PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

Speech of John Cessna.

The following report of the remarks of JOHN CESSNA before the Straight-out Douglas Committee is taken from the Press, and is worthy of preservation as a humble confession of weakness.

Mr. Cessna responded in some lengthy remarks. The action of the Breckinridge bank in falling back upon Judge Douglas. They hoped that the straight ticket would be retained, knowing that the friends of Judge Douglas would be divided between it and the Reading ticket.

The Straight-out Douglas Ticket Withdrawn.

The Douglas Straight-out Committee met in Philadelphia on Thursday last, and determined to withdraw the Straight-out Douglas electoral ticket, and also recommended the Reading electoral ticket to the support of the Douglas men of the State.

We do not feel disposed to quarrel with the members of the Straight-out Douglas Committee for the reasons assigned in their resolutions and address for withdrawing the disorganizing electoral ticket, now that they have thought proper to take the back track.

But Southern men must have learned something from the events of the past few years. They must have learned that the Southern States are not quite so reliable as they have supposed. They must have learned that the Northern States are not quite so unreliable as they have supposed.

This tirade against American citizens as "poltroons," comes with bad grace from one who, according to his own confession, has given personal illustration that "braggadocio and poltroonery are close bed-fellows."

Mr. Samuel Stern, an adopted citizen of German birth, now of Boston, was one of the leaders of the German movement of 1848, in which, also, Shurtz figured. He challenges the latter to a discussion from which he (naming "braggadocio to poltroonery") shrinks.

Having been an eye-witness and actor in the epoch of 1848 and 1849, I have learned enough to be a conservative, whereas I was at that time a revolutionist. I saw the people strike for their rights and liberties, and they were deprived by a system of absolute monarchism and sham constitutions.

As before remarked, however, we will not quarrel with these gentlemen for doing a good thing, or seek to deprive them of any excuses for their misconduct. We are gratified to find that tribulation has brought repentance, and that they have at last been brought to see that virtue of adhering to the regular organization of the party.

This is satisfactory, as far as it goes. But we shall not rest wholly satisfied that it is all right until we hear from the "member of the National Executive Committee for Pennsylvania."

It would be curious and instructive if the expectations of the prominent Republicans of this State should be revealed to the public inspection.

In the first place, there is ALEX. K. M'CLURE, Chairman of the Republican Committee, to be provided for, and provided for handsomely. He is not the man to be put off with crumbs.

Lincoln's vote. 109,000. Vote for Hendricks. 123,000. Deduct for Breckinridge votes. 10,000. Total. 222,000.

CURIOUS WILL OF A SOUTHERN PLANTER.—Affecting story in circulation. An aged gentleman, a planter in one of the Southern States, has just died, leaving a fortune of $100,000.

But Wilmot, and M'Michael, and Pollock, and Mann, and Reeder, and Stevens, and some two or three dozen more, think that they ought to be Senators, or something else equally honorable and comfortable.

It is painful to think that so many hopes and patriotic aspirations are destined to be blighted within the next twelvemonth; but multitudes must be disappointed when offices are few and applicants many. Such is the fate of war and politics.

The Insolence of Faubusism.—Carl Shurtz (one of the shirts of Nessus on the back of Mock-Republicanism) in a speech at Utica, New York, on Monday, represented John Brown as a teacher of Virginia.

But Southern men must have learned something from the events of the past few years. They must have learned that the Southern States are not quite so reliable as they have supposed.

When, in 1848, the German people gained their liberties and rights, the representatives of German knowledge, science, literature, jurisprudence, and statesmanship, were delegated to form a united Germany.

Mr. Samuel Stern, an adopted citizen of German birth, now of Boston, was one of the leaders of the German movement of 1848.

Having been an eye-witness and actor in the epoch of 1848 and 1849, I have learned enough to be a conservative, whereas I was at that time a revolutionist.

her own exertions, unaided by Frankfort Parliaments and German doctors and philosophers.

The Republican majority of 15,000 or more is fast dwindling down. The Indianapolis Sentinel of the 15th gives official returns for Governor from 40 counties, and unofficial from 12 more.

The Congressional delegation stands as before, viz: 4 Democrats and 7 Republicans.

The Senate stands—Democrats 22, Republicans 28. House—Democrats 41, Republicans 57, doubtful 2. The Sentinel expresses a confident belief that Lincoln will not carry the State at the Presidential election.

The Breckinridge vote will be increased considerably above this estimate by the addition of those who did not vote for either candidate for Governor.
