RE-PRODUCING ANCIENT MANUSCRIPTS .- The following useful information on this subject is taken Photographic News : One of the earliest applications of photography consisted in the re-production of ancient manuscripts; but this application has never taken the development expected of it. By the employment of Colonel Sir Henry James' method of zinco-photography, a sphere of the greatest interest and usefulness is opened up, which we hope to see extensively utilized. There are numerous rare historical manuscripts, fac similes of which would be desirable additions to public libraries in all parts of the world. These copies could be produced by the process of zinco-photography, at an almost insignificant cost. A very curious fact has been recently brought to light, which touches the question of photography of the invisible, viz : that the effaced or faded portion of the writing of old manuscripts is restored in the photographic re-production. Thus the copy becomes more legible and perfect than the original. M. Vincent, one of the members of the "Academie des Inscriptions et Belles Lettres," recently presented to that body the first fac simile of a manuscript reproduced photographically by M. Silvy. It was the Sforza manuscript, the original of which is in the possession of the Marquis d'Azelio. It is scarcely necessary to remark that all the designs and ornaments of this precious work are re-produced with marvellous fidelity. But the circumstance that deserves particular mention is, that certain passages which could not be deciphered in the original old parchment have actually been revived. This is particularly striking on the last page, where a note, written in German, under the signature, has not only become visible, but legible, while not the slightest trace of it can be discor-ered in the original. This remarkable circumstance is thus explained by M. Figuier: On old parchments the ink, under the influence of time, assumes a yellowish tint, which often becomes undistinguishable from that of the parchment, so at their hall this (Thursday) afternoon at 1 o'clock. | that it cannot be read without the greatest difficulty. But, during the photographic process, the brilliant and polished parts of the parchment reflect light much better than those where the ink has been deposited. However colorless it may appear, the ink has not lost its anti-photogenic qualities, opposed to the photographic ones of the parchment, and, thanks to this opposition, black characters may be obtained on the sensitive collodion in exchange for the much paler ones of the POLICE ITEMS .-- John Swartz was introduced to his Honor yesterday morning as a drunken and disorderly individual. It appeared that John had invested all his available funds in "blue ruin," and could not pay his fine. Remanded to the lock-up. Jacob Book, drunk and disorderly, was fined $1 and costs.

Martin Gustwiller, ditto. Fined $1 and costs Martin being out of funds left a breast-pin and overcoat as collateral, and was permitted to slide. Professor Dailey, drank and abusing his family. Committed for 30 days. Second appearance this week. Jos. Oliver, Henry Hash, Henry Sanders, Chas-

Weaver, Jacob Walters, John Fisher and John Morny, all in search of those "homes for the homeless," were voluntary lodgers in the lock-up. Discharged.

Daniel Myers, from Mechanicsburg, was picked up, at a late honr on Tuesday night in a helpless condition. The Mayor fined him $1 and costs ; but his propensity for lager had induced him to invest all his funds in that beverage, and consequently he could not "sock." Daniel promised to reform, and the Mayor discharged him.

Complaint was made against Charles Sellers. Augustus Seeger, Joseph Ogelspy, Charles A. Deon and John Woodward, for causing the death | 1629. Newspapers first established. of the child of Jacob Walters, in North street yes- | 1630. Shoe buckles made. terday, by careless driving, &c. Upon a hearing of the case before the Mayor, the evidence showed that the sad occurrence was accidental, and the parties were honorably discharged. Bun Ross was up for fast, furious driving through the streets yesterday. Fined $5 and cost, which he paid. Wm. Thomas Finley was arrested and brought before the Mayor, on complaint of his father, for drunkenness. Committed for 30 days. John Carson, arrested on Tuesday by officer Radabaugh, and committed for a further hearing, on suspicion for being a professional pick-pocket, was discharged, there being no evidence to hold him. Jenkins, alias Walter Price, and Witman, alias Mysterious Jimmy, were also discharged upon a writ of habeas corpus, before his Honor, Judge Pearson. How TO FINISH ROOMS .- Bayard Tayler's opinion on this subject is thus expressed in the Independent. "For the finishing of rooms there is nothing equal to the native wood, simply oiled to develop the beauty of the grain. Even the commonest pine, treated in this way, has a warmth and lustre, beside which the dreary white paint, so common even in the best of houses, looks dull and dead. Nothing gives a house such a cold, uncomfortable air as white paint and plaster. This color is fit only for the tropics. Our cheap, common woods-pine, ash, chestnut, oak, maple, beech, walnut, butternut-offer us a variety of exquisite tints and fibrous patterns, which until recently have been wholly disregarded in building. Even accident is the more deplorable because the boy | in furniture we are just beginning to discover how much more chaste and elegant are oak and walnut than mahogany. The beauty of a room is as dependent upon the harmony of its coloring as that of a picture. Some of the agliest and most disagreeable apartments I have ever seen were just those which contained the most expensive furniture and decorations. My experience shows that a roem finished with the best seasoned oak or walnut, costs actually less than one finished with pine painted and grained in imitation of those woods. Two verandahs of yellow pine, treated to two coats of boiled oil, have a richness and beauty of color beyond the reach of piginent; and my only regret connected with the house is, that I was persuaded by the representations of mechanics, to use any paint at all." THE GALLYANT WALTMAN .- " Waltman, Fourth and Market"-formerly-at present Captain of the Washington Rifles, of Mount Joy, had a street parade with his company in this city yesterday morning. The gay Captain handled his cheeseknife-we beg pardon-his sword, with a degree quired for a grand torch-light procession on Tues- } of skill and energy that convinces us that he is in earnest in his desire to raise recruits to fight the secessionists. It is one of the glorious provisions the moment the procession of a score and a half of of our law that the kind of gas steck owned by the Captain is exempt from levy and sale, and leaves him in the felicitious enjoyment of a competency words, intimated that inasmuch as those who that nothing but testing his courage can deprive him of. So long as there is no immediate prospect cessary that those whe marched should pay the of war, there need be no fear of the Captain beating his cheese-knife-we beg pardon-his sword into a pruning-hook ! As we said, the Captain marched his men in Lincoln green trimmed uniforms around our streets, and he honored the Telegroph office and the residence of Cartain Eyster with three cheers each, but he passed our office without so much as condescending to look at the big yaller sign ! .Captain Blower-we beg pardon again-waved his cheese-knife triumphantly and looked over at us defiantly when at Captain Eyster's. It won't do, Captain Bologna. We have traveled some, and it does not take us long to take the measure of a man -cheese-knife and all. and Line

> SLEIGH RIDING .- The following graphic and glowing account of a country sleigh ride we find in an exchange uncredited, but whoever the author may be, we are confident "he has been there and spent the evening ;"

What pleasure in a night sleigh ride! Good gracious! Six steaming, spanking horses and a driver furry as a polar bear, his nose just visible above the dasher. Two or three dozen merry girls and boys, muffled to their eyes, stowed away with the hot bricks under the buffaloes. The amicable fight of pairs of lovers for the coveted "back seat." where are no curious eves to overlook the young man who, tying his lady-love's tippet under her chin, ties his heart in with it; or tucking the buffalo-robe closer about her shoulders, forgets to remove his arm after the operation. What pleasure, with the warm blood tingling in cheeks be-neath eyes that flash like diamonds; what plcasure, when snow-powdered trees, fences and houses fly past like magic to the merry sound of musical bells-spelt with and without an e. What pleasure, when the country inn is reached, where your supper was bespoke the day before, and rolling out of your manifold wrappers, you lift to your lips foaming glasses of hot "mulled wine." What pleasure, when we gather round the table, laughiog at each other's rosy faces, and discuss oysters and fowl, and more "mulled wine," till bones and empty glasses alone remain; and the waiter having cleared away the table, we have a good old-fashioned "blindman's buff," or an unceremonious dance in our comfortable winter dresses. What pleasure, when after being deliciously warmed and fed, we pile into the sleigh again, nestling close to the one we like best, and telling the driver to go the longest way home, look up at stars that never glamed so brightly, and defy fate ever to make us shed a tear for anything.

PARDONED BY THE GOVERNOR .-- On Saturday, a pardon was received at the Western Penitentiary, from Governor Packer, for John Dignam, sentenced, more than a year ago, to an imprisonment of two years and six months for assault and battery, with intent to kill, upon Christian Klein, proprietor of a lager beer hall on Smithfield streets Pittsburg, in July, 1858. The young man was at once released. On Monday pardons were received for George M'Kee, confined for highway robbery, and Theodore M'Farland, of Blair county, both of whom were set at liberty.

A FIZZLE.-If there ever was a demonstration get up of which the originators had cause to feel ashamed, it was the Wide Awake fizzle on Tuesday night. We looked for a turn-out at least equivalent to those made previous to the election, but the whole force of torch-bearers did not exceed thirty !-- at least, so we are told, for we did not see them. A portion of the State Capital Band were out, but not all of them-some having refased to turn out in consequence of the non-navment of a debt of forty-five dollars due them by the Wide Awakes. As we have probably seen the last of these fantastic parades, would it not be honorable for the Wide Awakes to pay their honest debts ?

FATAL TERMINATION .- The little son of Jacob Walters, mentioned in our paper yesterday as having been injured by being run over by a sleigh, we regret to say died yesterday morning. The was Mr. Walters' only son, and a general favorite in the neighborhood. The accident was the result of reckless driving at a time above all others when people should be careful; and it is certainly a matter of congratulation that more accidents of a like nature did not occur, when we consider the crowded state of the streets all day on Tuesday, and the furious rate at which sleighs were driven through the them.

A NEW WAY TO PAY OLD DEBTS .- During the campaign last summer, it may be remembered that the Wide Awakes indulged in numerous fancy night parades and excursions to neighboring towns and villages, which seemed to imply that they had a great many spondulix at command; but it appears they did not always pay cash for the numerous liabilities they incurred. They went on "time" with the State Capital Band to the sume of fortyfive dollars, for which sum the Band has been waiting patiently, until they had almost agreed to place the amount to "profit and loss," when they received notice that their services would be reday evening. They-that is the Band-held out the inducement that they would be on hand, up to patriotic Wide Awakes were ready to march, whereapon the blowers of brass struck, or, in other danced always paid the fiddler, even so was it nemusicians. The gist of it was that they wanted their forty-five dollars. As there was no money in the Wide Awake Treasury, here was a dilemna. But there was one head in the party equal to the emergency, whoever was the owner of it, and that head suggested that the old bill be added to that due by the State for services rendered on the Inauguration day, and all would be paid together.

What will the tax-payers say to being taxed forty-five dollars to pay for Wide Awake music? This we fear is a game of "forty-fives" that will meet the most serious objection of some people, although everything has evidently been done on the square. 「日本の書作品」
