The citizens of the First ward will meet at the house of C. J. Janss.

Second—Daniel Wagner's.

Third—Michael Gross's.

Fourth—James W. Morgan's.

Fifth—John Raymond's.

Sixth—John Stenler's.

W. GARRETT, Secretary.

THE DAILY PATRIOT AND UNION may be had at Jack's Book Store, corner of Third and Market streets.

PATRIOT AND UNION.—THE DAILY PATRIOT AND UNION can be had by Dauphin subscribers, every morning, at the periodical store of J. S. FRANK.

The Union Prayer Meeting will be held in the Presbyterian Church, on Market Square, this afternoon, at 4 o'clock, as usual.

DEMOCRATIC ELECTORAL TICKETS.—The Democratic electoral tickets for this county, in English and German, have been printed at this office, and are now ready for distribution.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.—On Thursday evening George Scott, of the Fourth ward, was brought before Alderman Maglauchlin on a charge of assault and battery, preferred by Henry Orth, and held to bail to answer the charge at court.

IN THE LOCK-UP.—Three customers were let out of the lock-up yesterday morning. Their names were John Robinson, William Roberts and William Davidson. Their crime was poverty, and as that is not punishable under the statute, they were permitted to go their way.

SCHOOL.—We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Mr. J. B. King, who has opened an English and classical school in Front street. Mr. King is a graduate of Princeton College, and comes here with high recommendations as a gentleman and a scholar.

GROCERIES.—Housekeepers should watch the little advertisements of Wm. Dock, Jr., & Co., which from time to time appear in our columns.—This enterprising firm keep what may truly be denominated a first class grocery, as there is nothing to be had in the east that they have not constantly on hand.

THE ENTERTAINER.—We acknowledge the receipt of a complimentary ticket to the Entertainer Association's musical soiree, to be given at their hall, in König's building, on Monday evening next. The members have made all the necessary arrangements to entertain a large party, and it is more than probable that they will have it to entertain.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS' UNION will hold their regular monthly meeting in the German Reformed Church on Sunday afternoon, at a quarter past three o'clock. The following subject will be presented for discussion:

Resolved, That we regard the common want of preparation by the scholars of their Sunday-school lessons as highly detrimental to success in teaching, and one which parents and teachers should diligently seek to remove.

LIABILITIES OF RAILWAYS.—A decision of some interest to drovers has just been rendered in Westchester county, New York, in a case against the Hudson River Railroad, for the value of two bullocks smothered in the cars in consequence of the closed door becoming broken, and the conductor grating the tight door on the passage from Troy to New York. The case had been tried in the lower court, and $100 damages decreed, from which the road appealed; but the higher court sustained the original judgment, deciding that the printed formula on the drover's pass, in relation to his taking it and his freight at his own risk was null, because the drover had never consented to such an agreement to release the road from any claim for damages.

LYKESSTOWN ITEMS.—We clip the following items from the Journal of yesterday:

Parade.—The Washington Rifle Company paraded on Saturday last and passed inspection by Brigade Inspector Laudenschlager very creditably. The accostions to the roll of the company were slowly continued, so that by time it will come favorably in point of numbers with any in the State. In perfection of drill it is even now inferior to very few volunteer companies in the country, and Capt. Auden intends to keep improving in that respect.

Shocking Accident.—On Tuesday evening last a man named Joseph Swansberry was dangerously injured by a fall of coal in the Short Mountain mine on Tuesday last. We understand he is doing well.

THE FRIENDSHIP BALL.—We are highly gratified to announce that the Friendship ball, on Thursday evening, was a success—all that its projectors could have wished it. We looked in a little after eight o'clock in the evening, and found the hall beautifully decorated. The orchestra was on the stage, at the back of which there was an American flag festooned, and a row of five hats suspended across the stage. Around the walls of the building pictures were suspended and festooned from the pillars in the middle of the room, to which was attached a silver fire horn. We did not remain long enough to see the ball proper, but we are told that it was an exceedingly gay affair, lasting from a little after 9 o'clock on Thursday evening, until 4 o'clock on Friday morning. As the party was large, the company no doubt netted a handsome amount, which goes toward the purchase of the new steamer.

ROBBERY OF THE EXPRESS COMPANY.—On Saturday, the 6th of this month, the Merchant's Bank, of Baltimore, sent, by Adams & Co.'s Express, a package of bank notes, amounting to $9,445, to Wm. M. Marshall, Esq., cashier of the Hagerstown Bank. The package reached Hagerstown on Monday, having laid over at Harrisburg on Sunday, and when opened the sum of $3,000 was found missing. The package was in a loose condition, and had all the appearance of having been previously opened, as of course it must have been, for in lieu of the money abstracted a number of Philadelphia Ledgers, cut in strips of the size of bank notes, were inserted to fill the vacuum.—By whom the robbery was perpetrated is not known, but the amount of loss was paid to the Hagerstown Bank by Col. Bingham, the Superintendent of the Pennsylvania Division of the Express Company, on Thursday last, thus adding another evidence to the many this extensive company has already given to the public, of its cheerful alacrity in making good all losses of property entrusted to its care, and of its entire ability at all times to do so. It is one of the greatest and most useful inventions of our day, and we scarcely know how banks and business men could dispense with its services in this fast age.

THE GOLD DOLLAR COIN—ITS CONVENIENCE AND USEFULNESS.—The Baltimore Sun, referring to the impolitic act of the Treasury Department in having the convenient gold dollar coin converted into the comparatively useless double eagle, has the following proper comments upon the act:

"We are a little anxious to know something about the fate of that convenient and popular little coin, the gold dollar. It is said to be to be converted into coin of a larger denomination. If this is the case, we cannot but believe that the testimony against it is ex parte and unjust, for it is a general favorite wherever the experience and tendency of the public mind is favorable to a safe currency for small denominations. In Maryland and Virginia, where we have not recently succeeded in relieving the circulating medium of small paper, and where the masses, everywhere, have become familiar with, and attached to, the gold dollar, its withdrawal from circulation will be a great drawback."

"We saw a statement the other day, that the Mint in Philadelphia was engaged upon the recoinage of some three millions of gold dollars from the Sub-Treasury of New York, and that the work was in progress by order of the Secretary of the Treasury; and that they were to be re-coined into ten and twenty dollar pieces, and that the offer of parties to give the larger coin in exchange for the dollars being melted up. The purpose, therefore, seems a determined and premeditated one to withdraw the gold dollar from circulation, and if so, it is certainly quite unaccountable. For this little coin is just as popular now as ever it was, and really more useful and indispensable than at first, inasmuch as it has so generally superseded the one dollar notes, which were always a nuisance in small transactions. The thorough and universal appreciation of the gold dollar in every community where notes of a less denomination than five dollars are prohibited, should at least preserve the coin from such absorption as would cause a scarcity of it. We hope never to feel, from any cause, the necessity for a resort to paper of the lower denominations, especially on account of the retirement of the gold dollar by order of the government."

"The demand for the coin is as general as it ever was, and should any other State, as is very likely, particularly the State of New York, prohibit the circulation of notes of the inferior denominations—that is, under five dollars—the demand for the gold dollar will proportionately increase. In Maryland it is so highly esteemed in all the smaller transactions as to be almost indispensable, and our citizens would feel the inconvenience of its withdrawal very sensibly and resentfully, as an unnecessary privation. In shopping it is the common auxiliary, and to the purse an easy and graceful instrumentality. We are, therefore, in Maryland, as well as in the safe, reliable and substantial representative of value."

"As we have no reason to believe that the Government of the United States would capriciously impair the convenience of the public with regard to any particular coin, we trust that the gold dollar will be suffered to remain a familiar acquaintance of the people, and perform its useful service, as heretofore, as a small, but very convenient member of the United States currency."

IMPROVED LOCOMOTIVES.—There have been completed for the Mine Hill and Schuylkill Haven Railroad, two improved locomotive engines, by Baldwin & Co., of Philadelphia. They are outside cylinder, eight wheel connected engines intended to burn anthracite coal. The cylinders are 19 inches in diameter, and 22 inch stroke; the driving wheels all coupled, are 43 inches in diameter. The boilers of the engines combine a number of peculiarities, first in shape, which is unusual, the waist being level along the bottom, rises from each end, on the top, up to the dome, which sits midway on top. The fire box is shallow, the back axle passing under the middle of it. The grates are cleared by a self-acting apparatus, worked by an eccentric on the driving axle. The left hand pump of the engine pumps directly into the boiler as usual, but the pump on the right hand pumps continuously through the heater, whenever the engine is in motion. The feed-water passes from the pump to the bottom of the smoke-stack, where it enters the coil heater pipe. Passing through this the heated feed-water is led off from the top of the smoke-stack casing, and thence the water is carried downward in a pipe to the bottom of the check valve. The fixtures connected with this valve are also peculiar. The heated feed-water enters the check-chamber through a two-way cock, and as the water is being constantly pumped, it may be turned up through the valve or through a long pipe, conducting it back again to the bottom part of the tender. In this way the heating of the feed-water is according to its wants. After passing the check-valve, however, the water encounters further arrangements designed to regulate its admission into the boiler. It may, if desired, be turned directly into the boiler; the cock for this purpose, placed at the top of the check-chamber, is ordinarily kept closed, and the water is conducted through a long pipe extending on the outside of the boiler to the bottom of the water space around the fire box. Here the pipe enters the boiler, and it is extended, within the water space for the whole length of the fire box, numerous holes being made in the top of the pipe to allow the feed-water to enter finally, in an almost continuous stream, along the whole length of the water space. This mode of admitting the feed-water to the boiler, it is said, keeps the water space clear of dirt and sediment.

TO HASHEESH-EATERS—One Effect of the Drug. The curious effect of hashesh, or Indian Hemp, in prolonging the apparent duration of time, is well described by P. B. Randolph, a relation to the Randolph of Roanoke, as follows:—He says that on one occasion, when he was completely under the influence of this drug, he counted the years that it took him to dip his pen in ink and carry it to the paper on which he wrote; and in this short space of actual time, which was but the fraction of a minute, he distinctly numbered six hundred and fifty years, and during the time the fantasia lasted, which was about four hours, he had a distinct consciousness and experience of many hundred thousand years. Every year, month, week, day, hour, minute and second was palpably distinct, and the individual experience of each moment was clear and definitely marked. This comes nearer to realizing the dream of the "Eternal Progressionists," than anything we have yet heard, though certainly it will be for them a slow eternity. The description, however, exactly reproduces the feelings imparted by an overdose of hashesh on a single occasion, or its continued use for any length of time. Intolerable languor, accompanied by a sort of divine placidity, takes possession of both mind and body—the only surviving desire being to hear Alfred Tennyson's song of "The Lotus Eaters," read or hummed in a low, musical voice! by some one sitting by the side of the sofa on which the hashesh-eater lazily reclines. It is delicious madness, but one most dangerous.

SILK MANUFACTURES THE UNITED STATES.—The United States Economist says:

It is estimated that there are now about 36 mills in operation in different parts of the United States, in which from 5,000 to 10,000 hands are constantly employed. About three-fourths of the operatives are children under 16 years of age, who are engaged at comparatively trifling wages. The entire value of the machinery and mills connected with the silk trade is estimated at $3,000,000. The average cost of manufacture on silk goods is about one-half of the value of the raw material. Taking, therefore, $1,000,000 we shall have about 2,000,000 as the present value of the annual production of silk goods in the United States.

BEFORE ALDERMAN KLINE.—On Thursday Malcom McCollum was brought before Alderman Kline on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Malcom was sent over for five days. It may not be out of place to mention that his father was just released from prison, where he had been confined on a similar charge, the day previous.

On the same day, Wickert and Becker brought in Jake Jones on a charge of assault and battery, preferred by William Watkins. Bail fixed at $100, and the inevitable Tom Bennet became Jake's bondsman.

On the same evening, Henry Wagner made oath against Daniel Easter for committing an assault and battery, and Easter made oath against Wagner for the same thing. There was a few words and a knock-down in the case, but who was the aggressor the Court must determine.

An action was brought against Samuel W. Freeman for an assault and battery, on oath of Rachael Ratcliff. Rachael is in the employ of Mr. Freeman, and she alleged that when she asked him for money he knocked her down. A very convenient method of settling a dun—but then, that is her side of the story.

The Atlantic Monthly for November is at hand, containing several articles of unusual interest and brilliancy, even for that popular magazine. The number opens with an appreciative sketch of Thomas Hood, "Fayal and the Portuguese," giving an account of a voyage from Boston to Fayal, and a good idea of the inhabitants of that island capital, "Midsummer and May," by Miss Harriet Prescott, the first part of which only is published, is the most remarkable contribution of that gifted authoress to magazine literature. The story is of absorbing interest, and the pages glow with the wild and dazzling pictures. Mr. Jarvis contributes the article entitled "Italian Experiences in Collecting Old Masters," Dr. Holmes gives in his continuation of the "Professor's Story," an excellent description of a New England tea party. The feature of the number, however, is "The Recollections of Irving," by his publisher, Mr. Putnam, furnished in an easy, gossiping style, just what we all wish to know of Mr. Irving, and what no one could furnish but Mr. Putnam. Several excellent poems and book notices also give interest to the number.

THE NEW MOTIVE POWER.—The Paris correspondent of the London Star states that the whole of the scientific world is in a state of revolution at the bare prospect of the success obtained by M. Lenoir's new motive power, for which we have been prepared for many months past. The trial has been made at last, and the result has excited the greatest interest throughout Paris. As usual in all great discoveries, that made by M. Lenoir is founded upon the simplest fact in science, being merely the application upon a large scale of one of the elementary experiments of chemistry—that of the synthesis of water in the radiometer. He has simply utilized the principle of the expansion of air when at lofty temperature, by means of combustion through the spark of induction of hydrogen. The economy produced is calculated at not less than forty per cent. by the suppression of the boiler, the chimney and the other accessories hitherto used in the construction of steam engines.—The machine itself offers a saving of thirty per cent. Several engines, varying from five to ten horse power, constructed by Marioni, have been dispatched to England and Belgium. M. Harcourt has ordered one of twenty horse power for the works hurrying on in the Isthmus of Suez. This new machine, which seems to realize every dream of inventor and manufacturer, by offering an immense result of power in exchange for a mere nominal supply of fuel, is about to be tried on some of the French railways. Until then it would be premature to pronounce the assertions made by the inventor and his friends as the results of proof.
