MISCELLANY.

AN APPARITION INVITING PEOPLE TO ITS OWN FUNERAL—A Curious Story.—The following incident, not altogether improbable, is narrated in several French papers:

The son of a wealthy merchant of Lyous, named Bodri, was sent at the age of twenty-two years to Paris, with letters of recommendation to the correspondent of his father's house, who did not know him personally. Furnished with ample funds to pass some time very agreeably at the capital, he took with him one of his intimate friends, as young and gay as himself. Arriving in Paris, Mr. Bodri was attacked with a violent fever; his friend at first remained to take care of him, but after some days Mr, Bodri insisted that he should have some enjoyment, and yielding to his companion's pressing invitation, the young man, who had no acquaintance in the capital, decided to make a visit, under the name of Mr. Bodri, to the house of the correspondent of the latter's father; he would find there pleasant society, and shortly after the two friends would go together, and explain the cause. Thanks to the letters of recommendation which the invalid had, and which he handed to his substitute, the latter was received in the most flattering manner, and passed a merry evening, and, although somewhat embarrassed, found means to please alkin playing his part to perfection; but when he returned to his friend, he found him in an alarming condition; the fever had made rapid progress; and in spite of his unceasing attentions, continued even when hope was gone, the sick man expired in a few hours.

Although much grieved the young Lyonnese soon comprehended the awkwardness of his position. It was indispensable that the correspondent, at whose house he had spent so pleasant an evening, should be informed of the calamity. But how could he be able to face him? How explain the imposition of using his friend's name without being shamefully compromised? It was impossible, however, to avoid inviting the correspondent to the funeral ceremonies on the following day. This uncertainty lasted during the day, but in the evening an original idea, foolish, perhaps, presented itself to his mind; he siezed upon it, put an end to his hesitation, and executed it immediately.

Pale, haggard with grief, languid from fatigue, clothed in black, and disordered, he presented himself about ten o'clock at night at the house of the correspondent. "What misfortune has happened to you?" asked he hastily. "The greatest of all, sir," answered the young man. "I died this morning, and came to invite you to my funeral which will take place to-morrow morning." At these words all were astounded, and the young man took advantage of it to escape without being perceived. They reflected, they counseled together, and it was decided that young Bodri had become insane. The following day the correspondent, with his son, set out to lend their succor in case he should need them, but on arriving they found the hearse before the door. Much agitated, they inquired, and found it was for Bodri. Then, terribly frightened, being convinced that the dead had appeared to them, they hastened away to communicate their fears to their family.

NEW ANECDOTE OF BENEDICT ARNOLD.—The Historical Magazine has some interesting extracts from the private journal kept by Mr. Nathaniel Cutting, of Massachusetts, during his residence abroad in the service of the United States. This journal has recently fallen into the hands of William G. Brocks, Esq., of Boston, who prepared the article above named. In 1793, Mr. Cutting was appointed by President Washington to proceed to Lisbon with secret dispatches to Colonel David Humphreys, the American Minister, and to act as Secretary to the Mission to Portugal. While Mr. Cutting was serving in this capacity, he was an intimate acquaintance of Mr. Mattra, the British Consul at Tangier. This English officer related to Mr. Cutting the following story of Gen. Benedict Arnold, "that despicable traitor to the cause of American freedom." It reveals his odious character in a new aspect of treason against his native land. The statement stands thus recorded in Cutting's journal:

"Several years since, as early as 1785, when Mr. Mattra was in England, he became slightly acquainted with Arnold, who, knowing his situation in Morocco, solicited an opportunity of proposing to him a scheme of business that could not fail of being lucrative. Mr. M. at length gave Arnold the hearing. The plan he proposed was that Mr. M. should, by his interest at the Court of Morocco, procure commissions for sundry corsairs, which he (Arnold) would come and fit out from Tangier. 'But,' observed Mr. M., 'who would you cruise against? The Emperor of Morocco has no maritime enemy; nor does he wish to provoke a rupture with any of the European powers.' Arnold replied, 'But the Americans have yet no treaty with Morocco; I would capture their vessels; I know very well the track where to find them; by such an expedition we would soon acquire ample fortunes.'

"Arnold pressed the matter very seriously for some time, but finding that Mr. M. rejected the nefarious scheme, and steadily refused to exert the smallest influence toward obtaining the commissions in question, the arch renegade solicited that he would assist him in procuring Algerine commissions. Mr. M. heartily disgusted with such villainy, assured Arnold that he had no interest and scarcely any acquaintance at or near Algiers, and therefore explicitly excused himself from participating in such a diabolical pursuit. It was not only once, said Mr. M., but perhaps a dozen times, that Arnold seriously addressed him to the foregoing purport."—Boston Transcript.

A CALIFORNIA ROMANCE.—The St. Louis papers tell a strange story of one John Hardwick, a Pittsburg mechanic. In 1853 he went to California, leaving a wife and two children behind. Reaching the land of gold, he dug a pile, which his partner stole from him. Then he fell sick, and recovered only to find himself quite impoverished, feebie, discouraged. He wrote frequently to his wife; she did not receive his letters, nor did any from her reach him.—He concluded that she was glad to get rid of him, so he began to dig again. In the meantime, the wife mourned for him as for one dead, then naturally married again and removed to St. Louis.

Her first children died, and she bore two more to the second husband, who after a time died also. Within a month Hardwick, the California adventurer, having accumulated a fortune, came towards the East, traveling by the overland rout. Stopping in St. Louis, he walked about the city, looking at the town.—While so engaged he met his wife. "Mutual explanations" followed. The dead children received the tribute of paternal tears, and the new ones were welcomed with affection. Then a clergyman united the pair for the second time, and all parties soon left St. Louis.

AGRICULTURAL FAIR AT SAN FRANCISCO.—The Bay District Agricultural Exhibition was opened at San Francisco, Cal., on the 5th ult., and there was a very large attendance. The show of horses, cattle, farming implements, &c., was very fine, and the fruit exhibition was very abundant, combining numerous varieties of grapes, apples, pears, peaches, quinces, melons, &c. It was to continue for a week.—The departments of cereals, vegetables, flowers and plants were well filled, and the several articles excellent of their kind.

WAR'S HOLOCAUST.—An enthusiastic proficient in the study of statistics lately calculated that fifteen millions of men have perished in the various wars which have been waged since the creation of the world. Carrying his calculation still further, he estimates the blood shed in all these wars at 3,560,000 barrels, and taking the weight of each man at an average of 100 pounds, he concludes that 1,560,000 pounds of human flesh have been cut to pieces by hostile weapons.

And testimonials, new, and almost without number, might be given from ladies and gentlemen in all grades of society, whose united testimony none could resist, that Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative will restore the bald and gray, and preserve the hair of the youth to old age, in all its youthful beauty.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Dec. 21, 1858.

PROF. WOOD: Thee will please accept a line to inform thee that the hair on my head fell off over twenty years ago, caused by a complicated chronic disease, attended with an eruption on the head. A continual course of suffering through life having reduced me to a state of dependence, I have not been able to obtain stuff for caps, neither have I been able to do them up, in consequence of which my head has suffered extremely from cold. This induced me to pay Briggs & Hodges almost the last cent I had on earth for a two dollar bottle of thy Hair Restorative about the first of August last. I have faithfully followed the directions, and the bald spot is now covered with hair thick and black, though short; it is also coming in all over my head. Feeling confident that another large bottle would restore it entirely and permanently, I feel anxious to persevere in its use, and being destitute of means to purchase any more, I would ask thee if thee wouldst not be willing to send me an order on thine agents for a bottle, and receive to thyself the scripture declaration—"the reward is to those who are kind to the widow and fatherless."

Thy friend, SUSANNAH KIRBY.

LUCONIER, Noble Co., Indiana, Feb. 5, 1859.

PROF. O. J. WOOD: Dear Sir:—In the latter part of the year 1852, while attending the State and National Law School of the State of New York, my hair, from a cause unknown to me, commenced falling off very rapidly, so that in the short space of six months, the whole upper part of my scalp was almost entirely bereft of its covering, and much of the remaining portion upon the side and back part of my head shortly after became gray, so that you will not be surprised when I tell you that upon my return to the State of Indiana, my more casual acquaintances were not so much at a loss to discover the cause of the change in my appearance, as my more intimate acquaintances were to recognize me at all.

I at once made application to the most skillful physicians in the country, but, receiving no assurance from them that my hair could again be restored, I was forced to become reconciled to my fate, until, fortunately, in the latter part of the year 1857, your Restorative was recommended to me by a druggist, as being the most reliable Hair Restorative in use. I tried one bottle, and found to my great satisfaction that it was producing the desired effect. Since that time, I have used seven dollars' worth of your Restorative, and as a result, have a rich coat of very soft black hair, which no money can buy.

As a mark of my gratitude for your labor and skill in the production of so wonderful an article, I have recommended its use to many of my friends and acquaintances, who, I am happy to inform you, are using it with like effect. Very respectfully, yours, A. M. LATTA,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

ST. NICHOLAS HOTEL,
BROADWAY,
NEW YORK

When completed, six years ago, the St. Nicholas was universally pronounced the most magnificent, convenient, and thoroughly organized establishment of the kind on this continent.

What it was then, it remains to-day—without a rival in size, in sumptuousness, and in the general elements of comfort and enjoyment.

The Hotel has accommodations for ONE THOUSAND SIX HUNDRED GUESTS, including ONE HUNDRED COMPLETE SUITES OF APARTMENTS for families.

SIX HUNDRED PERSONS can be comfortably seated at the tables of its three public dining rooms, and nothing that modern art has devised for the convenience and social gratification of the traveling public has been omitted in its plan, or is neglected in its practical details.

The early reputation of the house at home and abroad, derived from its magnitude, its superb appointments, and its home-like comforts and luxuries, has been enhanced every year by the unwearied exertions of the Proprietors.

D. MOTT'S
CHALYBEATE RESTORATIVE
PILLS OF IRON

AN aperient and Stomachic preparation of IRON purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest Medical Authorities, both in Europe and the United States, and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions, indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case.

Innoxious in all maladies in which it has been tried, it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz:

IN DEBILITY, NERVOUS AFFECTIONS, EMACIATION, DYSPEPSIA, CONSTIPATION, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, SALT RHEUM, MENSTRUATION, WHITES, CHLOROSIS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, CHRONIC HEADACHES, RHEUMATISM, INTERMITTENT FEVERS, PIMPLES ON THE FACE, &C.

In cases of GENERAL DEBILITY, whether the result of acute disease, or of the continued diminution of nervous and muscular energy from chronic complaints one trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no description or written attestation would render credible Invalids so long confined to bed ridden as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly re-appeared in the busy world as if just returned from protracted travel in a distant land. Some very signal instances of this kind are attested of female Sufferers, emaciated victims of apparent marasmus, sanguineous exhaustion, critical changes, and that combination of nervous and dyspeptic aversion to air and exercise for which the physician has no name.

In NERVOUS AFFECTIONS of all kinds, and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of iron must necessarily be salutary, for, unlike the old oxides, it is vigorously tonic, without being exciting and overheating; and gently, regularly aperient, even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness without ever being a gastric purgative, or inflicting a disagreeable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permanent a remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action, by dispersing the local tendency which forms them.

In DYSPEPSIA, innumerable are its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most inbitual cases, including the attendant Costiveness.

In unchecked DIARRHŒA, even when advanced to DYSENTERY, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently malignant the effects have been equally decisive and astonishing.

In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitating cough, and remittent hectic, which generally indicate INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, this remedy has allayed the alarm of friends and physicians, in several very gratifying and interesting instances.

In SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, this medicated iron has had far more than the good effect of the most cautiously balanced preparations of iodine, without any of their well known liabilities.

The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative, in the cases peculiarly affecting them.

In RHEUMATISM, both chronic and inflammatory—in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has been invariably well reported, both as alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles.

In INTERMITTENT FEVERS it most necessarily be a great remedy and energetic restorative, and its progress in the new settlements of the West, will probably be one of high renown and usefulness.

No remedy has ever been discovered in the whole history of medicine, which exerts such prompt, happy, and fully restorative effects. Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use.

Put up in neat flat metal boxes containing 50 pills, price 50 cents per box; for sale by druggists and dealers. Will be sent free to any address on receipt of the price. All letters, orders, etc., should be addressed to
