MISCELLANY.

AMUSING LOVE AFFAIR IN LONDON—A Wealthy Banker Unconsciously Advising an Elopement With His Own Daughter.—A London correspondent of the New Orleans Delta furnishes that paper with the following readable story:

A good sell is related of a wealthy banker here, who is very good-natured, but inclined to be a trifle fast in his views of life. He had a favorite clerk, a young man about twenty-one, remarkably hand-some, modest and highly intellectual. For these qualities he was liked by ev ry one, and the banker did not escape the general feeling of good-will. He was as poor as—his salary, and had no connections to push his after fortunes, and so, like most English clerks, he would rise to a hundred and twenty pounds a year; go on for eight years, at ten pounds a year rise, and marry when he got to two hundred pounds a year, henceforth to vegetate, and find that the additional ten pounds a year rise only kept pace with the additional babe in his household. The banker, on Sunday afternoons when no one was expected, would occasionally ask the young man to visit his young family at his suburban villa, as the conversation of the young man was so correct and so clever it could not but be of advantage to his children. This was a mistake, evidently, but it was a good-natured error, and we can only wish, all of us, that there were many more committed. I have not mentioned that there was a beautiful young daughter of nineteen, but that may be always understood in any English family that has known wedded life long enough. But there were, of course, no attentions on the part of the young man, other than extremely delicate, reserved and proper. This will be always the case with English youth, as Americans well know. Don't hem after this. The youth, in spite of two or three day's invitation to the banker's seat, to breathe the fresh air and clear his lungs of London smoke, was evidently very ill, and though he declared himself well and robust, the banker shook his head.

"I can not make out what is the matter with my young clerk," said the banker to a confrere who was in his back office with him, after the youth had just brought in some papers.

"Well, you are rather green, I should say, for a man of your time of life and experience," said banker number two. "Don't you know what's the matter? He's in love."

"In love! bah. He is modesty and propriety itself."

"I tell you it is a fact, and with a rich old fellow's daughter, who would no more think of having him for a son-in-law than you would."

"Oh, the haughty old fool; my clerk is as good as his daughter, and be hanged to him. Thank you for the hint."

As soon as banker number two had disappeared, the clerk was called in.

"So, sir, you are in love, and pining away for the object of your affection—that's your secret, is it? Why did you not tell me before, sir?"

The youth was silent.

"Well, my boy, I pity you; but I'll give you a bit of advice. If the daughter is fair, she's worth running a risk for. Look here; there are £500, and two months' leave of absence. Run away with the girl. Bah, don't look so stupid. I did the same before you, and it has not hurt me."

The clerk fell on his marrow bones, and was upon the point of making a clean breast of it, when the old man rose and left precipitately to avoid a scene. The young man considered and acted, and the consequence was that the next day week there was no young daughter at the dinner table of the banker at the country house. The house was in consternation, and the search for her made in all directions. A note was, however, found on her dressing table, conveying the customary prayer for forgiveness, and one inclosed from the young clerk, stating that, believing the banker had meant to give him a hint with regard to his daughter, and was not able to give his public consent owing to appearances, he had acted on his suggestion, and that ere "his father-in-law" had received the letter, he (the clerk) would be his son-in-law. The pill was a bitter one, and the joke a terrible one against him, and city men are very averse to a joke against them, so it was hushed up, and has only got to the ears of the purveyors of scandal and to your correspondent, who records it as a trait of London life.

NEW ENGLAND CUSTOMS.—The following statements concerning the feed of our New England ancestors are condensed from one of the interesting chapters of "Palfrey's History of New England." In the diet of the people preparations of Indian corn made a prominent figure, although wheaten bread was not so uncommon in the early days as it afterwards became. A mixture of "rye and Indian" was the favorite bread, and a taste for this yet lingers in Massachusetts. Butcher's meat was but sparingly used. Game and fish to a considerable extent supplied the want of animal food. Next to these, swine and poultry—chickens, ducks, geese, and turkeys—were in common use earlier than other kinds of flesh meat. The morning and evening repast for a century and a half, universally consisted of boiled Indian meal and milk, or porridge or broth made of peas or beans, and flavored by being boiled with salted pork or beef. Succotash, or beans boiled with green corn, was a dish adopted from the natives, as were other preparations of Indian corn, named samp and hominy. Beer, which was brewed in families, was deemed a necessary of life, and the orchards soon enabled the Puritans to slake their thirst with bountiful supplies of cider.—Wine and rum were in request, as soon as they were imported; and the taste for tobacco proved too strong for legislation. It was little in use before 1750, and coffee before 1770. In one of his notes, Mr. Palfrey gives some curious illustrations of certain New England habits:

The local customs of baked beans, baked Indian pudding, and newly-baked rye and Indian bread on Wednesday, after the washing and ironing agonies of Monday and Tuesday, of "salt fish" regularly on Saturdays; and boiled Indian pudding (with roasted surloin of beef for those who could get it) on Sundays, have somewhat faded out, but must be distinctly in the remembrance of many of my readers.—These dishes are historical. The practice of successive generations has improved them; but baked beans point to the time when it was desirable to make the most of the commonest vegetable by flavoring it with the flesh of the commonest animal. Ground Indian corn, sweetened with molasses as soon as molasses began to come from the West Indies to Boston, was Indian pudding in its primitive condition. In my youth I used to hear it said that, all over the country, and all over the world, New England men kept up the ancient custom of eating salt fish (cod-fish) on Saturday, not on Friday, which would have been Popish. Forty years ago I was so situated as to know uncommonly well the habits of different classes of people in different parts of the country, and my observation accorded with this statement. Till a later period than this, the most ceremonious Boston feast was never set out on a Saturday (then the common dinner-party day) without the dun-fish at one end of the table; abundance, variety, pomp of other things, but that unfailingly. It was a sort of New England point of honor; and luxurious livers pleased themselves over their nuts and wine, with the thought that, while suiting their palates, they had been doing their part in a wide combination to maintain the fisheries and create a naval strength.

MURDERERS SENTENCED.—On the 10th inst. William Sullivan, convicted at St. Louis, Mo., of the murder of Timothy Corcoran, was sentenced to the penitentiary for 25 years. On the same day, H. Zouresky, convicted of murdering his wife in a shocking and brutal manner, was sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment. The life of a man, therefore, according to Missouri scale of punishment, is 150 per cent. more valuable than that of a woman.

THE WAY HISTORY IS WRITTEN.—A Paris wit, describing the French historians, says:

Mons. Thiers writes history traveling in a post-chaise over the battle-grounds of Europe, with a map on one side and a cook on the other. Mons. de Lamartine writes history by clipping other folk's labor. Mons. de Barante writes history by clipping others' works. Mons. Villemain writes history by clipping off in wee bits, other people's labors, but doing so in admirable style. Mons. Vignet writes history by drinking emolient infusions at a chimney-corner and measuring his sentences with a compass, to take care that none be longer than the other. Mons. Achille de Vaulabelle writes history by shaking his fist in the face of Europe, and screaming at the end of every paragraph, "I say here, look ye, France ain't 'fraid of nobody, nohow!" Mons. Louis Blanc writes history by being to Tacitus what Tom Thumb is to Jack the Giant-Killer. Mons. Michelet writes history by drawing pen and-ink portraits which are alternately English vignettes of an ideal beauty, or caricatures which make bar-rooms roar with laughter. Mons. Victor Cousin writes history in drawing the women of the Fronde in bust likenesses, but he is entirely too fond of dwelling on the bust. Count de Montalembert writes history in exorcising.—Mons. J. J. Ampere writes history a traveling. Mons. Troplong writes history in annotating. Mons. Capeogue writes history in gasconading.

AMERICAN PROGRESS.—In 1820 there were twenty-three States in the Union; now there are thirty-three. Then its area was 1,787,150 square miles; now it is 2,936,166. Our population then was 9,633,131; now it is 33,000,000. Our shipping then was 1,280,165 tons; now it is 6,145,137. Our annual imports then amounted to $74,450,000; now they amount to $335,768,130. Our exports then were $69,961,766; now they are $366,689,402. Our revenue then was $16,779,331; now it is $70,000,000. The real and personal estate of our citizens then was not over $1,000,000,000; now it is estimated at $10,000,000,000.

And testimonials, new, and almost without number, might be given from ladies and gentlemen in all grades of society, whose united testimony none could resist, that Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative will restore the bald and gray, and preserve the hair of the youth to old age, in all its youthful beauty.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Dec. 21, 1858.

PROF. WOOD: Thee wilt please accept a line to inform thee that the hair on my head fell off over twenty years ago, caused by a complicated chronic disease, attended with an eruption on the head. A continual course of suffering through life having reduced me to a state of dependence, I have not been able to obtain stuff for caps, neither have I been able to do them up, in consequence of which my head has suffered extremely from cold. This induced me to pay Briggs & Hodges almost the last cent I had on earth for a two dollar bottle of thy Hair Restorative about the first of August last. I have faithfully followed the directions, and the bald spot is now covered with hair thick and black, though short; it is also coming in all over my head. Feeling confident that another large bottle would restore it entirely and permanently, I feel anxious to persevere in its use, and being destitute of means to purchase any more, I would ask thee if thee wouldst not be willing to send me an order on thine agents for a bottle, and receive to thyself the scripture declaration—"the reward is to those who are kind to the widow and fatherless."

Thy friend, SUSANNAH KIRBY.

LIGONIER, Noble Co., Indiana, Feb. 5, 1859.

PROF. O. J. WOOD: Dear Sir:—In the latter part of the year 1852, while attending the State and National Law School of the State of New York, my hair, from a cause unknown to me, commenced falling off very rapidly, so that in the short space of six months, the whole upper part of my scalp was almost entirely bereft of its covering, and much of the remaining portion upon the side and back part of my head shortly after became gray, so that you will not be surprised when I tell you that upon my return to the State of Indiana, my more casual acquaintances were not so much at a loss to discover the cause of the change in my appearance, as my more intimate acquaintances were to recognize me at all.

I at once made application to the most skillful physicians in the country, but, receiving no assurance from them that my hair could again be restored, I was forced to become reconciled to my fate, until, fortunately, in the latter part of the year 1857, your Restorative was recommended to me by a druggist, as being the most reliable Hair Restorative in use. I tried one bottle, and found to my great satisfaction that it was producing the desired effect. Since that time, I have used seven dollars' worth of your Restorative, and as a result, have a rich coat of very soft black hair, which no money can buy.

As a mark of my gratitude for your labor and skill in the production of so wonderful an article, I have recommended its use to many of my friends and acquaintances, who, I am happy to inform you, are using it with like effect. Very respectfully, yours, A. M LATTA,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

The above well known and long established Hotel is now undergoing a thorough renovation, and being in a great degree newly furnished, under the proprietorship of MR. GEORGE J. BOLTON, who has been an inmate of the house for the last three years, and is well known to its guests.

Thankful for the liberal patronage which it has enjoyed, I cheerfully commend Mr. Bolton to the public favor. je7 d&wy WILLIAM BUEHLER.

ST. NICHOLAS HOTEL,

BROADWAY,
NEW YORK

When completed, six years ago, the St. Nicholas was universally pronounced the most magnificent, convenient, and thoroughly organized establishment of the kind on this continent.

What it was then, it remains to-day—without a rival in size, in sumptuousness, and in the general elements of comfort and enjoyment.

The Hotel has accommodations for ONE THOUSAND SIX HUNDRED GUESTS, including ONE HUNDRED COMPLETE SUITES OF APARTMENTS for families.

SIX HUNDRED PERSONS can be comfortably seated at the tables of its three public dining rooms, and nothing that modern art has devised for the convenience and social gratification of the traveling public has been omitted in its plan, or is neglected in its practical details.

The early reputation of the house at home and abroad, derived from its magnitude, its superb appointments, and its home-like comforts and luxuries, has been enhanced every year by the unwearied exertions of the Proprietors.

DR. MOTT'S CHALYBEATE RESTORATIVE PILLS OF IRON

AN aperient and Stomachic preparation of IRON purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest Medical Authorities, both in Europe and the United States, and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions, indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case.

Innoxious in all maladies in which it has been tried, it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz:

IN DEBILITY, NERVOUS AFFECTIONS, EMACIATION, DYSPEPSIA, CONSTIPATION, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, SALT RHEUM, MISMENSTRUATION, WHITES, CHLOROSIS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, CHRONIC HEADACHES, RHEUMATISM, INTERMITTENT FEVERS, PIMPLES ON THE FACE, &C.

In cases of GENERAL DEBILITY, whether the result of acute disease or of the continued diminution of nervous and muscular energy from chronic complaints one trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no description or written attestation would render credible. Invalids so long bed ridden as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly re-appeared in the busy world as if just returned from protracted travel in a distant land. Some very signal instances of this kind are attested of female Sufferers, emaciated victims of apparent marasmus, sanguineous exhaustion, critical changes, and that combination of nervous and dyspeptic aversion to air and exercise for which the physician has no name.

In NERVOUS AFFECTIONS of all kinds, and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of iron must necessarily be salutary, for, unlike the old oxides, it is vigorously tonic, without being exciting and overheating; and gently, regularly aperient, even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness without ever being a gastric purgative, or inflicting a disagreeable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permanent a remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action, by dispersing the local tendency which forms them.

In DYSPEPSIA, innumerable cases are its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most inbitual cases, including the attendant Costiveness.

In unchecked DIARRHŒA, even when advanced to DYSENTERY, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently malignant the effects have been equally decisive and astonishing.

In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitating cough, and remitrent hectic, which generally indicate INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, this remedy has allayed the alarm of friends and physicians, in several very gratifying and interesting instances.

In SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, this medicated iron has had far more than the good effect of the most cautiously balanced preparations of iodine, without any of their well known liabilities.

The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative, in the cases peculiarly affecting them.

In RHEUMATISM both chronic and inflammatory—in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has been invariably well reported, both as alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles.

In INTERMITTENT FEVERS it must necessarily be a great remedy and energetic restorative, and its progress in the new settlements of the West, will probably be one of high renown and usefulness.

No remedy has ever been discovered in the whole history of medicine, which exerts such prompt, happy, and fully restorative effects. Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use.

Put up in neat flat metal boxes containing 50 pills, price 50 cents per box; for sale by druggists and dealers. Will be sent free to any address on receipt of the price. All letters, orders, etc., should be addressed to

Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope,
A LECTURE ON THE NATURE, TREATMENT AND RADICAL CURE OF SPERMATORRHŒA, or Seminal Weakness, Sexual Debility, Nervousness and Involuntary Emissions, producing Impotency, Consumption and Mental and Physical Deility.
BY ROB. J. CULVERWELL, M. D.

The important fact that the awful consequences of self-abuse may be effectually removed without internal medicines or the dangerous applications of caustics, instruments, medicated bougies, and other empirical devices, is here clearly demonstrated, and the entirely new and highly successful treatment, as adopted by the celebrated author, fully explained, by means of which every one is enabled to cure himself perfectly, and at the least possible cost, thereby avoiding all the advertised nostrums of the day. The Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal to any address, post paid, on the receipt of two postage stamps, by addressing Dr. CHAS J. C. KLINE, 480 First Avenue, New York, Post Box 4,586.
