Paris, December, 1860.—Paris, so prosaically materialist, is also always enchanted with anything in the shape of a mystery, and stories of ghosts, fortune telling and clairvoy ance are its especial delight. The newest "fact" in this line is the adventure which has just happened to the beautiful baroness Alphonse de Rothschild, (the only pretty woman of the name.) apropos of a magnificent diamond ring. The baroness was one of a hunting party composed entirely of persons belonging to the Rothschild family, assembled a week or two igo at the Chateau de Ferrieres. While following the hounds with the rest of the party the young baroness drew off a glove, and in so doing drew off also, but unconsciously, the ring in question. On returning to the chateau she perceived that the ring was gone; and as it was not only of immense pecuniary value, but highly prized by her as a souvenir, her anxiety to have it found may be imagined. Notices were at once put up all over the estate, announcing the loss of the ring, and promising a reward of five hundred francs for its recovery. The keepers, gardeners and servants of the chateau were greatly excited by the incident, and noth Ing was talked of that evening on the estate of Ferrieres but the lost ring and the reward offered for it. But the park is so vast, the alleys were so full of mud and dead leaves, that no one ventured to hope that the ring would be discovered. The daughter of the head keeper who had been in the service of Madame Al phonse de Rothschild and was much attached to her, was especially excited on the subject, and lay awake in her bed the greater part of the night unable to sleep for thinking of the Forrow the baroness would feel at the loss of this precious ring, and wishing it were possible for her to find it. It was not until towards morning that she fell asleep, when she dreamed that a stranger appeared to her, and thus addressed her: "As soon as day breaks go to the cross-reads next to the old stone cross; you will find the ring in a heap of rotten leaves, at the foot of the great elm, at the edge of the Waking from her sleep as the stranger ceased speaking the girl sprang out of bed, dressed herself with the utmost expedition, and hastened to the spot indicated in her dream, pushed aside the leaves at the foot of the tree. and beheld the missing ring, "shining like a glow worm." Joyfully possessing herself of the treasure, she rushed back to the chateau, shouting as she went, "I've found the ring! I've found the ring!" Five minutes afterwards the Baroness Alphonse had the missing token on her finger, and the keeper's daughter found herself possessed of a dot that will no doubt raise her immensely in the eyes of all the lads in the neighborhood of Ferrieres. As the Baron James de Rothschild, the head of the family, is a devout believer in the supernatural, the girl's story met with general credence at the chateau, whence it spread rapidly and was soon the general topic of the gossip-loving sa-loons of the capital, where it is now being discussed by the believers and unbelievers in spiritual influences; those who refuse to accept The fact of the dream being unable to explain by what other agencies she could have suc-

The story, in its progress among the Parisian saloons, has called forth a host of others equally well attested and equally inexplicable and among them the incident which happened in the autumn of this year to the Russian Princess W., a resident of Paris and a general favorite, who one rainy day was sitting beside a fire in her bed room, nursing a violent attack of neuralgia, when she suddenly beheld on one of the panels of the door—hung with draperies of drab silk—a shadowy appearance, as though projected from a magic lantern-at first dim, but gradually becoming distinct, and which at length represented a forest, not as a scene in spread rollief of nature. As she gazed into this forest, she saw spertsman moving cautiously, as though in yursuit of gime; and then she saw a boar lying in wait for the hunter, upon whom it sprang as he approached, throwing him down, and tearing him with his tusks; then there appeared rushing through the trees a group of huntsmen, who approached the wounded man with gestures of despair.

to the dream, he invariably answers, ring is found, that is the important point; the rest is of no consequence."

The boar sprang out of sight as the group closed round their comrade and carried him from the wood, leaving a trail of blood as they disappeared. The shricks of the Princess brought all the people in 'he house to her room. "There! there! my brother! my poor brother!" she screamed, pointing to the hangings.

Nothing was to be seen in the direction indicated, and every one endeavored to calm her, to persuade her that she had fallen asleep, and had been dreaming. But nothing could con-vince her that what she had seen could be a dream. She wept long and bitterly, and kept exclaiming, "My brother! my brother!" This state of nervous excitement was with difficulty controlled, and when she had revived her self command, she wrote letter after letter to that brother she had seen in her vision, and who was in the Crimea, where he possessed immense estates covered with woods, in which he was in the habit of hunting. A few weeks after-wards the Princess W. learned that at the very time when she saw this vision her brother was knocked down by a boar that he had been fol lowing in the forest; that he was trampled and torn by the animal exactly as she had seen, and was carried off, apparently dead, by his friends, who came up with him just in time to save his life. The Prince, who is now in Paris, is still suffering from the wounds inflicted by the tusks and hoofs of the animal, and which are not yet entirely healed.—Correspondence Evening Post.

WASHINGTON LAYING THE CORNER STONE OF THE CAPITOL .- A correspondent of the Bangor Whig tells the following interesting anecdote of Washington:

"Recent events have recalled very forcibly to my mind the following incident, which may, perhaps, prove interesting to many of your readers at the present time.

"Being on a visit to Washington during the recess of Congress in the spring of 1857, I walked one day with a friend to view the works which were then already in progress for the extension of the Capitol. As we sauntered among the pillars in the basement of the old building, we fell in with a venerable-looking man, having the appearance of a countryman, who seemed to be there upon the same business that we were. We entered into a conversation with him, and he informed us that he was a Virginian, 'raised' a few miles down the river, not far from Mount Vernon. 'Very likely, then, we remarked, 'you may recollect General Washington.' 'Perfectly well,' he replied, indeed, I saw him when he laid the foundation

"I was but a boy then,' he continued, but I remember very distinctly how he looked as he stood in this way over the stone, and settled it in its place with a pry. It was a huge stone, and, as placed, it must have required no little strength to move it. But the General was a very athletic man, and moved it apparently with ease. There were a number of boys there from our neighborhood, and it was a standing marvel with us all how the General moved that stone. A few days after the General happened to be riding by our school-house on horseback, as we were playing outside. We all pulled off our hats to him, and he stopped his horse for one of the boys cried out, 'Please, General, tell us how you moved that great stone up yonder the other day.' 'Why, boys,' said he, smiling; 'did I move the stone?' 'O, yos, Ganaral von moved it—we, saw you.' 'Well, a moment and spoke to us very pleasantly. General, you moved it-we saw you. boys, said the General, looking very serious, and speaking slowly, shaking his long finger at us as he spoke, Do you see that nobody moves that stone again?"

THE ANALGAMATION OF LANGUAGES .- There is a growing tendency in this age to appropriate the most expressive words of other L ngusges, and after a while to in or; orate the n into our own; thus the word Cephalic, which is from the Greek, signifying "for the head," is now becoming popularized in connection with Mr. Spalding's great Headache remedy, but it will soon be used in a more general way, and the word Cephali will become as commonas Electrotype and many others whose distinction as foreign words has been worn away by common usage until they seem "native a to the manor born."

IF HEAD LONG is the favorite sign by which nature makes known any deviation whatever from the natural state of the brain, and viewed in this light it may be looked on as a safeguard intended to give notice of disease which might otherwise escape attention, till too late to be remedied; and it-indications should never be neglected. Headaches may be classified under two names, viz : Symptomatic and Idiopathic. Symptomatic Headache is exceedingly common and is the precursor of a great variety of diseases, among which are Apoplexy, Gout, Rheumatism and all febrile diseases. In its nervous form it is sympathetic of disease of the stomach constituting sick headache, of hepatic diseuse constituting bilious headache, of worms. constipation and other disorders of the bowels, as well as renal and uterine affections. Diseases of the heart are very frequently attended with Headaches; Ansemia and plotnora are also affections which frequently occasion headache.-Idiopathic Headache is also very common, being usually distinguished by the name of nervous headachs, sometimes coming on suddenly in a State of apparently sound health and prostrating at once the mental and physical energies. and in other instances it comes on slowly, heralded by depression of spirits or acerbity of temper. In most instan ces the pain is in the front of the head, over one or both eyes, and sometimes proveking vomiting; under this class may also be named Neuralgia. For the treatment of either class of Headache the Cephalic Pills have been found a sure and safe remedy, relieving the most acute pains in a few minutes, and by its subtle power eradicating the diseases of which Headache is the unerring index.

Constipation or Costiveness.

Constipation or Cestiveness.

No one of the "many ills fiesh is heir to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as Co tiveness. Often originating in carelessness or sedentary habits; it is regarded as a slight disorder of too little consequence to excite anxiety, while in reality it is the precursor and companion of many of the most fatal and dangerous deseases, and unless early eradicated it will bring the rufferer to an untimely grave. Among the lighter evils of which costiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Colic, Bheumatism, Foul Breath, Piles and others of 1 ke nature. While a long train of frightful diseases such as Malignant Fevers, Abcesses, Dysentery, Diarrheea, Dyseppila, Apoplexy, Epilepsy, Paralysis, Hysteria, Hypochoudriasis, Melancholy and insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by this alarming Symptom. Not unirequently the diseases named originate in Constipation, but take on an independent existence anless the cause is eradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations it fellows that the disorder should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and no person should neglect to get a box of Cephalic Pilis on the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insidious appraches of disease and destroy this dangerous foe to human life.

A Real Blessing.

Twenty Millions of Dollars Saven —Mr. Spalding has sold two millions of bottles of his celebrated Pepared Glue and it is estimated that each bottle saves at heat ten dollars worth of broken furniture, thus making as aggregate of twenty millions of dollars reclaimed from r al loss by this valuable invention. Having made his blue a household word, he now proposes to do the wrid still greater service by curing all the aching hea swith his Cephalic Pills, and if they are as good as his Glu. Headaches will soon vanish away like snow in July.

II Over exotrement, and the mental care and naticty incident to the close attention to business or study, are among the numerous causes of Nervous Headacht. The disordered state of mind and body incident to this distressing complaint is a fatal blow to all energy and ambition. Suerers by this disorder can always obtain speedy celes from these distressing attacks by using one of the Cabillic Pills whenever the symptoms appear. It quiets the overtasked beain, and soothes the strained and juring serves, and relaxes the tension of the stomach which always accompanies and agravates the disordered condition of the brain.

FACT WORTH KNOWING —Spalding's Cephalic Pillare a certain cure for Sick H-adache, Bilious Headache, Nevous Headache, Costiveness and General Debility.

GREAT DISCOVERY.—Among the most important of all the great medical discoveries of this age may be considered the seatim of washingles for protection from Small Pos, the Caphatic Pill for relief of Headache, and the up of Quinine for the prevention of Fevers, either of which is a sure specific, whose benefits will be experienced by suffering humanity long after their discoverers are forgoten.

II Did you ever have the Sick Headache? Do you remember the throbbing temples, the fevered brow, he loathing and disgust at the sight of food? How totally unfit you were for pleasure, conversation or study. due of the Caphalte Pills would have relieved you from all the suffering which you then experienced. For this and other purposes you should always have a box of them on hand to use as eccasion requires.

Many, since the great discovery of Prof. Wood, have attempted not only to imitate his restorative, but profess to have discovered something that would produce results identical; but they have all come and gone, being carried away by the wonderful resurts of Professor Wool's preparation, and have been forced to leave the field to its resistless sway. Bath, Maine, April 18, 1859.

Prof. O J. Wood & Co.: Gents:—The letter I wrote you in 1886 concerning your valuable Hair Restorative, and which you have published in this vicinity and elso where has given rise to numerous enquiries touching the facts in the case. The enquiries are, first, is it a fact of my habitation and name, as stated in the communication; second, is it true of all therein contained; third, does my hair still continue to be in good order and of natural color? To all I can and do answer invariably yes. My hair is even better than in any stage of my life for 40 years past, more soft, thrifty, and better colored; the same is true of my whiskers, and the only cause why it is not generally true, is that the substance is washed off by frequent ablution of the face, when if care were used by wiping the face in closs connection with the whiskers, the same result will follow as the hair. I have bedn in the receipt of a great number of letters from all parts of New England, asking me if my hair still continues to be good; as there is so much iraud in the manufacture and sale of various compounds as well as this, it has, no doubt, been lasely initiated, and been used, not only without any good effect, but to absolute injury. I have not used any of your Festorative of any account for some months, and yet my hair is as good as ever, and hundreds have examined it with surprise, as I am now 61 years old and not a gray hair in my head or on my face; and to prove this fact, I send you a lock of my hair t ken off the past week. In Ni-wous Appearons of all kinds, and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of iron must necessarily be salutary, for, unlike the old oxides, it is vigorously tonic, without being exciting and overheating; and gently, regularly aperient, even in the most ob-tim-ite cases of costiveness, without ever being a gastric purgative, or inflicting a disagreeable mensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remark-bly effectual and permanenta remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action, by dispersing the local tendency which forms them.

In Dyspersia, innumerable as a reits causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most habitual cases, including the attendant Costiveness.

I beg leave to call the attention of the citizens of the United States to the above Wines and Liquors, imported by Udolpho Wolfe, of New York, whose name is familiar in every part of this country for the purity of his celebrated Schiedam Schaffs. Mr. Wolfe, in his letter to me, speaking of the purity of his Wines and Liquors, says: "I will stake my reputation as a man, my standing as a merchant of thirty years' residence in the City of New York, that all the Brandy and Wines which I bottle are pure as imported, and of the best quality, and can be relied upon by every purchaser." Every bottle has the proprietor's name on the wax, and a inc simile of his signature on the crifficate. The public are respectfully invited to call and examine for themselves. Read the following from the New York Courier:

Enormous Business for one New York Merchant.—We are happy to inform our fellow-citizens that there is one place in our city where the physician, apothecary, and country merchant, can go and purchase pure Wines and Liquors, as pure as imported, and of the best quality. We do not intend to give an elaborate description of this merchant's extensive business, although it will well repay any stranger or citizen to visit Unolpho Wolff's extensive warehouse, Nos. 18, 20 and 22, Beaver street, and Nos 17, 19 and 21, Marketfield street. His stock of Schnapps on hand ready for shipment could not have been less than thirty thousand odzer, and Port Wines, Scotch and Irish Whisky, Jamaica and St. Croix Rum, some very old and equal to any in this country. He also had three large cellars, filled with Brandy, Wines, &c. in casks, under Custom-House key, ready for bottling. Mr. Wolff, and and equal to any in this country. Medical:

The attention of Invalids, Physicians, Clergymen, scient fice men, and the public generally, is respectfully solicited to the merits of this chemical preparation, containing IRON, SULPHUR, AND PHOSPHOROUS, and which is identical in its composition with the Hematic Globule, or red blood. In all diseases accompanied with DEBILITY, pale countenance and nervous derangement, analyses of the blood show a deficiency of the red globules. Ruddy complexion and a rosy tint of the skin, is always indicative of health; while a pale, wax-like skin and counts. nance,—which evinces a deficiency of the red globuler,—accompanies a diseased organism. Preparations of IRON have been given for the purpose of supplying the red globules, but we contend that IRON alone, SULPHUR alone, or PHOSPHOROUS alone, will not meet the deficiency in every case, but that a judicious combination of all these elements is necessary to restore the blood to its normal standard. This point, never before attained, has been reached in the BLOOD FOOD, and its diseasery ranks as one of the most scientific and important of the age. Its effects in age. Its effects in CONSUMPTION are to soften the cough, brace the nerves, strengthen the system, allay the prostrating night sweats, increase the physical and mental energy, enrich the blood by restoring the lacking red globules, increase the appetite, restore the color, and clothe the skeleton frame with itesh. The BLOOD FOOD will be found a specific in all CHRONIC DISEASES of the THROAT or LUNGS, such as Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, &c. Public speakers and singers will find it of great utility in clearing and strengthening the vocal organs. In Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Dropsy, Epitepsy, Paralysis, Scrofula Gravel, St. Vi.

tus' Dance, Fever and Ague, &c., its efficiency is marked and instantaneous. In no class of diseases, however, are

FEMALE COMPLAINTS
to which the gentler sex are liable, and which tend towards Consumption, such as suppressed or difficult Menstruction. Green Sickness, Whites, &c., especially when hese complaints are accompanied with paleness, ading huse or pallor of the skin, depression of spirits, debility, palpitation, want of appetite, and nervous prostration. We have the utmost confidence in recommending the BLOOD FOOD to all who may be conscious of a less of vitality or energy; and to those whose mental or bodily powers are prostrated through over use, either of the mind or body, and we deem it our duty to say that in all cases of Weakness and Emaciation, and in all diseases of the Kidneys or Bladder, this preparation has a claim upon the attention of sufferers which cannot be over estimated. A faithful trial will be found the most convincing proof in regard to its efficacy that could be asked for. With the above remarks, and with the numerous testimonials we have in its favor, we offer the "BLOOD FOOD" to the consideration of the afflicted, knowing that it will be acknowledged as pre-eminent over all other preparations, patent or officinal, in point of usefulness. Circulars giving the Theory upon which this remedy is founded, also certificates of remarkable cures, will be sent free when desired. We forward the BLOOD FOOD to any part of the United States or Canadas upon receipt of price—$1 per bottle, $5 for six bottles. Be careful in all cases to take none but that having our fac-simile signature upon the wrapper. None other is genuine.
