WINTER RULES.—Never go to bed with cold or damp feet. In going into a colder air, keep the mouth resolutely closed, that by compelling the air to pass circuitously through the nose and head, it may become warmed before it reaches the lungs, and thus prevent those si tocks and sudden chills, which frequently en d in pleurisy, pneumonia, and other forms of disease.

We vince learned that on Sunday morning last Samuel Naugle, a boy about 16 years of age, way shot and killed in the house of the man Myers, who was arrested on the Friday previous for horse stealing. It appears that the boy had been staying over night at Myers', and son the time in the morning was murdered as above stated.

THE city council passed, on the 21st ult, an ordinance providing for the election of a street commissioner, and fixing his salary at twelve hundred dollars per annum. The Mayor twelve hundred dollars per annum. The Mayor subsequently vertoed the ordinance, and the council since passed it by more than a two-thirds vote. HORRIBLE ACCIDENT. -- Charles E., a young son of Rev. Dr. Johnson, of Dickinson College, Carlisle, was killed on Tuesday after-noon. It appears that the lad was standing in a freight car, with his head out of the side door, looking back, and as the car was run-ning in on the siding at Mr. Hoffer's coal yard, one end of the door struck a post protruding over the track forcibly closing it and and crushing the skull of the youth most hor-ribly. His death followed immediately. LATER.—Since the above was put in type we have received the following account of the dreadful affair from an eye-witness: The boy jumped into an empty freight car, which was being drawn out from the siding of the ware house. The post of a coal bin along side of the track had been pressed out with the weight of coal. As the boy was standing with his head out of the open door of the car, while the car was in rapid motion, the post of the coal bin caught the door, and sliding it shut, caught the boy's head, crushing out his brains, and killed him instantly.

Takes Parameters Atkinson, one of our oldest citizens, died at the residence of her son, Mr.

W. W. Boyer, in this city, on Tuesday evening last. She was in the 78th year of her age at the time of her death, and was for a great many years an exemplary and zealous member of the German Reformed Church. Thus are the good dying everywhere and every day. Like good dying everywhere and every day. Like the sunshine which lights our paths so the the sunshine which lights our paths, so the light of those we love, is passing away, chased by the shadow of death, beyond our vision: The deceased, to those who knew her, was beloved for the kindness of her heart, the genial loveliness of her disposition, and the muselfishness which is most rare and always most beautiful in the aged. Long withdrawn from the world, she lived, as it were, in sequestered peace to die in Christian tranquility. There are many who will mourn her death. The funeral took place at 2 o'clock this after noon.

AT a stated meeting of the Paxton Fire Company, held at their Hall, on Tuesday evening, Dec. 6, the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing six months:

President, Geo F Weaver; Vice President,
David L Fortna; Secretary, B J Shoop; Assistant Secretary, David Simons; Treasurer, Peter Stucker; Trustees, Daniel Hocker, John Evans, George Faerster; Inspectors, Geo F Weaver, Jr., Peter Stucker, Patrick Burns; Directors, Lewis Tress, Conrad Kline, Jr., Geo F Weaver, Jr., John Hocker, David Simons, J L Weltmer, William Young. C E Jauss, Peter Stucker and Geo F Weaver, Jr., were appointed a committee to canvass the Second and Third words. (the other words have already been wards, (the other wards have already been partly canvassed.) for the purpose of raising funds to complete their new Engine House, and we hope the citizens will respond liberally, as the "Paxton Boys" are entitled to all the encouragement we can give them, in the building of their new Hall.

CAMP SLOUGH, WEST ALEXANDRIA, VA., Sunday Evening, Dec. 4, 1864. SEDITOR TELEGRAPH—Dear Sir:—In company with my friend Walter Hanche, clerk to Adjutant Reisinger, I spent an hour or two, with from Camp Slough, west of Fort Ellsworth. The latter fortification is scarcely a stone'sthrow distant from our camp, perched on the top of a considerable hill, say 150 feet above the Potomac river. Williams is directly opposite Lyons, the Accotink valley dividing the posite Lyons, the Accotink valley dividing the distance, which is probably a mile and a quarter from one fortification to the other. The valley in question, at one period teeming with fields of golden wheat, sweet, red clover, and the "bright yellow corn," is now desolate, fenceless and neglected—the populace scattered and in arms against the Union, or sleeping beneath the sod of the valley. The Orange and Alexandria railway passes through its centre, to Manassas Junction, 27 miles, and from thence the Manassas Gap road continues through to Thoroughfare Gap probatinues through to Thoroughfare Gap, proba-bly 35 or 40 miles further, where the valley is broken, as it were, by the crossing of the Blue Ridge in its course across Virginia into North

Directly west of Williams, on the right, is another substantial fortification styled "Worth," just 1,050 yards distant. Fairfax Seminary (a magnificent series of buildings, with a splendid chapel built in Gothic style— known all over the South, and patronized by the "fust" families in Dixie, since its erection in 185-, and within whose classic halls many a haughty Southern belle and aristocratic daughter received the finishing touch to so-called "fashionable society" indolence, hauteur, pride and arrogance,) is about 900 yards distant from "Williams." The building and surroundings are now occupied by the U. S. Government, and nearly 500 sick and wounded

Government, and nearly 500 sick and wounded soldiers are quartered there, nursed and cared for by the U.S. Government.

The interior of the fort is admirably arranged, with a sufficient number of fine rifled cannon, several large coast siege guns, and a certain number of improved howitzers. The number, calibbe, and capacity of the armament I know correctly, but it would be contraband to give publicity to the fact. There is a large bomb proof magazine, very convenient to the huge, lazy war dogs, lying there so quiet and docile, as if taking a nap, or waiting for something to turn up and give them a trial of their metal. Where the fort is situated, once stood a magnificent brick building, (razeed to make room,) once the building, (razeed to make room,) once the country residence and summer resort of Hon. Samuel Cooper, formerly Adjutant of the U. S. army—and now holding the same position in the rebel army. Two substantial buildings, a number of elegant shade trees and a neat, clean lawn, in the rear of "Williams," are now occupied by Capt. Nevin's men, af-fording them tip-top quarters, roomy, clean and comfortable. Close by I observed also a neat brick building, of Gothic style, said to be the summer residence of Bishop St. John, the well-known and distinguished prelate of the Church of England. It is used, I be the Church of England. It is used, I helieve, for hospital purposes at present. Near at hand also are a number of cabins, inhabited by contrabands to the number of four hundred or five hundred. They maintain themselves—the men, by driving Govern-ment teams, at the block-houses now building, in a hundred different ways—the women, by washing for soldiers and other domestic oc cupations in the city. One of the men informed me he lived in the extreme southwestorn portion of the State, was a slave among a hundred, and when the Yankees approached, his "Mass'r" told 'em to hurry, and pack up eberyting and come along wid him, for de Yankees would kill us, sartain. Why, sah, dey tried to make us belieb dat de Yanks hab horns to run us troo, like de wild oxen, but we know'd better, and we hid our wives and litthe children, an' nex' day we got to de Union army, and tank de Lord here we is, makin' a decent livin' and enjoyin' freedom" "Would you like to go back, Sam?" "Would we, sah yes, sah, in a horn!" Around, in every direction, may be seen the dwellings and summer resorts of many other prominent Around, in Secessionists, now enjoying a "happy time" with their brethren in the distant States of Rebeldom! Bishop St. John was related, in some way, with the proud family of Masons well known in the annals of Virginia, and no doubt was the bright star of this villa and surroundings-the centre and attraction of treason-plotters and arch-traitors of the once great and prosperous Old Dominion. Farther on south-west from Williams is situated the Lazaretto, or small-pox hospital. It is a fine, large building, evidently once the residence of an aristocrat, standing aloff from the railroad and public road. But few patients are treated there, at this time, I am in-

After examining the pets—a fine large Virginia grey fox, chained on the front portico—three or four tiny black and tan-colored terrier dogs—a variety of game fowls, &c., we visited the sutler—imbibed a glass or two of lager, and tasted some fine fruit (evidently lager, and tasted some one truit (evidently the product of some orchard of Western New York, where they do raise fruit to perfection)—we bid our friend W——"good bye" and wended our way to camp by a near route, over the hills, via Fort Ellsworth, from the heights of which we had a fine view of the

A member of Company "G," writing from a picket post near Chambersburg, states the fact that old Camp Couch is spread over with huge piles of manure, and the farmer is running his "plough-share deep" into the familiar ground over which we strutted on dress parade, to the tune of "Landigan's Ball," by our excellent band—and the soft side of Slate Hill is "turned up" in well-laid furrows, and the spot where stood our she-bang—where we had our "local habitation" and our festal board, is cleared of rubbish and the pharaphernalia of a camping ground, preparatory to planting a crop of corn the ensuing spring; which, we hope, may bless the farmer's vision, and give him a recompense for the many privileges we of the 201st enjoyed upon his premises. Truly yours, A. H. B.

ROUSE'S THEATRE.—A very large audience assembled at Brant's Hall, last night, to witness the great play of Damon and PTTHIAS, and the entertainment was a grand success.
Another great bill is presented, for this evening, consisting of Shakspeare's Merchant of Venice, and Bourcicault's great five act drama,
The Willow Corse. Mr. James C. Roberts, the famous American Tragedian, will appear in two grand characters—Shylock and Luke Fielding. Miss Emily Yates will make her first appearance in this city, in the character of Portia. The whole Combination Company is cost in the hill is cast in the bill.

Rouse's Theatre is patronized by the most respectable classes of our citizens, who fully appreciate the efforts of the energetic manager to place before them the best plays in the best manner possible. Large amounts of money are expended to secure the services of the best star performers in the country. The liberal patronage bestowed upon this place of amusement is the best evidence that success attends Mr. Rouse.

Tickets with reserved checks should be tecured by those who intend taking their fami-lies. The tickets can be obtained at Bann vart's drug store at any time during the day.

Dr. Rand's Specific.

The oldest and most reliable medicine for the cure of Spermatorhoea, Seminal Weakness, Loss of Power &c. This medicine has stood the test of over thirty years, and has always proved a success.

Dr. RAND'S SPECIFIC is exhibited in the form of pills, made up entirely of substances that have a specific effect upon the generative organs. Most persons associate the idea of organs. Most persons associate the most operations upon the bowels from taking any kind of pills. The Spectru of Dr. Rand is not intended as an evacuating medicine. Its medicinal virtues are expensed entirely upon the impaired regenerative organs. The pills are not unpleasant to the taste, and many persons masticate them with impunity before swallowing them; which plan we would al-ways recommend, as affording the speediest way to get the effect of the remedy. C. A.
