

LOCAL NEWS.

THE DAILY PATRIOT AND UNION may be had at Jack's Book Store, corner of Third and Market streets.

PATRIOT AND UNION.—The DAILY PATRIOT AND UNION can be had by Dauphin subscribers, every morning, at the periodical store of J. S. FRAM.

The Union Prayer Meeting will be held in the Presbyterian Church, on Market Square, this afternoon, at 4 o'clock, as usual.

Persons afflicted with affections of the lungs or throat, or any form of chronic disease, can consult Dr. Stewart, at the Buchler House.

Dr. S. is permanently located in Harrisburg, and seems to have been more than usually successful in his practice.

DISCHARGED.—A young man spent Monday night in the lock-up, and was brought before the Mayor yesterday on a charge of larceny, preferred by a man boarding at a tavern at the foot of Walnut street. The prosecutor could not bring the slightest evidence to substantiate his charge—hence we suppress names.

COLD FEET.—If you have cold feet, immerse them morning and evening in cold water, rub with a rough towel, and run about your room till they burn. In one month you will be entirely relieved. All the red pepper and mustard applications are like ram to the stomach, relieve you to-day, but leave you colder to-morrow.

OUR SCISSORS.—Our scissors cut keenly, but they are not a printing to those used by our cousin of the Williamsport Daily Times. Ours nip only occasionally; his everlastingly. They are the real steel article, and surpass ours by one-half, inasmuch as they nip from all we can steel and write, too! Such a pair of scissors are worth having.

BEFORE THE MAYOR.—Henry Vallards, of Baltimore, and Michael Hegon, of Luzerne county, were the honored guests of the city hotel on Monday evening. They both claimed to be farmers, in search of work. The Mayor giving credence to their statements, advised them to strike a bee line for the rural districts, and engage in husking corn—which they will do—in a pig's eye!

TOMORROW NIGHT.—The fancy will hold forth to-morrow night, at Brant's Hall. It will be observed that this is the genuine, Simon-pure Hogan, and no counterfeits, as some have intimated. We believe in everything as advertised—except Mons. Gregoire waiting with twelve men on his shoulders. That we will not believe until we see it—and it will keep us quite busy to believe it then.

THE RIVER.—Yesterday the river was on a stand, and the descent of drift had sensibly diminished. The operators above the water house have done a perfect land office business, as we see immense piles of slabs, rails and old trees on the bank of the river. Some few valuable saw logs were also arrested in their flight to tide. Quite a number of rafts went down on Monday afternoon, and a few yesterday.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.—Yesterday morning a well-known lady, who sails under the name of Henrietta Fleck, entered the establishment of William F. Poorman, when some dispute arose between the two, and Henrietta was forcibly ejected—whereupon she entered complaint before Alderman Poffer for assault and battery, and Poorman, for want of bail, was sent to jail. The case was subsequently settled, and Mr. Poorman released.

CHANGE OF MARKET HOURS.—In a few days our citizens will be called upon to sign a petition praying Council to fix 3 o'clock in the morning for the opening of the market, instead of 5—about the time it now opens. We have several times spoken in favor of a reform of this kind, and we hope that every one who is opposed to getting up at night to go to market will use his exertions to show Council that a majority favor the change.

HISTORY OF RAILROADS AND CANALS.—H. V. Poor, Esq., editor of the American Railroad Journal, is engaged upon a full history of the railroads and canals in the United States. The work is to be in two royal octavo volumes of 600 pages each, and it is to be illustrated by seven large, original and carefully engraved maps, with every station on every railroad in the country laid down. This is a new and most useful feature. The first of the two volumes is just published.

ATTEMPT TO DESTROY A RAILROAD TRAIN.—On Wednesday evening two attempts were made to throw the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad train off the track near Cleveland. A short time previous to the arrival of the evening train one of the officers of the road found a pile of large stones and a piece of T rail laid across the track at the Warrenville road crossing. The obstructions were so placed that the in-coming train would inevitably have been thrown off the track on striking them. The obstructions were removed. The villains must have been watching the effect of their work, as when the train arrived another pile of stones and a lot of fence rails were lying on the track. The engine passed over the fence rails and struck the stones, but, fortunately, without doing any damage.

HOW THE PRESIDENT IS ELECTED.—The successive steps in the election of President and Vice President of the United States are taken, according to existing laws, at the following dates:

1. By the act of Congress 1845 the Electors for President and Vice President of the United States are appointed in each State on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November.
2. By the act of 1792 these Electors are to meet on the first Wednesday in December after, in their respective States, to cast their votes.
3. These votes, when cast, are to be certified by the Electors and sealed up and sent to the President of the Senate.
4. On the second Wednesday in February after, the sealed certificates of the Electors are to be opened and the votes counted, in the presence of Congress.

WHAT BECOMES OF PRECOCIOUS CHILDREN.—Baillet mentions one hundred and sixty-three children endowed with extraordinary talents, among whom few arrived at an advanced age. The two sons of Quintilian, so venerated by their father, did not reach their tenth year. Hermogenes, who, at the age of fifteen, taught rhetoric to Marcus Aurelius, who triumphed over the most celebrated rhetoricians of Greece, did not die, but at twenty-four lost his faculties, and forgot all he had previously acquired. Pica di Miranda died at thirty-two, Johannes Secundus at twenty-five, having at the age of fifteen composed verses, and becoming profoundly versed in jurisprudence and letters. Pascal, whose genius developed itself at ten years old, did not attain the third of a century.

In 1791, a child was born at Lubek, named Henri Heinneken, whose precocity was miraculous. At ten months of age he spoke distinctly; at twelve, learned the Pentateuch by rote, and at fourteen months was perfectly acquainted with the Old and New Testament. At two years he was as familiar with Ancient History as the most excellent authors of antiquity. Sanson and D'Anville only could compete with him in geographical knowledge. Cicero would have thought him an "alter ego" on hearing him converse in Latin, and in modern language he was equally proficient. The wonderful child was unfortunately carried off in his fourth year. According to the popular proverb—"the sword wore out the sheath."

THE RAPE CASE.

The Telegraph of yesterday intimates that the rape case mentioned in our paper of yesterday will, on investigation, prove a conspiracy. That may be. We merely gave the facts, without venturing upon any opinion, and it is due to the defendant that there should be a suspension of public opinion until the Court decides upon the merits of the case.

It is proper to state here that the Telegraph does Mr. John Paulus great injustice. Mr. P. alleges that he kept an orderly and respectable tavern on the Ridge road, and he is able to prove by all his neighbors at the time, and not a rowdy lager beer saloon—and further, that he has nothing to do with the rape case, either directly or indirectly, and coupling his name with it, merely because the woman alleged that the transaction took place at his house is gratuitous and insulting. Mr. Paulus has always been regarded as a highly respectable and honorable man.

GAS METERS.—An exchange paper gives the following timely advice to gas consumers:

"The time has arrived when a little attention paid to gas meters would save a world of trouble when cold weather attacks them. If people would pay as much attention to those indispensable articles as they ordinarily do to a bushel of potatoes or a barrel of apples, no trouble would be experienced. A box to enclose the meter, with a lining of straw, or rags, or sawdust, or even an old boot-jacket wrapped and tied around it will keep the frost away and save the temper of the household on many otherwise trying occasions. There is no more disagreeable adjunct to house-keeping than to go home at night and find the gas frozen up, and a sickly tallow dip stick in a tumbler lighting the supper table. If upright man may be excused for indulging in profanity on any occasion, this is the one above all others. Take warning, then, and protect your meters."

THE PROGRESS OF THE JEWISH NATION.

The Hebrew Messenger adverts with a spirit of gladness to the progress of liberal ideas and the tolerance extended toward the Jews of Europe during the year passed.

In Great Britain, France and Holland our co-religionists retain the same high standing which in a free country they are certain to secure. Distinguished honors have been paid to several Israelitish citizens of these sovereignities. From Russia we have intelligence of continued progress in liberal enactments, and the condition of our community is one of freedom and advancement. In Poland, likewise, old prejudices are wearing off. Dr. Hirschfeld, for instance, has been elevated to an important professorship in the Warsaw University. In Galicia liberal measures are yet being enforced, Austria has witnessed some little improvement in the condition of her Jewish population during the past year, though it is likely to last we have our fears. In Prussia and the minor German States nothing worthy of particular mention has transpired, although, on the whole, the condition of things is favorable. The Grand Duchy of Hesse has issued a Jewish Mayor. Our Italian brethren are doing well, and in Sicily and Portugal Judaism is once more openly practiced, where, since the close of the fifteenth century, it has been interdicted.

In what other age of the Christian world could this have been asserted? Jewish literature seems not to flourish in the United States; but two books have been printed in Hebrew on this side of the Atlantic during the year past, though in Europe the labors of Auerbach, Philopsoa, Stauden, &c., are eminently appreciated. A Jewish Professor, Stern, is now attached to the University of Gottingen. Three Jewish papers have been started during the year, viz: at Tunis, Mayence and Odessa.

ORIGIN OF CONSUMPTION.

The American Medical Monthly for September, contains some novel and interesting views relative to the nature and treatment of consumption. The seat of this terrible malady is affirmed to be the lymphatic system of vessels; and as these minute tubes form a close interlacement throughout the whole body, being also endowed with much activity, diseased fluids transmitted through them are liable, under certain conditions, to be deposited anywhere, and to be spread or accumulated with prodigious rapidity. The nature of consumption is stated to consist in a deprivation of the fluids which are propelled through these tiny lymphatic conduits. Two theories are proposed to account for the presence of the pernicious elements which here taint and poison the springs of life at their source. One party affirms that the process of nutrition is at fault, and that part of the food eaten is lazily and imperfectly assimilated, offering itself in a crude, half prepared state, to the action of vessels not adapted to deal with such material, but only with that which has been submitted to a complete preliminary elaboration. Hence cellular development, the first step in organization, is impossible. The fluid cannot be taken up. It never becomes vitalized or forms a union with any living tissue. On the contrary, it is a burden, and soon causes mischief. Another party thinks that the material thus existing in the far-reaching network of lymphatic vessels is due to decay, and contains the products of organic dissolution.

Both opinions are well supported, and perhaps both may prove to be true. That some noxious materials, whether the debris of used up tissues, or whether dead elements refusing to become new tissues, are thrown copiously near the lymphatics, is agreed; and also that the quantity of such products is so great that this active sewerage-apparatus cannot carry it away. It accumulates and hardens into tubercles. The cause of this dreadful malady is stated by our author to be primarily the want of oxygen, whose presence in sufficient quantity would either prevent the formation of the tuberculous material, or would give power to cast it out as soon as formed. A cure is the only stage of the disease is said to have sometimes been secured by the use of chlorate of potash, and other remedies which supply oxygen to the blood. Prevention, however, here as everywhere, is easier than cure, and is seldom impossible, whatever be the hereditary tendency to the malady. Muscular exercise, regular habits, fresh air, suitable food, temperate, active occupation, well ventilated apartments, proper clothing, and exemption from corroding anxiety are among the indispensable and most ordinary precautions.

FEVER AND AGUE, AND ALL FEVERS are cured by perseverance with BRANDRETT'S PILLS, which takes all poisons, of whatever nature they may be from the circulation.

Mr. John Y. Haight, Supervisor of New Castle, Westchester county, New York, says, November, 1858:

"I was, two years ago, attacked with fever and ague, and the usual mode of treating me, which consisted in simply affixing me to six tedious months, I became yellow as saffron, and reduced to skin and bone. Several eminent physicians were consulted, but I was ordered to try a single dose of six of Brandrett's Universal Vegetable Pills, on an empty stomach, early in the morning. The first dose seemed to produce no effect, but the second, on the third day, I feared the worst—my purgative effect was different from anything I had ever used or heard of. At length relief came, and continued to take the pills in this way about three weeks, when I found myself entirely cured. My health has been surprisingly good ever since."

WE call the attention of our readers to an advertisement in the columns of the OGDEN FOOD. It is an entirely new discovery, and must not be confounded with any of the numerous patent medicines of the day. It is good for the blood, already impure, and it is equally good for the system in general, and what one gains he retains. Let all those who are suffering from poverty, impurity or debility of the blood, and who are afflicted with disease of aliment, take of this OGDEN FOOD and be restored to health. We notice that our druggists have received and sold, and also of the same, the well known Dr. E. ROSS'S INFANTS' CORDIAL, which every mother should have. It contains no narcotic or opiate and is perfectly safe for the use of the mother, and for all infantile complaints. It will allay all pain, and soften the gums in process of teething, and at the same time regulate the bowels. Let all mothers and nurses, who have suckling infants, and who are afflicted with disease of aliment, take of this OGDEN FOOD, and be restored to health.
