Missouri, the teaching and practice of treason are too closely associated to admit any nice distinction between them. Where the shot follows the word we are not anxious to wait for "the overt act."

more of it. On this general subject the whole country, except that part not yet rescued from rebel thraldom, has just spoken. It is impossible to mistake the response to the Baltimore platform. The distinctly pronounced sense of the country is that Mr. Lincoln is approved in his Radical measures, while his Conservative policies are condemned. In accepting the Union nomination, he pledged himself to abandon Conservatism and cleave to Radicalism. That pledge elected him. Only the keeping of it can sustain him.

"The Ladies of the South."

The assertion of an over-zealous preacher, to the effect that the ladies of the South would sooner or later be glad to engage themselves as the house-maids of the people of the North, has powerfully worked up the indignation of certain Northern sympathizing organs, who seize upon such a sentiment as the pretext for getting off additional lamentations at the intended oppression of the people of the South. Now, we are of those who consider it due that graph, they being used by almost every doleful all true women should be equally respected, regardless of the station which they occupy in life, so that they are virtuous, industrious faithful either as daughters or as wives. What are facetiously termed the "ladies of the South," however, are scarcely the equals Why should they not 'be firm?" Suppose it should really occur that many of "the ladies of the South"would find homes in Northern kitchens. -God knows such a fate for some of these creatures, would be better than they deserve. The great majority of these ladies gave to treason and rebellion a countenance and encouragement which make them responsible for a large share of the misery and desolution which now curse the South.-The ladies of the South are composed mostly of those who spat in the faces of Union soldiers, who insulted our sick and wounded heroes while lying helpless in Southern hospitals, who assisted in the persecution of "Yankee school marms," and in divers ways, contributed to the intense hatred with which the ignorant masses of the South were taught toregard the free laboring people of the North. And yet because a zealot in his fiery enthusiasm for his country, asserted that such ladies would eventually find homes in Northern kitchens, many of our copperhead cotemporaries profess to be moved with indignation, and indulge in long outbursts of virtuous wrath over the contemplated "tyrannies of

IMPORTANT FROM ARKANSAS. RETREAT OF PRICE. CAPURE OF HIS CARRIAGE.

Our Pursuit at an End.

Official Dispatch from General Curtis.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE BORDER, CAMP ARKANSAS, Nov. 8, via Fort Scott, Nov. 15 .-To General Davies: - We have just concluded the pursuit of Price, whose rearguard crossed the Arkansas river, under fire of our guns.--He left another of his guns and his own carriage, which, with other arms and equipments have fallen into our hands. We are now rid of 20,000 or 30,000 halfstarved bushwhackers and half-starved vagaonds, who I hope may never return to disturb the peaceful inhabitants north of the Arkansas river. He is also beyond our posts of Fayetteville, Fort Smith, and Fort Gibson, which are now safe. S. R. CURTIS.

From Washington.

Washington, Nov. 21. Brigadier General John H. Hobart Ward, of the United States Volunteers, is mustered out of service, and by the same official order army officers who may be reported as aids decamp to him are required to join their regiments without delay.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.

The Secretary of the Treasury has sent to ment a circular requiring the office hours from 6 o'clock A. M. to 4 o'clock, P. M. to be strictly observed, the intervening time to be devoted diligently to habor. This action on the part of the Secretary is to correct the irregularities which he has noticed with recret. The Secretary says he has been much annoyed by applications for appointments founded on statements made by clerks and others that there were vacancies to be filled, and designating these vacancies. He therefore gives notice that it is no part of the duty of clerks or others in the department, to give either information or advice on such a point. All vacancies are reported to the Assistant Secretary, and will be filled as the Secretary may determine. He will regard any further interference of this character as a sufficient cause for dismissal. While stating these grounds of complaint, the Secretary cheerfully bears testimony to the promptness and faithfulness with which, as a general rule. the business of the department has been con-

FIRING AT PETERSBURG

Withdrawal of Federal Troops.

Rumors of the Evacuation of Petersburg

Washington, Nov. 21. Information from the Army of the Potomac dated yesterday, says a good deal of firing was heard on Saturday in front of Petersburg on the Appomattox, but, as far as has been learned, without any important results. Deserters report that the rebel troops on the James river have all been withdrawn with men to man the guns in the forts. Up to yesterday morning there had been almost continuous rain for thirty-six hours. Rumors had reached the army that the enemy was evacuating Petersburg, but they were not generally believed.

The Monohansett came to Washington to day in place of the regular steamer Cossack, which ran into a schooner on her downward trip. The Cossack accidenally ran aground near Maryland Point, when it was discovered that three holes had been knocked into her bottom, just above the water-line, in her collision with the schooner. The steamer Guide came to the relief of the Cossack, and took off her mails and passengers and conveyed them to Fortress Monroe.

On four previous occasions the Department has had the gratification of expressing its ap-probation of your conduct in the face of the nemy, and in each instance there was manifested by you the same heroic daring and innate love of perilous adventure—a mind de-termined to succeed, and not to be deterred by any apprehensions of defeat. The department has presented your name to the President for a vote of thanks, that you may be promoted one grade, and your comrades shall also receive recognition. It gives me pleasure to recall the assurance you gave me at the commencement of your professional career, that you would prove yourself worthy of the service to which you were appointed.

I trust you may be preserved, through further trials, and it is for yourself to determine whether, after entering upon so auspicious career, you shall, by careful study and self discipline, be prepared for a wider sphere of usefulness on the call of your country. Very GIDEON WELLES, espectfully,

Secretary of the Navy. Lieutenant W. B. Cushing, U. S. N., Washington.
