THE GROVER & BAKER SEWING MACHINE Makes the only seam formed by a Sewing Machine, in which each stitch is independently locked and without dependence upon the other stitches for strength, and the only seam that will admit of the thread being cut at every fourth stitch without injury to the seam in wear.

THE GROVER & BAKER SEWING MACHINE Sews from ordinary spools without rewinding, and fastens its own seams, thereby saving time and thread. It will sew common speel cotton, silk and linen thread, with equal facility.

THE GROVER & BAKER For every family to get in their supply of Coal ar the SEWING MACHINE Is so simple that an intelligent child of ten years can readily learn to operate it. It is more easily kept in order than any other machine, and need not be taken apart to be oiled.

THE GROVER & BAKER SEWING MACHINE Makes the only stitch that cannot be injured by washing and ironing, and the only stitch that forms an elastic and durable seam. Fabrics put together by this stitch, may wear out and drop to pieces from original weakness or hard usage, but come apart or give away at the seams they cannot; they will hold together when the cloth or calico around them hangs in rags or tatters.

THE NATIONAL CRISIS.

MR. DOUGLAS' PLAN OF ADJUSTMENT, AS LAID BEFORE THE SENATE ON MONDAY LAST. On Monday, December 24th, Mr. Douglas introduced a joint resolution into the Senate, proposing amendments to the Constitution of the United States, with a view of restoring peace and preserving the Union. His proposition was read a first and second time, and referred to the Committee of Thirteen. It is as follows:

JOINT RESOLUTION. Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, (two-thirds of both Houses concurring.) That the following articles be and are hereby proposed and submitted as amendments to the Constitution of the United States, which shall be valid, to all intents and purposes, as part of said Constitution, when ratified by Conventions of three-fourths of the several States.

ARTICLE XIII.—Congress shall make no laws in respect to slavery or servitude in any Territory of the United States; and the status of each Territory in respect to servitude, as the same now exists by law, shall remain un-changed until the Territory, with such boundaries as Congress may prescribe, shall have a population of fifty thousand white inhabitants, when the white male citizens thereof, over the age of twenty-one years, may proceed to form a constitution and government for themselves, and exercise all the rights of self-government consistent with the Constitution of the United States; and when such new State shall contain the requisite population for a member of Congress, according to the then federal ratio of representation, it shall be admitted into the Union on an an equal footing with the original States, with or without slavery, as the Constitution of such new State shall provide at the time of admission; and in the meantime, such new State shall be entitled to one delegate in the Senate, to be chosen by the Legislature, and one delegate in the House of Representatives, to be chosen by the people having the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the Legislature; and said delegates shall have all the rights and privileges of Senators and Representives, respect ively, except that of voting. Section 2. No more territory shall be ac quired by the United States except by treaty or by the concurrent vote of two-thirds of each House of Congress, and when so acquired the status thereof in respect to servitude, as it existed at the time of acquisition, shall remain unchanged until it shall contain the population aforesaid for the formation of new States, when it shall be subject to the terms, conditions and privileges herein provided for the existing

Section 8. The area of all new States shall be as nearly uniform in size as may be practicable, having due regard to convenient boundaries and natural capacities; and shall not be less than sixty nor more than eighty thousand square miles, except in case of islands which may contain less than that amount. Section 4. The second and third clauses of Constitution, which provides for delivering up fugitives from justice and fugitives from service or labor; shall have the same force in the Territories and new States as in the States of the Union; and the said clause in respect to fugitives from justice shall be construed to include all crimes committed within and against the laws of the State from which the fugitive fled, whether the acts charged be criminal or not in the State where the fugitive was found. Section 5. The second section of the third article of the Constitution, in respect to the judicial power of the United States, shall be deemed applicable to the Territories and new States as well as to the States of the Union.

eral, State, Territorial or municipal, shall not be exercised by persons of the African race, in whole or in part. Section 2. The United States shall have power to acquire from time to time, districts of country in Africa and South America for the colonization at the expense of the Federal Treasury of such free negroes and mulattoes as the several States may wish to have removed from their limits, and from the District of Co-

ARTICLE XIV .- Section 1. The elective franchise and the right to hold office, whether Fed-lumbia and such other places as may be under the jurisdiction of Congress. Section 3. Congress shall have no power to abolish slavery in the places under its exclusive jurisdiction and situate within the limits of States that permit the holding of slaves. Section 4. Congress shall have no power to abolish slavery within the District of Columbia so long as it exists in the adjoining States of Virginia and Maryland, or either, nor without the consent of the inhabitants, nor without just compensation first made to such owners of slaves as do not consent to such abolishment. Nor shall Congress at any time prohibit officers of the Federal Government or members of Congress, whose duties require them to be in said District, from bringing with them their slaves and holding them as such during the time their duties may require them to remain there, and afterwards taking them from the District. Section 5. Congress shall have no power to prohibit or hinder the transportation of slaves from one State to another, or to a Territory in which slaves are permitted by law to be held, whether such transportation be by land, navigable rivers, or by sea; but the African slave trade shall be forever suppressed, and it shall be the duty of Congress to make such laws as shall be necessary and effectual to prevent the migration or importation of slaves or persons owing service or labor, into the United States from any foreign country, place, or jurisdiction whatever. Section 6. In addition to the provisions of the third paragraph of the second section of the fourth article of the Constitution, Congress shall have power to provide by law, and it shall be its duty so to provide, that the United States shall pay to the owner who shall apply for it, the full value of his fugitive slave in all cases when the marshal, or other officer, whose duty it was to arrest said fugitive, was prevented from so doing by violence or intimidation, or when, after arrest, said fugitive was rescued by force, and the owner thereby prevented and obstructed in the pursuit of his remedy for the recovery of his fugitive slave under the said clause of the Constitution and the laws made in pursuance thereof. And in all such cases, when the United States shall pay for such fugitives, they shall have the right, in their own name, to sue the county in which said violence, intimidation or rescue was committed, and to recover from it, with interest and damages, the amount paid by them for said fugitive slave. And the said county after it has paid said amounts to the United States, may, for its indemnity, sue and recover from the wrong-doers or rescuers by whom the owner was prevented from the recovery of his fugitive slave, in like manner as the owner himself might have sued and recovered.

That it shall be declared by amendment of the Constitution that property in slaves, recognized as such by the local law of any of the States of the Union, shall stand on the same footing in all constitutional and federal relations as any other species of property so recognized, and, like other property, shall not be subject to be divested or impaired by the local law of any other State, either in escape thereto or of transit or sojourn of the owner therein; and in no case whatever shall such property be subject to be divested or impaired by any legislative act of the United States, or

ADDRESS TO THE BORDER SOUTHERN STATES. The Hon. John C. Breckinridge, according to the Washington Star, has drawn up an address to the border slaveholding States, calling for a convention representing them, to be held in Baltimore, in February, for the consideration of their duty to themselves, and how to preserve the confederacy in the current crisis. It is said to have been signed already by all of the Senators from those States, and will be signed

States how to appoint their representatives to the proposed convention. The same paper states that if the House committee of thirty-three break up, as is now apprehended by so many, all its members except the Republicans and Messrs. Davis of Md., and Etheridge of Tenn., will publish an address in twenty-four hours thereafter, going to the country upon the Crittenden plan for the settlement of the troubles, which now bids fair to be accepted by the Baltimore Convention of border slaveholding States proposed by Mr. Breckinridge, as the terms upon which they will continue in the Union with the New England and other ultra abolition States, after the cotton States may have withdrawn from it .-Their terms will, of course, include a stipulation that the North shall make no war on the seceding extreme South.

The excitable parties at Pittsburg, who undertook to stop the government from sending a certain number of its own guns from that city, have apparently seen their folly and consequently somewhat "simmered down." An informal meeting of citizens was held on Tuesday afternoon, and a committee appointed to confer with the federal officers on the "impropricty of stripping the arsenal of ordnance at this time," and also to inquire as to the number of arms, etc., they now have on hand, the number sent away, and to ask other questions. The Post of Thursday says: "On Tuesday evening the committee called on arsenal, who stated that the order, if not countermanded, would be carried into execution yesterday. They next called on Major Taliafero, the quartermaster, who had charge of the removal of the guns to the river, and he said he intended to begin on Wednesday morning. This was not, however, done; but the work will, we understand, be commenced to-morrow morning, unless other orders are received from the Department. "Meanwhile, the steamer Silver Wave, with which the contract for carrying the guns ceive her freight, for which purpose a plat-form for getting the guns on board had been erected. Her captain was, we learn, notified yesterday morning by the officers of the 'Allegheny,' 'Citizen's' and 'Western' insurance companies, in which the boat is insured, that
