

MISCELLANY.

DISCOVERY OF A CAVE IN FLORIDA.—The following account of the discovery of a remarkable cave in Florida, is from a correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce, and comes with such appearance of circumstantiality that we copy it entire:

The structure of the under stratum of rock and earth in Florida is cavernous to a great extent. Indeed, as far as explorations have been made, the ground presents the appearance of a honeycomb, on account of the numerous cavities which are found to exist. Those caverns in the surface of the earth called "sink-holes" about them, and others partially filled with water, while rivers disappear under the ground and are seen no more. Florida is not only "the land of flowers," but also the land of wonders. A few days ago Mr. Henry Wooten, of New York City, and myself started on a hunting expedition, with the intention of camping out several days. On Saturday, the 29th day of September, we pursued a deer into a hammock, and attempting to ride through it, Mr. Wooten's horse stumbled into a small sink. While Mr. Wooten was endeavoring to extricate his horse I dismounted, and was engaged in examining a pile of stones which had about the moment of their fall, one of them I found an inscription, as if given with some steel instrument, but nearly obliterated by the ravages of time.

Mr. Wooten by this time had led his horse safely out of the sink, and, on rejoining me, said he had discovered a cave. After vainly endeavoring to decipher the strange inscription which I had found, we each collected an armful of pine wood to serve for torches. On arriving at the entrance we saw by the light of our torches that the bottom of the cavern was several feet below us. Handing my torch to my friend, I prepared to descend, which I accomplished with ease, the rocks serving as steps. Wooten then handed me a tin of armful of light wood and a torch, and prepared to descend further. We now found ourselves in a subterranean passage ten feet high and fifteen wide. We pursued this passage for nearly half a mile, it growing larger at every step, and appearing to descend into the earth by an easy inclination, when we unexpectedly found ourselves in a cave of immense extent. We explored it in every direction, sometimes entering small caverns which led off from the main cave. We finally entered a sort of square doorway, and found ourselves in a cavern of most beautiful appearance, the reflection of our lights against the sides producing a magnificent effect. For the first time in my life, the full force of that beautiful description which Goldsmith has given of the grotto of Antiparos.

But the most wonderful thing that met our view in this cave was a Latin inscription, graven in the solid rock. The inscription stated that a party of Danes had visited this cave in the year 1050, and that a priest who had accompanied them had left this memorial of their visit. The name of this priest was Marcus Poleus. It is also stated that those navigators had embarked on a voyage of exploration, and had been driven far South; also that they had visited many large islands, and finally had landed in a thinly populated country, where the people received them kindly, thinking them superior beings; that several of their number, together with some Greek artisans and two priests, had been left there as a colony. This is the substance of the inscription as far as it could be deciphered. Now, does not this suggest an important inquiry into the antiquarian? Is it not probable that the islands mentioned were the West Indies, and may not the country where they landed be Mexico? We all know that the ancient Mexicans had a tradition that about four hundred years before the discovery of Columbus, a country, "Children of the Sun," with white faces, came to them and taught them the arts of civilization. Is it not probable that this colony of Danes and Greeks, with their two Latin priests, were the persons referred to by tradition? Perhaps many buried secrets concerning the early history of America may be revealed by this strange device?

This wonderful cave is easy of access, and situated a few miles from the Florida railroad, and about ten miles from Waldo.

A SERIES OF SEVERE WINTERS PREDICTED.—A French meteorologist named Renou predicts a series of severe winters, of which the approaching winter is to be the first, and that of 1871 the most severe. M. Renou thinks he has discovered that these groups of severe winters, in forty-one years, and that the increase of spots on the sun indicates them. He also finds that unusual displays of aurora borealis and frequent earthquakes are simultaneous with the increase of spots on the sun and severe winters.

The Toilet.

THE ONLY PREPARATION THAT HAS STOOD THE TEST OF YEARS, AND GROWS MORE AND MORE POPULAR EVERY DAY.

And testimonials, new, and almost without number, might be given from ladies and gentlemen in all grades of society, whose united testimony none could resist, who state that, after using the Toilet Preparation, they had preserved the hair of the youth to old age, and preserved the hair of the old to youth, and in all their youthful beauty.

Prof. WOOD: This will please accept a line to inform that the hair on my head fell off over twenty years ago, caused by a complicated chronic disease, attended with much pain on the head. A constant course of suffering through life having reduced me to a state of dependence, I have not been able to obtain relief for years, until I used the Toilet Preparation, which I used for several months, and in the course of which my hair began to grow again, and in the course of a few months it had grown to its former length, and was as thick and as healthy as when I first used it.

As a mark of my gratitude for your labor and skill in the preparation of this Toilet Preparation, I have recommended it to many of my friends and acquaintances, and I am happy to inform you, as using it with like effect. Very respectfully yours, A. M. LATTA, 441 Broadway, and sold by all dealers throughout the country.
