NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS. FOR PRESIDENT, JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE, OF KENTUCKY.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT, JOSEPH LANE, OF OREGON.

THE CONSTITUTION AND THE EQUALITY OF THE STATES: THESE ARE SYMBOLS OF EVERLASTING UNION. LET THESE BE THE BALLYING CRISIS OF THE PEOPLE.

Instead of breaking up the Union, we intend to strengthen and to lengthen it. We know no section as distant from the others; we know the Constitution and the States under it, and their rights as guaranteed under that instrument.

Democratic Electoral Ticket. The following is the regular Democratic electoral ticket formed by the Reading Convention.

Sectionalism—Lincoln the Candidate of a Sectional Minority. The Republicans profess to see great danger from throwing the election into the House of Representatives.

If Lincoln should obtain a majority of electoral votes on Tuesday next, he will become the President not only of one section of the Union, but also of a minority of the voters of the country.

This reason, there is no form of government upon earth where sectionalism is more to be dreaded, and more dangerous in its consequences, than in these United States.

It is surprising that the Southern States, whose interests are defied by the Republican party, should murmur at the inauguration of an administration obtaining power by reason of its hostility to rights which they deem sacred.

Suppose for one moment that the case was reversed; that the united South had a majority of the electoral votes; that they should combine to elect a President pledged to the diffusion of slavery throughout all the States—and that the North opposed and protested against this policy of forcing upon them a sectional ruler.

Would we submit without a murmur to Southern aggression? On the contrary, would not we seek to secure our rights against the threatened danger, and earnestly protest against such a perversion of the spirit of the Constitution?

Would we not look upon the election of a sectional President, by a minority of the people, as an outrage, and would we not be agitated and excited as much as the South now is?

Talk about the danger of throwing the election of President into the House! The moment that is accomplished the danger is past. The people would then feel assured that no sectional candidate could possibly be elected, and that whether Breckinridge, Douglas or Bell became President, he would have the support of Northern and Southern men, and administer the government upon national principles.

AID FOR GARIBALDI.—An agent of Garibaldi has arrived in Jamaica, endeavoring to obtain subscriptions to the work of Italian independence. There is much feeling in favor of the Liberator, and the movement is general throughout the Island.

REMARKABLE SUICIDE IN PARIS.

A very singular suicide recently occurred in Paris, according to a correspondent of a New York paper; the victim being a lady in comfortable circumstances, and arrived at the ripe age of seventy-three years! A nephew of this old lady, employed in a business establishment in the quarter of Montmartre, received, by the post, a letter conceived in the following terms: "My dear nephew: When you receive this letter I shall have ceased to exist! At my age to commit suicide seems a singular idea, I admit. I have passed my seventy-third birthday, and I have always been happy. But I feel that the hand of infirmity is about to be laid upon me, and I wish to avoid it. Of what use to me would be a few remaining years of life if they are to be passed in wretched bodily sufferings? You are my only relative and universal legatee. Propriety will doubtless induce you to shed a tear for me, but confess freely that you will not profusely regret my demise. It will place you in possession of a snug fortune, and give your family a comfortable position. "All my affairs are in order, and you will find the papers in the hand of my notary.—The only obligations I desire to impose upon you are these: First, not to sell my house, but to retain it for yourself and descendants. Second, to publish, in my name, two volumes, one of poetry and the other a novel, of which I am the author. You will find the manuscripts in my desk. If you cannot obtain a publisher, print them at your own cost. I am sure you will not hesitate to make this trifling sacrifice to my memory, and you will be grateful to me for thus permitting you to enjoy my heritage some time sooner than you had expected. You see I am a good hearted creature. Show yourself worthy of so kind an aunt."

The recipient of this extraordinary document immediately hastened to his aunt's residence, and found that the old lady had asphyxiated herself by means of the fumes of charcoal.

EDITORIAL CONFLICT.—High Words and Dirks. Two editors recently indulged in a fight at Savannah (Mo.). The origin of the difficulty was politics. The Savannah Plaindealer of Saturday, 20th inst., was severe and bitter in its remarks towards the editor of the Democrat, and early in the morning Mr. Whitaker, the editor of the Plaindealer, filled his arms with mail matter and started for the post office.

Some obstruction in the doorway of the post office caused him to look in at the window of the Democrat, and while so doing, and while loaded down with mail matter, Mr. Welch made an assault upon him from behind. Whitaker was somewhat surprised, being ignorant of the presence of his antagonist, and did not know who his assailant was until he had been struck two or three times, when he turned upon Welch. Whitaker dropped his mail upon the pavement and drew a pistol, but owing to his proximity and his antagonist being on his back, he was unable to use it.

Whitaker, when the barrel broke loose from the stock, Whitaker then drew a dirk knife, and the two editors, who were both armed with weapons upon the upper front button of Mr. Welch's pantaloons. The bystanders quickly interfered before Whitaker had time to strike his opponent. Mr. Welch certainly narrowly escaped with his life, for had the knife penetrated his abdomen, where Whitaker seems to have aimed it, it would have been a fatal and sad blow.

THACKERAY AND HIS TROUBLES.—Thorns in the Cushion of an Editor's Chair.—Now that Mr. Thackeray has got a magazine, says the London Critic, he is determined that nothing he has done shall be wasted. The "Roundabout Paper" is, undoubtedly, the best of the editor's contributions, because the freshest and most present to the feelings of the moment. In the present one he dwells upon the griefs of editorship.

"The Thorns in the Cushion" of the editor's chair. There is the sad pleading letter he writes for ward striving for charity's sake, and accompanying the weak effusions that are quite useless. What editor has not received such, and has not been compelled to return the inevitable answer? Now you see what I mean by a thorn. Here is the case put with true female logic: "I am poor; I am good; I am ill; I work hard; I have a sick mother and hungry brothers and sisters dependent on me. You can help us if you will." And then I look at the paper, with the thousandth part of a faint hope that it may be suitable, and I find it won't do; and I knew it wouldn't do; and why is this poor body to appeal to my pity, and bring her begging for ward striving for charity's sake, and calling for bread, which I can give them if I could? No day passes but that argument ad misericordiam is used. Day and night that sad voice is crying out for help. Thrice it appealed to me yesterday. Twice this morning it cried to me; and I have no doubt, when I go to get my hat, I shall find it, with its piteous face and its pale family about it, waiting for me in the hall. One of the immense advantages which women have over our sex, is that they actually like to read these letters. Like letters? Oh, mercy on us! Before I was an editor I did not like the postman much—but now?

ARREST OF BEAN HICKMAN IN NEW YORK.—The New York Express of Monday evening says:—"The once gay and gallant 'Bean Hickman,' who figured so conspicuously in Washington City for many years, noted particularly for his politeness to members of Congress and others who would pay handsomely for being shown the elephant of Washington and various others cities to which he might be invited to accompany political celebrities, was arrested last Monday morning by detective Wilson, charged with having perpetrated some confidence swindle on a gentleman living about Abington Square. The particulars of the transaction were not ascertained by our reporter up to 12 o'clock, the officers up to that time being absent in search of the complainant. Bean was taken to police headquarters and detained to await further progress in the case. During the absence of the officers arresting him, Bean was very anxious to go to the Metropolitan Hotel to call on some gentleman from Washington, whom he wished to aid in extricating him from his present difficulties; but he was not allowed to depart. Hickman, evidently, in view of the wane, as his personal appearance fails to indicate him to be in the full tide of success.

SOUTHERN DISCRIMINATION AGAINST NORTHERN INSURANCE COMPANIES.—A large number of insurance companies of the North have established agencies in this city and throughout the South, which, for years past, have been doing a large business. We are pleased to learn that some of our leading mercantile houses have determined to change their insurers. On yesterday a firm that has $25,000 insured in four companies located at Hartford, Conn., one of the policies having expired, took out a new policy with a Southern insurance company. They have determined, as soon as their policies expire, which will be within a few days, to insure altogether in Southern companies. We understand there are agencies of six or seven reliable Southern insurance companies in this city, and one English company, so that there will be no necessity for continuing to enrich the enemies of our institutions. The Hartford companies have become wealthy by doing an immense Southern business.—Columbia (S. C.) Guardian.

DEATH OF "OLD JOE SWEENEY."—The original banjoist, "Old Joe Sweeney," died at the late residence of his father, in Appomattox county, Va., on the 27th ult., at about the age of forty-five years. He had traveled extensively in Europe and almost entirely over the United States, and enjoyed probably a greater reputation than any other man as a banjoist, having been the first white man to introduce the banjo to the public.

LATEST BY TELEGRAPH LATER FROM EUROPE.

FATHER POINT, November 1. The Steamer Bohemian has passed here, with Liverpool dates of Thursday, the 18th ult.—Italian affairs are unchanged.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 18th.—Cotton has an advancing tendency. All descriptions of breadstuffs have also advanced. Provisions are steady.

The steamship Bohemian's dates by telegraph via Queenstown, are to Friday upon. When she left Liverpool there was great rejoicing, consequent on the opening of a splendid free library, presented to the town by William Brown.

The Queen had returned to Windsor Castle from her visit to her daughter, with recovered health. The Times' Paris correspondent says the departure of the Pope's nuncio from Rome was considered a forerunner of the pope's quitting Rome. The same authority says that sulding has the spirit of hostility been so general in the Church of France, never so boldly displayed.

The pastoral circulars, allocutions and sermons all denounce, and all but implore, divine vengeance on the invaders of the Papal States, and by implication on the Emperor. The whole preface has been aroused throughout the country. The Paris bourse was firm.

Advices from Italy say that as soon as the annexation of Naples and Sicily to Sardinia is proclaimed, Garibaldi will resign his political power and assume the functions of Commander-in-Chief of the land and sea forces of Southern Italy.

It was reported in Berlin that Russia had recalled its Ambassadors from Turin and given the Sardinian Ambassador at St. Petersburg his passports. It was reported that 14,000 Piedmontese troops had reached Naples. They will proceed to Caserta to join the troops about entering the Roman frontier.

Nebraska Election. ST. LOUIS, Nov. 1. Later and full returns from Nebraska show Mr. Dally, the Republican candidate for delegate to Congress, by one hundred and eleven majority.

GENERAL NEWS. The London Court Journal says:—A divorce case, under peculiar circumstances, is likely to attract public attention. A lady, belonging to a distinguished family, long hesitated between two eligible suitors; she at length selected one of them and was married, but soon fancied she made a wrong selection, and eloped with her rejected suitor. Proceedings were instituted, and she was among the first to avail herself of Sir Cresswell Cresswell's process of "Freedom made Easy," by marrying her guilty partner; but she seems scarcely to know her own mind, and has since re-eloped with her first husband. Casuists are puzzled as to which she should be disposed to like best.

The Portland Advertiser tells a story of one of the sailors of the British squadron who deserted from his vessel. It seems that twelve years ago, he left his home in Maine, and while in England got drunk and was "pressed" on board of a John Bull frigate. His plea that he was an American only caused a closer watch over him, and for twelve years he has been an English man-of-war's man. Happening to recognize a townsman who was visiting the squadron he revealed himself, through his own attachment and Miss May, who is a respectable and handsome young woman.

INFAMOUS FRAUD ON FEMALES.—A Despicable Scoundrel.—A day or two since a New York sharper landed in Philadelphia, and hired a room at No. 213 Union street. He then advertised in the Ledger for young ladies to learn a business which would pay from $7 to $10 per week. Quite a number of females answered the advertisement, and were told that they must pay $10 each. This all except ten or twelve of them declined. The latter paid over the funds and were told to call next day. They did so, and found the sharper had vanished during the night.

A "STRONG-MINDED" WOMAN.—Mrs. D. Lydia Syng Hasbrouck, of Orange county, N. Y., who insists that a woman should not be taxed unless she is allowed to vote, has thought to snare the collector out of his demand by offering to work out her road tax. The doctress, having somewhat passed the bloom of youth, made no impression upon the collector, and therefore, instead of paying under protest, and some of her sisters do, she went upon the road and drove a cart.

THE DEATH OF GEN. CLARK.—Brevet Brigadier Gen. Clark, Commander of the Department of California, who died in San Francisco on the 17th inst. of chronic diarrhoea, has served in the U. S. Army since 1812, was through the war in Mexico, and was promoted to the distinguished position occupied at the time of his death for meritorious conduct at the siege of Vera Cruz.

THE ORIGIN.—Torchlight processions were designed more than two thousand years ago. See I Maccabees, iv. 22, wherein account is given of the high priest Jason, who escorted King Antiochus into Jerusalem "with torchlight and great shoutings." Jason lived in the fourth century B. C.

ARREST OF A FUGITIVE SLAVE.—Nathan Butler, a slave belonging to the estate of Dr. James Higgins, in Montgomery county, Md., and who ran away in 1856, was arrested a few days ago in Washington city, where he has ever since resided under the name of Charles Smith. He had married there and passed himself off as free.

THE KANSAS SUFFERERS.—Bishop Potter, of Pennsylvania, has issued a pastoral letter to the ministers and members of the Protestant Episcopal Church in his diocese, laying before them the condition of the starving people of Kansas, and recommending that individual and congregational offerings be made for the relief of the suffering.

A large quantity of sorghum is being grown in North Carolina this season.

POSTOFFICE AFFAIRS.—Maryland and Pennsylvania.—At Dunkirk, Calvert county, Md., Charles H. Johnson is appointed postmaster, vice David P. Smith, declined. The office at Quincey, Franklin county, Pa., is re-established and David Wertz appointed postmaster. Wm. W. French is appointed postmaster at Eagle Foundry, Huntingdon county, Pa., vice Nathan G. Horton, resigned.

TAKING THE YELLS.—Fifty-five young ladies took the white veil on last night, at the Convent of the Sisters of Notre Dame, N. H. Quincey, Wis., and although the black veil on the 8th, in the same establishment.

SUICIDE IN PLYMOUTH, MASS.—Southworth Aarnes, a leading merchant and well-known citizen of Plymouth, Mass., committed suicide on Monday by drowning. Cause, mental depression.

ARKANSAS.—The population of Arkansas is likely to exceed 500,000, and she will probably be entitled to four, if not five Representatives in Congress. She now sends but two.

FUSION IN MASSACHUSETTS.—The Bell and Everett men and Democrats have fused on members of Congress in the third, fourth, fifth and seventh congressional districts.

THE UNDERGROUND RAILROAD.—The value of slaves who have escaped from the counties of Bourbon and Fayette, Ky., within the last month, is estimated at $16,000.

The family of Mr. Faulkner, the American Minister, has returned to Paris from Switzerland and gave their first dinner and reception on the 9th ult.

SORROWS come soon enough without despondency; it does a man no good to carry around a lightning rod to attract trouble.

The Dell and Everett vote in Ohio, at the late election, was a little over 8,000. In 1856 Fillmore had over 28,000.

From the Independent, New York, July 28, 1859. GIVE.—Our advertising columns contain some testimonials of the value of a new article known as "Bell's Specific Pills." These pills are useful to those who are afflicted with rheumatism, neuralgia, or any other form of nervous pain. It is prepared with chemicals, by which it is kept in the proper condition for immediate use, and the chemicals evaporate in the stomach, leaving only the glue to harden. We can assure our readers that this article has the excellent phenological quality of "large adhesive masses."

Mothers, read this. The following is an extract from a letter written by a pastor of the Baptist Church to the Journal and Messenger, Cincinnati, Ohio, in relation to the use of Dr. Wm. Wertz's Suffering Remedy in your columns of Mrs. Winslow's Suffering Remedy. We were never so much in favor of a patent medicine before in our life, but we are compelled to say to your readers, that this is no humbug, but a genuine and valuable remedy. It is, probably, one of the most successful medicines of the day, because it is one of the best. And those of you who have babies, will do well to better than to lay in a supply.
