RENDERING TEXTILE MATERIALS UNINFLAMMA-BLE .-- Mr. F. A. Ale has obtained a patent in England for the above purpose. His method consists in precipitating a basic siliciate of lead within the textures by first saturating them with a solution of basic acctate of lead, then drying, and afterwards treating them with a solution of silicate of soda.

CONCERT .- The grand vocal and instrumental concert for the benefit of St. Lawrence Church comes off this evening. From the programme published, and the musical ta lent engaged, we anticipate a rare treat in store for those who will do themselves the pleasure to attend. But, aside from asure to be derived from listening to delightful music, every one who purchases a ticket aids directly the small congregation in the purchase of their church edifice. Such an object apneals directly to every one, and it is to be hoped that every one who can afford it will purchase at least one ticket.

DEATH OF LOLA MONTEZ --- Lola Montez, one of the most remarkable and versatile women of the present age-one whose life is a romance-whose career presents the various phases of a countess and public lecturer, of a king's favorite and a dancer in a second-class theatre-died in New York a few days since.

The real name of Lola Montez was Maria Dolores Lorrissy Montez. Was she born in Seville, in 1818; in Montross, in 1820; or in Limerick, in 1824? She testified in the Jobson case that she was born in Limerick. Was her father a Spaniard or a Greole? No one knows. It has been ascertained that her mother was a Creole, and that she was brought up in England.

She visited Paris for the first time in 1840, giving herself out for the wife of an officer in the British army, whom she married, and quitted in India. She obtained an engagement as danseuse, at the theatre of the Porte St. Martin, and lost this situation through an eccentricity of deportment that was voted intolerable even in that region.

Lola Montez soon obtained admittance to the stage of the French opera, but was hissed on her appearance. In a fit of contemptuous fury at this disgrace, she kicked one of her buskins into the parterre, creating an uproar in that aristocratic house "more easily imagined than described."-She was, of course, prohibited from appearing again upon that stage.

Having become the mistress of Desjarrier, one of the editors of La Presse, Lola Montez ucat scandalized Paris by appearing in deep mourning at the trial which followed the duel in which Deejarrier had been killed.

In 1847 she went to Munich, where she speedily captured the affections of the old King, who had seen her, by chance, in the house of an officer of his guard. She was officially introduced at the Court, and created, by royal letters patent, first, Baroness of Rosenthal, next Countess of Landsfelt. In her arms were a crowned lion, a silver dolphin and a rose With her new rank, she obtained a pension of 20,000 florins. The ministers having opposed the exaltation of the favorite, the cabinet was dissolved by the King. The Countess pminated a new cabinet, and soon afterwards dissolved it.

The University was divided into two camps; one of these being for the favorite, the other against her. A riot broke out among the students ; Loia Montez hastened without escort to the scene of the tumult, the King hastened after her, offered her his arm and led her away. The monarch. irritated by this outbreak against the favority, ordered the University to be closed for a year; on which the municipal authorities waited on the King in a body, and implored him to dismiss the Countess from Court. The King refused to grant the prayer of the civic fathers, but yielded to the energetic remonstrances of the House of Peers ---Lola Montez received the royal order to quit Munich; her palace was pillaged, and the King, who, unnoticed in the crowd, was sorrowfully watching this outburst of popular indignation, was wounded in the forehead by a stone. The ex-favorite went to England, where she married a second and a third husband, though her first was still living .---She then went to America, where she is said to have married several times.

Her first literary attempt was the publication of her own Memoirs, in 1849, in the Presse newspaper; suppressed, as scandalous, by the authority of M. de Girardin, after the publication of the first half of the first chapter. On arriving in the United States she appeared in a play of her own writing, entitled "The Adventures of Lola Montez in Bavaria." In 1853 she married the editor of the San Francisco Whig. In 1856 she appeared on the stage of the Melbourne theatre, in Australia. She came to this country in the year 1851, and after continuing the erratic course which made her minent in a larger field during her previous life, she was some months since attacked by a partial paralysis, since which her health has been gradually decaying. A person who saw her a few days since, as she was expecting soon to die, says : "Far from the members of her family, and repudiated by those who had been the friends of her youth, she was far happier than she could have been had she died in the midst of the palatial splendor which was so long her glory and her shame.

"We learn that our county is also affected. The people of Hardscrabble and Verbeketown talk seriously of withdrawing from this city and set up as an independent nation.'

The above we copy from the Telegraph of Saturday afternoon, January 19th. Being a resident of one of those localities, we were not a little surprised at the announcement, particularly as we had no such an idea as secension-being too much of Northerners for that. We have tried "city life" one short year, and find it delightful; and if our City Fathers would in their united wisdom only grant us a good walk of some kind along Second street, above Love lane, it would not only save Mr. Forster a great expense in repairing fences, but would forever cement us to the city proper. As the local of the Telegroph seems to weild a powerful influence, we hope he will occasionally stir up their pure minds by way of remembrance.

BUSINESS CHARTS .-- We have on several occasions noticed favorably the enterprise of Messrs. Jester & Barringer, next door to the PATRIOT AND UNION office, in getting up a number of large frames containing the business cards of some of our business men. These frames-six in numbercontaining the cards of professional men, dealers and mechanics, on ornamented squares of glass, are new and novel, and must become popular, not only on account of their novelty, but because they are durable signs. They are to be put up in the most prominent places in the city. Many persons who applied too late for a place in the large frames, are now getting business cards painted and put in small frames, which these gentlemen are prepared to finish up in elegant style at very low prices.

The large frames, we regret to say, have proved a pecuniary luss to Messrs. Jester & Barringer, as they undertook the job too low, but the success we hope will give them such a name and reputation as to bring them in an abundance of work to compensate them for the loss sustained.

HASTY LEGISLATION .- Yesterday a bill went through both Houses under spur and lash for the appointment of two additionol Notaries Public to be located in Philadelphia. The arrangement was made at the Girard House on Saturday evening, and Senator Smith, whose fertile mind concocted the plan for keeping the municipal officers in Philadelphia five months longer in power than the time for which the people elected them, sprung the matter in the Senate and lashed it through under a suspension of the rules. There was no necessity shown for additional officers of this kind in Philadelphia, neither do we believe that any exists : but we believe that the bill was solely passed with a view to take empluments from the officers appointed by Gov. Packer-a piece of littleness that must eventually recoil.

Speaking of changing the time for holding the municipal election in Philadelphia, the Ledger says :

"The new project for extending the terms of the present municipal officers over till October next, as proposed by Senator Smith, does not meet with much favor. Everybody condemns it as a piece of political trickery, which an honest legis-lator would be ashamed to propose. The legality of such an act may well be questioned. The Le-gislature has no more right to elect municipal officers for five months than it has to elect them for a year Elections are by the prople, and not by the Legislature. This attempted interference with public rights shows how reckless are some of our legislators, and how disposed they are to usurp the privileges of the people, and disregard nown edged rights, so that their schemes are answered. The Legislature should be a body most ready to protect public rights. for, where it fails in its duty, the people have no recourse but a violent one to homeology. The tendency of had or im proper legislation is, therefore, to disorder and insecurity.

A PERSONAL EXPLANATION .- It was asserted last week that Dr. Seltzer, of Philadelphia, refused to present petitions forwarded to him praying for the repeal of the 95th and 96th sections of the Penal Code, and a statement to this effect found its way into the Philadelphia papers. The Doctor yesterday made a personal explanation, declaring that he would present any petition from his constituents, adding in forcible, but not very classical language, that he would "rot in his seat" before he would vote for the repeal of the sections. If the Doctor means a legislative seat in which he has an ambition to rot, we advise him to do it this session-the chance may never, never offer again.

THE TOWATO AS FOOD .- Dr. Bennett, a professor of some celebrity, considers the tomato an invaluable article of diet, and ascribes to it various important medicinal properties. First, that the tomate is one of the most powerful aperients of the liver and other organs; where calomel is indicated, it is probably one of the most effective and least harmful remedial agents known to the profession. Second, that a chemical extract will be obtained from it that will supersede the use of calomel in the cure of disease. Third, that he has successfully treated diarrhoes with this article alone. Fourth. that when used as an article of diet it is an almost sovereign remedy for dyspepsia and indigestion. Fifth, that it should be constantly used for daily food, either cooked or raw, or in the form of a catsup. It is the most healthy article now in use.

VERATRUM VIRIDE IN PNEUMONIA .--- In the Nashville Journal of Medicine and Surgery, for June, Dr. A. A. Davidson has an article upon the use of veratrum viride in pneumonia. This is not a new treatment, but his experience and confidence are such as to justify their repetition. He says :- "I have followed no other particular treatment for the last two years in pneumonia and pleurisy than the medicine in question, and I am happy to say I have never seen a case terminate unfavorably under the treatment." In conclusion, he says :--- "I look upon the veratrum as being worth all the other treatments combined for pleurlay, pneumonia and all other diseases of an inflammatory nature, when carefully and judiciously administered. I speak this candidly, because it is my own experience that prompts me to de so."

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT. -At a special meeting of the Citizen Fire Engine and Hose Company, held at their ball on Saturday evening, January 19th, 1861, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted, viz :

WHEREAS, it has pleased the Almighty, in whose hands is the disposal of all his creatures, to remove from an earthly sphere of action to another world our late personal friend and fellow-fireman, JOHN W. BOYER; therefore be it Resolved, That in the decease of John W. BOYER the Fire Department has lost one of its most use-ful and active members, who, in the discharge of his duties, had acquired a reputation as honorable as it was well earned.

"That merciful Providence who so constantly sends His blessings alike upon the good and the evil, threw this poor outcast, during her last days, upon the kind charities of a Christian lady, who had chanced to be her schoolmate in Scotland, but who was, for many years, ignorant that the Lola Montez of the newspapers was the innocent schoolgirl of thirty years ago !

"Though disabled by sickness, and deprived of all claims, according to worldly principles upon any such association, she here found a self-denying friend, who soothed her dying moments and led her to take refuge in the consolations of the Christian faith. The Rev. Dr. Hawks, on being requested to attend her, was frequently at her bedside, and gave her the benefit of his pastoral instructions, as if she had been one of his own flock. He officiated at her funeral on the 17th instant, and Mr. Brown, who has attended so many funerals and weddings in his day, (may be live many years,) was seen to wipe the tears from his eyes as he heard the clergyman say that he had never known a case of more sincere penitence than was evinced in the present instance. 'Let him that is without sin cast the first stone at her.'

CAMPHOE AS AN ANTIDOTE TO STRYCHNINE POI-SONING.—In the Pacific Medical and Surgical Journal, for June, Dr. M. T. Dodge reports a case of poisoning with strychnine, entirely relieved by the administration of camphor. According to the report, five grains of strychnine had been taken three hours previously. Ten grains of campbor were given in emulsion, and repeated every half hour, or hour for seven hours, when the spasms entirely ceased, and the patient rapidly recovered. It would certainly be a fortunate discovery should camphor be found to be a reliable antidote to the poisonous action of strychnine. The case reported lacks at least two essential points to make it available as proof upon this point. It is thought by many that much of the strychnine in use is nearly inert, and, if taken as claimed, there is no proof that the article was genuine. More than this, there is no proof, but the patient's statement, that the five grains of strychnine had been taken at all. There is certainly one suspicious fact in the case, that must in some measure detract from our confidence in the antidotal power of camphor. Three hours had elapsed from the taking of the poison before remedial aid was had, and yet the patient was sitting up, and presented no very alarming symptoms. Professor Wood says that, in cases of poisoning from strychnine, the slarming symptoms usually follow the administration in from ten minutes to half an hour. One of two things is evident : the five grains were not all taken, or the poison was not of standard strength ; either would affect the result, so far as relates to the antidotal powers of camphor.

A RELIC OF THE PAST .--- We encountered yesterday upon the board-walk Joseph Ritner, the first and only anti-Masonic Governor Pennsylvania ever had. The ex-Governor, and prime instigator of the buck-shot, war does not walk as firmly as he did twenty-two years ago, when we first saw him, but he looks hale, and is exceedingly vivacious for a man of his age. In the course of conversation in the Rotunda, with several gentlemen, the subject of anti-Masonary was brought up, when the Governor said that his opinion remained unchanged-there might have been good men in the lodge, but it was a had institution. He accompanied Mr. Burrowes to Erie county to be present at the inauguration of a Normal School. SPECIAL NOTICES.
